A brick veneered residence on the 8th line, Artemesia, known as the Jamieson farm, and recently purchased by Mr. O. Turner, was burned to the ground on Thursday last. The residence was unoccupied. Mr. Turner had placed a stove in the house in order to warm it up previous to moving in, when in some manner the building caught fire and was consumed.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will hold their Easter meeting on Thursday 13th inst. at 3 o'clock. A special program has been prepared. Mrs. W. J. Lever received last week a letter from her son, Fred, who is at the front, and from whom she had not heard for some time. He says: "I am having a strenuous time out here and have been in an atmosphere of death for over a year now, someone being blown to pieces every day and more coming over to take their places. I am now on the transport section of the 10th Battalion and have a better chance to write than formerly. I am beginning to have a little rheumatism, but outside of that am having excellent health, and if I come through O.K. will have experience that I would not have missed for worlds."

For Sale—One 5 year old horse and one 8 year old mare.—JOHN HEARD

The Flesherton Red Cross Society held a very successful cake sale last Saturday. It is their intention to hold another sale on Saturday, April 22. During the month 60 pairs of socks were sent to Red Cross headquarters, and four donations of cash were received—$10 from the methodist Sunday school, $4.50 from Mrs. Roy of Caldwell, N.J., $1.50 from Mrs. W. Crossley, and $2 from Mr. Richardson, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wickens of the suburbs were treated to a genuine surprise on Thursday evening last when a large number of friends and neighbors took unceremonious possession of their residence and presented this estimable couple with an address accompanied by a mantel clock. Mr. and Mrs. Wickens were genuinely surprised, not having received an inkling of the proposed call. The address was read by Mr. Glen Davis and the presentation was made by ex-councillor Fred Brown. The event was developed owing to the pending removal of Mr. and Mrs. Wickens from the locality, they having recently sold their farm outside the corporation, where they have lived for over thirty years, and where they have won an honourable name for themselves as good citisens who will not soon be forgotten.

But the heap has changed. In places we see huge holes in it; in others the wire has been thrown up on the parapet, but there is nothing to get excited over. Even sand bags tossed about are quite unexciting.

"See over that broken stump sir, where the hole in the parapet is—they're crawling over it."

Looking in that direction we watch the hole for a moment—it's only 130 yds. away. Finally something moves, a round cap appears, then a head, and up jumps a Hun wearing a grey uniform and long black boots. He glances in our direction, crouches, runs along the heaped-up debrisand hops down again into his trench and safety. Then anorher appears and another. The Huns are coming back.

"Why don't they turn a machine gun on 'em"? someone asks And just then a loud clattering whirr springs from right beside us. Its source is hidden, nothing is visible, but it is that old familiar hammering of that invention of Satan; and mud flies up from the German parapet where the stream of bullets lights. The warning is sufficient—no more Huns are seen.

Well, does it sound like fiction? It is an actual description of what I did last Sunday afternoon, and of what I saw that day,—the 12th.

The story is usually much the same with details varied a bit. For instance, 3 days ago I stood in the front line at another place, and watched and directed the show from there,—120 yds. from the German line. 19 bombs out of 26 fell in the trench, on the parapet or in the dugouts just behind. Whew! You should have seen those trench boards, sand-bags, corrugated iron sheets and bits of dugouts fly up into the air and parapets fade away! It really did my heart good—you see the old destructive bent! Of course we didn't put them all in one place—swept their trench for about 100 yds. in length.

To day was different, we had church service. The Chaplains here are princes and to-day it was a small service held beside an old straw stack. The men were drawn up in a hollow 3-sided square, with 2 officers in front and all facing the padre in the centre. I don't know the padre's name—it doesn't matter, for they are all great men. Anyway he has good choice in hymns and preached a good sensible sermon on "One thing thou lackest," also we read the 91st psalm. It was my first service since I was in England six weeks ago and I more than appreciated it. Talk about your old circuit-riders—these padres often have 7 and 8 services every Sunday, walking or riding from one to the other.

On the cradle roll of a British Methodist chapel is the name of "Raymond George Kitchener Jellicoe," and another boasts of "Dardanella Jane" and "Dorothy Shrapnel." Poor babies! What have they done to deserve such a fate?—Guardian.
