Dundalk

Bruce Fogarty, the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fogarty, of this place, met with a mishap on Wednesday afternoon last whereby the sight of one of his eyes was nearly destroyed. He and little Mervyn Neithercut were playing in the stable and the latter was using a fork in filling a box with straw which Bruce was packing down with his hands. In leaning over he came in contact with the fork which penetrated the eyeball. Dr. Martin attended the injury and Mr. Fogarty took him to a specialist in Owen Sound. The eyesight will be saved without an operation and it is hoped that no future bad effects may result.

A steer which was being delivered to the local stock yards one day last week, created some excitement and put the owner to a lot of trouble for which he gets no returns. Archie McIntyre was the owner and had got the animal to the yard when it became enraged and charged for Geo. Bailey, one of the local drovers. Mr. Bailey was knocked down and received a bad gash in the back of his head, which struck a stone in the fall. The animal took to the track with several men in pursuit and proceeded in the direction of Proton Station Mr. Thos. Aicheson tried to head it off at his place but was forced to climb a post in order to save himself. It was followed that evening to Jas. Robinson's swamp, 14th con., Proton, and next morning Harry Palmer used the rifle to put an end to its career.—Herald.

Valuable jewellery, belonging to a New York lady, was recently sent to a laundry in a pillow case. Instead of following her usual custom of locking her jewels in a closet, she hid them in a pillow case in her apartment, and a maid sent them to the laundry. $5000 worth were recovered from the laundry, but there are still some missing.

His greatest ambition has almost been realized by a man of Farmersville, Tex. He has only to increase his girth another inch to have the same circumsference as altitude. He is six feet two inches tall, and 69½ inches around his chest and 73 inches around the waist.

The British Government has awarded a contract for 600,000,000 1-lb. cans of beef stew for use as army rations to the Imperial Canneries, Ltd., Montreal. The value is placed at $91,000,000, and the contract will be distributed amongst Canadian and United States firms. This contract means about 300,000,000 lbs. of beef, 1,500,000 bags of rice and millions of lbs. of white beans, carrots and onions. And if each British soldier got one tin a day the order would just last the 6,000,000 men about three months. It costs something to feed an army.—Guardian.
