Changes in Game Laws

The Fish and Game Committee of the Ontario Legislature have made a number of changes in the game laws this season, among which are the following: prohibition of trapping fur-bearing animals without a license, which is to cost $6, farmers' sons exempt; close season partridge and grouse until October 15th 1818; close season for woodcock except between Nov 1 and 15: shooting of quail allowed from Nov. 1 to Nov. 15, with provision that no more than six quail be shot in one day nor more than 25 be shot in one season. Shooting season for black and grey squirrels and wild turkey to be for the same period; ducks may be shot any where in the province from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31; license fee for capercailzie to 1920; cottontail rabbits can be shot on a person's own property at any time, or taken by other means anywhere at any time; when cottontails are shot they can be kept by the shooter instead of being turned over to charitable institutions as formerly; muskrat season fixed at Dec. 1 to April 30 for south district and at April 1 to May 30 for north district the shooting of muskrats at any time is prohibited; no hunter shall leave the carcass of any animal which he shot, and the meat of which would be good to eat, to spoil in the woods, and no hunter shall allow the skin of a fur-bearing animal to spoil in the woods.

A fatal accident occurred on the farm of Charles Procknow, lot 1, con. 5, Normanby, about two miles from Clifford, when his eldest son, eighteen years of age, was instantly killed by a falling tree. The father and son were cutting wood in the bush, and the butt of a tree swung around and pinned the young man to a log. Both legs were broken and his body was badly crushed—Mt. Forest Confederate.

The Harriston Review says: We do not know the domestic conditions of the members of the Ontario Government, but judging from their antipathy to marriage one might judge that they were a bunch of crusty old bachelors or a community of monks. Marriage should be encouraged; far better improvident wedlock than none. The question of revenue from the increased license fee, estimated at $45,000, is balderdash. The Quebec French don't discourage marriage.

If Britain "Went Dry"

Their (the British) drink bill for last year was $909,790,000, and probably they are now spending a billion dollars a year on something which many people in the United States and England manage to get along without. The war has cost Great Britain about $7,500,600,000. If we subtract from this the loans of other countries, which will presumably be repaid, and the money spent on feeding the soldiers, who would have had to be fed and clothed anyhow, though not so well in time of peace, we should have left, using the estimate of Sir George Paish, a net loss to the country of about $2,500,000,000. If then, Great Britain should go dry, as Russia has, its total war losses could be paid up within the next three years, not allowing anything for the gain in industrial efficiency and the saving from the crime and impaired health which incidentally results from the consumption of a billion dollars' worth of liquor a year.—The Independent (New York.)

The German Censor has ordered the seizure of a scathing report published by the German Protestant Missionary Society upon the Armenian atrocities. No reference is allowed to be made to it in the Press. The report shows clearly that in return for Turkey's participation in the war, the Germans gave the Young Turks a free hand to massacre the Armenians wholesale. Drawn up by German missionaries, the report describes how column after column of victims, men, women and children, were marched for days until they reached the banks of the Euphrates. Here they were driven to the brink of the overhanging cliffs, bound together in threes and fours, and pushed over to their doom. For a month the river was nothing but a swirling mass of swollen, shapeless, hideous-looking corpses whirled this way and that until they fell to pieces from buffeting and putrefaction. On one occasion 1500 people were taken out in barges and then tipped overboard like so much refuse. Soldiers lined the shore and shot volley after volley into all who showed above the water until the last had sunk.

Paul E. Guay, alias W. Wilson, who promoted the O.S. Shoe Factory last winter, was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary on a charge of bigamy laid by Mrs. Paul E. Guay of Lynn, Mass.

Lyman P. Duff, one of the justices of the Supreme Court of Canada, who has come into prominence because of association with Sir William Ralph Meredith on the Commission appointed last week to investigate the Kyte charges, is an old Grey and Wellington County boy. He is a son of the Rev. Mr. Duff, some 40 years ago Congregational Minister at Speedside, Eramosa, and was born in Meaford in 1865. About the year 1878 with his elder brother Ralph, he attended the Fergus High School when the editor of the Confederate was preparing for the University and acting for the part of the time as assistant teacher. He was a keen minded, argumentative student, and we remember that more than once we had strenuous debates with him on points in geometry and statics. When he went to the University he specialized in mathematics and meta-physics and for a time taught mathematics in Barrie Collegiate Institute. After graduating in law and practising a while in Fergus he went to British Columbia where he was when appointed in 1906 to the Supreme Court by the Laurier Government.—Mt. Forest Confederate.
