Dogs Kill Cattle

Citizens of the Township of Sullivan in the vicinity of Marmion and Desboro have been subject to considerable annoyance during the past week by two strange dogs, which are attacking cattle and in some cases killing them. Last Sunday night, about nine o'clock Mr. George Klages was attracted to a field on his brother's farm by a noise made by dogs. He got his brother, Henry, and went out to investigate, taking a shotgun with him. On reaching the scene from whence the noise came, they found two dogs had the cattle coralled in one corner of the field, and were attacking them. One yearling was badly chewed about the hind quarters, in fact it was so badly injured that it died right on the spot. A second one had both ears chewed off. An attempt was made to shoot the dogs, but owing to the dogs being so near the cattle it was decided that the risk of shooting the latter also was too great. The dogs managed to get away under cover of darkness and have not been seen since. Inquiries in the neighborhood failed to find any trace of any dogs of the description of those attacking cattle. The whole neighborhood is greatly exercised over the running at large of such vicious brutes, and if the dogs are found they will get short shrift.—Advertiser.

Mr. Orrin Sinclair, North Ward, is the possessor of a cow that is "intellectual" as well as a money maker at the pail. Realizing that beef is up in price and that calves at six weeks old will bring from $18 to $20 this cow presented its owner last week with twin calves. Every year this same dairy animal gave unto its owner a heifer calf thus increasing its usefulness as much as possible. This year with veal at its height "old lady" switched the usual order of things and delivered two of the "breeches" variety. The high cost of living at the Sinclair home will be greatly reduced this summer by the presence of twin calves which will bulge out the owner's purse to the extent of nearly $40.—Meaford Express.

Capt. Alex. McNab of Owen Sound, fell from the gang plank of his vessel at Parry Sound and died, notwithstanding the fact that he was only in the water a minute or two. It is thought that heart-failure was the cause.

Harry Roy, who has been postmaster of Port Elgin for the past 27 years, died recently after an illness of three months, following an operation.

Six Chesley boys have been killed in action, seven have returned from the front more or less injured, and one is a prisoner of war.

The $250,000,000 war aid bill was passed by the Commons on Saturday.

Stranger Made Map

Residents in the vicinty of Angus are just now commencing to tell of a mysterious stranger who wintered in the vicinity. The man went into the bush on the Pine river near the Essa-Tossoronto line and in a shanty fully three miles from the nearest inhabitant he passed the winter. At Angus he got his supplies always paying cash for whatever he bought. In the village he was not averse to entering into conversation with whoever he chanced to meet, bnt was always mum concerning himself. Once during the winter some of the young farmers while on a hunting expedition chanced by the stranger's hut and went in to see him. Map drawing was his specialty; in this he was engaged when visited and told a yarn which was accepted by the visitors. In the shanty was means of producing abundance of music when map drawing became monotonous. The man has now gone, no one knows where, and when the application of the man and the persistency with which he sought out information is considered, the people in the vicinity are commencing to think that possibly they had among them all winter an alien securing information valuable in case of an invasion of the district.—Alliston Herald

Frank Yeigh, another well-known Canadian writer contributes "One Eye, Bunny and the Tendesfoot: The Tail of a Trail," a story that depicts some of the idiosyncracies of the sturdy little pack ponies of the Mt. Robson region. In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Robina Robinson, who left us May 14th 1914.

We know she is safe in that beautiful land
And, Father, we bow to thy will;
But oh for the touch a vanished hand
And the sound of a voice that is still.
—The Family

During the high wind of Thursday morning last, Mr. Fred Rentner, of the Batteau, met with an unfortunate accident. While entering his barn the door blew off its hinges, and fell on Mr. Rentner, injuring him somewhat seriously. Several ribs were broken, and he was bruised up considerably. Medical aid was summoned, and he is now progressing is a satisfactory manner.—Messenger

Mrs. Matilda Merryweather of Newmarket, 76 years of age, was killed by a barn door, wrenched off its hinges by the wind, falling upon her.

Priceville Jottings

The continued wet weather has delayed seeding operations very much this spring. At the end of last week some farmers on flat lands had not even ten acres seeded, but others on high sandy loam had as much as 60 acres sown.

Trout fishing is rather more exciting this year, no one catches a large number at one time, but several persons have captured a few measuring from 12 to 21 inches in length. The old Saugeen produces some good speckled beauties yet.

Mrs. Kennedy, an aged lady and mother Mr. D. Kennedy, north line, has been very ill last week, but it is hoped she will be restored to health soon.

Mrs. D. Campbell, 8th line, when returning from the Women's Institute meeting on the first Thursday of the month, was thrown out of the buggy when the horse became unmanageable, and sustained a compound fracture of the leg above the ankle. She was carried into Mr. Miller's residence at the west side of the village and Dr. Lane was on hand in a few minutes, but Mrs. C will remain with Mrs. Miller until able to be taken to her own home.

Our trustee board is letting a contract, or contracts for extensive remodelling of the public school.

Mr. A. McCabe of Toronto, was in the village a day or two last week.

Miss M. McLean has been visiting friends in Owen Sound for a few days.

David Nichol has planted out a young orchard of Standard apple trees He has also set out over 50 maple trees. Wise investment, more trees, more birds, less destructive insects, better crops and larger cash receipts each year. Many farmers who have bare looking places might do likewise.

Dundalk

Corp. (Rev.) W. Howey, of Massey, formerly of Eugenia Circuit of the Methodist Church, passed through on Monday morning train to Ottawa. He spent a few days at his home on leave of absence before going overseas. A number of friends were at the depot here to bid him farewell. He is in the signal service.

In the casualty list last week was the name of Pte. Fred M. Wood, (76005) South Vancouver, reported as missing, Pte Wood is a former Dundalk boy, son of Geo. Y. Wood. When he resided here he was a member of the Dufferin Rifles and held the rank of Sergeant. Shortly after war broke out he enlisted in B.C. in the 29th Batt. as a private.

Dundalk residents have almost forgotten the taste of pork since the price has put that article of food into the "luxury" class. And now the local Board of Health has put the ban on raising pigs within the corporation or at a distance from an occupied dwelling. With an absence of squeal, taste and smell the hog has become extinct in town, at least for the present.

Rt. Wor. Bro. T. A. Blakely, of Flesherton, the D.D.G.M. of Georgina District no 9A, visited Dundalk Masonic Lodge in his official capacity on Friday evening last. A third degree was conferred and at the close the D.D.G.M. complimented Wor. Bro. W. A. Wilson, the master of the Lodge, and his officers on the efficiency of the work. Lunch was served and a pleasant hour was spent in social chat. Bro. Blakely was several years a resident of Dundalk and his brethren here were pleased to meet him in his high office which he fills with dignity and ability.—Herald.

The flume at the Thornbury Power Dam went out recently and the town will be in darkness until it can be repaired.
