Too Cautious

The editor was impressing the "cub" reporter with the awful consequences of making ill-founded statements.

"You can't be too careful," he said, then sent him to report a church bazaar. The sub-editor was surprised when the youth handed in this cautious report:

"The bazaar was apparently opened by a Mrs. Johnson, alleged to be the wife of Councillor Johnson, commonly supposed to be a more or less highly-esteemed tradesman of this town. She was dressed in what some might describe as fashionable attire, and wore a hat of nondescript appearance. She was supported on the platform by a clergyman elleged to be the vicar of the parish, and by other reputed ladies and gentlemen said to belong to the church."
