Major Hollinger of Toronto, and Miss Jessie were visiting Mrs. Wilson and family for a few days. Miss Jessie extends her visit with Mrs. Wilson.

We are sorry to report Mrs. Jake Williams ill at present. Hope to hear of her recovery soon.

Pte. Emerson Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Large and family motored to Owen Sound Sunday, Mr. Large's mother returning with them.

Cards of Thanks

I desire to express my gratitude to the friends and neighbors for their many great kindnesses during our recent family illness, and especially to those gentlemen who so willingly put in my crop this spring.

—MALCOLM FERGUSON

Mrs. Martin and family desire to than their neighbors and many friends for their kindness in their recent trouble and bereavement.

War deeds and scenes that have thrilled a mighty Empire will be graphically re-enacted in the warfare waged at the Canadian National Exhibition in "Federation Year." The conspicuous gallantry of the "Suicide Club," or "Anarchists"—bomb and hand grenade throwers—the men who "Go Over Top" knowing that death probably awaits just over the parapet, and whose merciless showers of bombs have paved the way to many a glorious victory for the British arms, will be depicted, bringing home very forcibly the realities of war. A detachment from an Overseas Battalion will occupy the Model Camp. They will be trained especially in bombing and hand grenade work and will demonstrate just how scores of the Empire's heroes have earned their awards clearing the trenches for the advancing infantry.

PRIVATE IRA S. PERIGO

Killed In Action, Belgium, June 12, 1916.

His chums they fell beside him,
They answered the country's call,
With tears his eyes were often dim
As they left him, one and all,

In a recent letter from our soldier
He said, "I am not afraid to die,"
If we do not meet on earth
We will meet beyond the sky

Then, "Killed in action June the 12th,"
The casualties met our eyes;
Ira, our own, had met his death,
He, too, died in war's cruel ways.

Thus he died so brave, so true,
For Freedom's cause so great;
When the journey of life is through
We will meet him at heaven's gate.

—A FRIEND.
