Quite a number of Fleshertonians attended the Twelfth of July celebration in Dundalk. The day was very hot and tiresome and was said not to be up to former years. The Scouts hiked to Eugenia and back that day and not one of them fell out. For little fellows they did wonders.

The remains of the late Wm. McKee were laid to rest in Flesherton cemetery on Wednesday of last week on arrival of the noon train from Toronto. Mr. McKee was an old resident of this township, living many years on the 4th line. A few years ago he moved to Toronto. Mr. McKee was 68 years of age. He was a prominent Orangeman and a charter member of McKee's lodge. At various times he was assessor of the township and member of the township council. A wife and two sons survive.

All the entrance candidates from Flesherton public school succeeded in passing, notwithstanding the handicap of illness suffered by the principal in the latter part of the term. One of the pupils—Miss Kathleen McVicar—took the highest marks in the inspectorate.

A despach from Swift Current in the dailies of Thursday last says: Charles T. Smith, of Maxwell, Ont., has been found drowned in a slough near the village of Tompkins, near Swift Current. He was seventy-seven years of age, and was on a visit to his daughter, Mrs. McGilvray, of Tompkins.

The Methodist Sabbath school held their annual picnic in Lever's bush on Friday afternoon last. The day was very warm but that did not prevent running, jumping and tearing around in general while perspiration ran down in streams. It is astonishing what youth will do "for fun." The whole bunch of picnickers were taken to the grounds in autos, and brought home the same way, of course.

The garden party at Mount Zion on Monday evening was well attended, the proceeds amounting to about $70. A good program was rendered and Flesherton and Proton ladies played a harmonious and interesting baseball game with odds in favor of Flesherton to the tune of 10 to 5. A large number of people from the village attended.

Who lost a cat recently? This cat got a bad habit of stealing young chickens from some of our citizens. Then a couple of "kiddies" were hired to catch the cat, which they did expeditiously. Puss was taken into a basement cellar by an outraged poultry raiser and her scalp was lifted as neatly as it could be done by a French 77. The idea has been entertained of sending the headless carcase to the captain of the Deutchland to be taken home for Germany's starving millions.

A number of soldier boys on leave from Camp Borden enjoyed a glorious strawberry picnic on the train one night last week, at the expense of one of our local cattle buyers. The owner was bringing a crate of berries home and during his absence in another car the boys, after vainly trying to discover the owner so that they might buy them, fell to and cleaned up twelve boxes. At Orangeville the owner had not returned and the other twelve boxes thereupon disappeared. Further up the line the owner came along for his berries but only the empty crate met his gaze. There is no use trying to elaborate on his feelings When he tries another importation he Orrto stay by the crate until he gets it safe in the pantry.

A sudden and sad death occurred at the home of Mr. Donald Stewart, west of Ceylon, on Saturday afternoon last, when his hired help. Robert Hadden, was stricken while raking hay. Mr. Stewart, who was working a few rods away, heard a cry and ran to assist. He found Hadden unconscious and still on the hayrake. A doctor was at his side within fifteen minutes but could do nothing and the unfortunate man passed away about four hours after receiving the stroke. The deceased was about 44 years of age. He had been in Mr. Stewart's employ for a year, coming from Edinburgh, Scotland. He had no relatives in this country. The family thought an great deal of him, and feel his death keenly The remains were interred in Priceville, Tuesday afternoon. His relatives in Edinburgh have been cabled.

A terrible accident took place in the gravel pit at the C.P.R. station, Erin village at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon of last week and terminated in the death of Garfield Berry half an hour later. Berry had been employed at the pit for some time and was quite familiar with the machinery. He was putting on a belt on the machine that feeds the crusher and was drawn over the pulley The left arm and leg were torn off at the body and the unfortunate man's bowels protruded. The machinery was stopped as quickly as possible and Berry was pulled out, but his injuries were so terrible that nothing could be done for him. He lived for about 30 minutes after the accident. Berry was 30 years of age and unmarried. He was well thought of by everybody and his tragic end has cast a gloom over the community. His parents reside at Berry's hill, 7th line, Erin township.

It is reported that Germany has raised the military age limit above forty-five.

He Died at His Post

Particulars of the passing of the late Lieut. Arnold Monroe Thurston in Belgium have been received. The following letters from the front convey information that his many friends will be pleased to read:

Dear Mr. Thurston,—Before this reaches you the sad news of your son's death will have been cabled.

I write to tell you of his burial in the pretty little military cemetery at——— Belgium, five miles behind the line where he fell, adding one more to the precious sacrifices that will make the world the richer, but the homes from which they came poorer.

It would do your sad hearts good could you hear his officers and the men of his company speak of their sorrow and of the respect in which he was held.

A cross is being made by the engineers and his grave will be sodded and cared for by the three caretakers of the cemetery.

May the God of all comort and grace, comfort and keep you all in your great sorrow. I can't help but think of our Savior's words, "Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friends." To free Belgium and the rest of the world of the curse of the Hun, he has given his all.

Yours with tenderest sympathy,
W. Beattie, Lt.-Col., Senior Chaplain

P.S.—He was killed about 9 p.m, June 25, buried 10.30 a.m. June 28 by me.

H. Q. 2nd Div. Artillery
June 27, 1916

W. H. Thurston, Esq.
Flesherton Ont., Canada

Dear Mr. Thurston,—It is my sad duty to notify you of your gallant son, Lieut. A. Monroe Thurston, who was killed in action last evening. He was killed by a shell in the front line while supervising the fire effect of the Trench Mortar Battery he commanded.

I assure you that it is not in the formal terms of laudation of the dead that I write when I state that your son was one of the bravest, most devoted and capable officers in my command. Not only was he liked by everyone, but admired and respected by all ranks for his cool courage and absolute forgetfulness of self in his devotion to duty. It was my intention to promote him had he survived the fighting now in progress.

As far as consolation from a stranger can assist in assuaging grief, you have my heartfelt condolences, but it will soften the blow to have my assurance as your son's commanding officer that he died the death of a soldier, fearlessly and efficiently, performing his duty in an exposed and dangerous post.

It is not an exaggeration to say that even in these days when we are all almost hourly in the sight and shadow of death, that the news that your son had fallen was felt as a personal loss by the whole Second Division.

sincerley yours
E. W. B. Morrison, Brig. General
C.R.A. 2nd Canadian Division
