WHAT ABOUT THE CEMETERY?

A plotholder uttered a complaint to The Advance last week regarding the conditions prevailing in Flesherton cemetery. The charge is that the cemetery is not properly looked after and that it looks more like an Indian burial ground than a white man's cemetery. The complainant further says that if there are not sufficient funds on hand to keep the place in good order some means of raising funds should be evolved and more pride taken in its appearance. When confronted with the matter there were several points that we were unable to make clear to our catechist and we would like to pass these problems along to whoever is competent to answer them. For instance:

1. Is there a cemetery board or trust in existence whose duty it is to transact all business pertaining to the cemetery?

2. If there is such a board, who are they and how and when were they elected?

3. Who controls the funds accumulated through sales of plots, and how are these funds employed?

4. Is an accounting ever made of the finances and if so to whom is it made?

We believe the above four questions cover the ground pretty well on which information is desired. Somebody is no doubt competent to answer them, but who it is we do not know. Will he please come forth and let the public know the answer to these problems? Those who have dear ones interred in our "City of the dead" would like to have better care taken of this plot of ground, and if those who have the property in charge cannot afford to get the work done they feel that some sort of a levy should be made on all plotholders with a view to making the surroundings more chaste and beautiful than they are at the present time. But first, they would like to have a statement made in accordance with the above questions.

The editor of the Bruce Herald and Times is seeing snakes these days. Never mind, dear editor, prohibition is coming. After Sept. 15 conditions will improve.

The Owen Sound Advertiser has always been a stickler for the journalistic amenities, therefore we were surprised to see in the columns of its second last issue, our editorial on the Raemakers cartoons clipped and used complete as its own editorial. After this the 'Tiser should not complain when its own brains are rehashed.

The costly and fatal fires which have swept the north country in recent years leads one to ask, of what use is the fire ranging system of this province as constituted to-day? Enormous sums of money are paid every year for a little army of forest rangers to prevent these fires, but so far as one can judge the results are far from satisfactory. The United States has a better organized system and even Quebec is away ahead of Ontario in its fire protection laws.

The German high officials are piling up retribution for themselves about as fast as any heathen jungle tribe ever did. Their latest outrage is the murder of a British sea captain who attempted to ram one of their submarines when it undertook to sink his boat. This case of murder is on a par with Nurse Edith Cavell. Britain has a long memory and for every drop of blood shed by these two martyrs Germany should be required to pay dearly. The allied world will demand the execution of the kaiser, Von Turpitz and two others to be decided on later. Of all the devilish fiends that ever existed in human form these uncaged Prussian beasts lead the unholy procession, and they will be punished before long with a punishment that will satisfy those who have suffered. If they were allowed to escape this just punishment the writer would want to move somewhere out of the influence of Britain, France, Russia and Italy—to Central Borneo for instance and live among the head hunters.

Dundalk

Mr. W. J. Irwin of the Gravel Road, Artemesia, had the misfortune on Friday of having his leg broken near the ankle when he was attacked by a bull in his own barnyard. Luckily help was near at hand or he might have been killed. Dr. Martin set the fracture.

In the electric storm of Thursday evening of last week the barn of Dr. Martin's farm, a couple of miles east of Dundalk, was struck by lightning. The purline plate was shattered and the stonework at one point was damaged slightly. Fortunately the place did not take fire.

Dundalk Public School Board in response to advertisement for teachers for three lower rooms received 82 applications. The Board engaged the following: Miss Jamieson of Hillsdale, for the third form and the Misses Henry (two sisters), of Port Perry, for Primary and 2nd forms.

After a lingering illness of over a year Fred Irish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Firman Irish, of Wareham, passed away on Tuesday, July 18, at the Sanitarium at Weston. This young man, who was but 26 years of age, had a most promising career before him in connection with the Bank of Commerce in whose employ he had been for over four years in the branches at Exeter, Crediton and latterly at Halifax, N.S. He was compelled through ill-health to give up work over a year ago and took a trip to Bermunda, was at home for a while and lately went to the Sanitarium but all to no avail.

Mrs. Hames sen., relict of the late Wm. Hames, passed away on Monday at the home of her son at Inistioge at the ripe age of 81 years. The deceased had been an invalid for some years and death comes as a relief to suffering. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon to Dundalk cemetery.--Herald.

Rev. Mr. Tiller of Maxwell exchanged pulpits on Sunday with Rev. Madden.

Haying is progressing, there being no rain to hinder it, though we understand there are plenty of showers around us.

Died—At the residence of her stepson, Wm. Hames, on July 24. Three years ago Mrs. Hames fell and broke her hip. It was thought impossible to set it. She has been a sufferer ever since till death released her.

Mrs. Sloan and Mrs. Cowan of Toronto and Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Hames of Beeton, were guests of their brother, W. Hames, while attending the funeral of the late Mrs. Hames.

The Ontario License Board has distributed to all dentists, physicians, druggists and veterinary surgeons in the Province of Ontario a blue book, which will govern their conduct in the matter of requisitions for liquor. Hitherto a doctor could phone up a drug store and tell the attendants to give a patient a certain amount of liquor. Sometimes the druggist was deceived by this method, and the License Board is bound that such practice must cease. The blue book contains a form which must be filled out by the physician and signed by the person to whom the liquor is delivered saying plainly how much liquor is required and what the disease is. Only six ounces may be prescribed for internal use, but a pint may be obtained if the patient is to be bathed. The prescription may be filled only once, and must be fyled for purposes of record. The blue book also contains sections of the Ontario Temperance Act for the convenience of the physicians and druggists of the Province, defining their powers and duties and the penalties for infractions of the law.

George Renwick of Marsville fell from a hayfork track while fixing a pulley. Both wrists and one arm broken.

Mott Davidson fell forty feet at Melville lime kilns while dumping coal, and died after three hours of suffering.

Jesse Ketchum, an old resident of Orangeville, died at Sutherland, Sask.

From Owen Sound to Cleveland in one day in a Ford car seems to be about the record for a long trip in this part of the country. The trip was made via Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Buffalo, a distance of 437 miles, by Mr. T. A. Fleming of Cleveland. He was accompanied by his wife and their daughter, and they left Owen Sound at 4.10 a.m., on July 5, reaching their home in Cleveland the same night at 11.50 o'clock. Three hours and thirty minutes were taken off the running time for meals and rest, so that the trip was made in 16 hours and ten minutes, an average speed of over 25 miles an hour.—Sun.

Reeve J. A. Marshall of Mono, met with a severe loss on Thursday last, when seven head of yearling cattle were killed by lightning. The animals had taken shelter under a tree from the severe storm that was passing over the country and a bolt killed them. They were lying close together. Mr. Marshall did not learn of the accident until Tuesday when he sent a boy into the field to see if all the cattle were there. The bodies were in a decomposed state and they were cremated. The cattle were insured in the Dufferin Farmers Mutual and were valued at $43 each. —Sun.

John A. Scott of mono received a sunstroke while on a load of hay. He fell off the load of hay. The doctor said he was dead when he reached the ground.
