Owen Sound A Cheap Town

Says the Meaford Express

The presenting of the colors to the 147th Battalion has put Owen Sound "in the " joke column " in so far as the rest of the county is concerned. At the outset the good people of Owen Sound started out imbued with the idea that the colors should be presented to the battalion in the county town and originally set out to lay plans for the big event. When the cost was figured out it put a big crimp in their celebration and they very modestly got busy and figured a way out of paying the expenses. A deputation then waited on the county council to have them buy the colors, and on motion of Dr. Mearns of Hanover the county fell in with the idea and put up the cash to purchase the colors and instructed Warden Cordingly to make the presentation at Niagara or Borden camp, or wherever the battalion was located when the colors were ready.

In the meantime the Owen Sounders conceived another idea and wanted a military day when they had the expense of the colors saddled on the county. Negotiations were then entered into with the G.T.R. and C.P.R. to bring the men there, but the fly in the ointment was the raising of $2000 or $2500 to pay the transportation. Warden Cordingly would not stand for the outlay and that exploded the big ideas of the Owen Sounders again. As a last resort the would be "big guns of Owen Sound" got in touch with Col. McFarland with a view to having the men go to Owen Sound for such a blow out and pay their own transportation expenses. The Colonel advised them that the men might be willing to go, but he had not submitted the proposition to them. This is where the bomb exploded in such a way that the promoters in Owen Sound received a genuine black eye. The men whose homes did not happen to be in Owen Sound blankly refused to pay their own way to go to Owen Sound on the ground that they were refused privileges to attend celebrations in their own towns on previous occasions. This put an end to the last attempt made to entertain the soldiers in Owen Sound at somebody else's expense.

The holding of a big military demonstration is also claimed to be a compromise on the county town's behalf in not putting up the $10 grant to all the men who enlisted as they started out to do. As a bunch of cheap skates the town of Owen Sound has a reputation among the soldiers of the 147th Battalion and their sugar coated regards leak out from time to time.

Building New Power Line

Under the direction of Line Construction Superintendents Fisher at this end and Smith at the Eugenia end, the new power line is already in course of construction. This line, which is to link the newly developed power at Eugenia with the Big Chute on the Severn river, has been in the air for some time, but it is now to become a reality, if the specified time is observed, by Oct. 1st. The demand for power from the Big Chute became greater than it could supply, hence the necessity of linking up with other powers.

The new line, Supt. Fisher states, will be about 35 miles in length. According to the route surveyed it will leave the power house and be run north to the village of Kimberley, then north and east to Ravenna and Banks, coming across the mountain along the line fence between the farms of the Georgian Bay Fruit Growers, thus obviating the necessity of making the several turns in the road on the east slope. Following east the line will come through Mair's Mills, thence on to town, entering by way of High street.

Several carloads of poles are on the railway grounds and a gang of men are preparing them for distribution along the route. Many of these are 65 feet in length, these very long poles being for use in the town. In the country the length will be reduced to 45 feet on the average, though on the mountain they may be cut ten feet shorter. Throughout the course the poles will be stormstayed every twenty poles with special guys at every tenth pole, the object being to make the line as perfect as possible.

At present 25 men and several teams are engaged here, but this force will be doubled at once, while the force at the Eugenia end will be made as large as possible. The object is to fulfil the contract with the Commission of Orillia within the specified time.

At present the line will not be run into Thornbury or Clarksburg, though the poles will be so cross armed that an additional line may be run at any time. The new line will be about 35 miles in length and will cost, it is estimated, at least $4000 per mile.

Not many days ago a party of trained nurses left Ottawa for New York city, as volunteers to work in the city hospitals, which are heavily overtaxed by reason of the infantile paralysis epidemic. At Alburg, in Vermont, the United States immigration officer boarded the train, forced the young women to get out of bed, and compelled them to take the next train back to Canada. The contract labor law was being violated, and the epidemic of infantile paralysis must have its way rather than break that wise and useful law. It is not often we meet a more striking case than this of legalism gone mad.—Guardian.

Apples Worth $6,000

Mr. Arthur Petch of Griersville, is a live wire in the fruit industry and has thebest crop of apples this year of any person in this part of the province. His orchard will be a veritible gold mine this season and he has disposed of his entire crop to a Western buyer for $4 per barrel. He estimates that he will have in the neighborhood of 1500 barrels of apples principally all of which are choice.

It is about 20 years since this orchard was first set out, and his father, Mr. Reuben Petch, was the laughing stock of the district by those who lacked the foresight of the future, for going into fruit so extensively. Just at a time when his neighbors were destroying their apple orchards, Mr. Petch was busy building up the very part of his farm that others were tearing down. Fortunately the old gentleman has lived to see his fondest hopes come literally true, and while the fruit farm is now managed by his son,he has thesatisfaction of seeing his labors also, bearing fruit.

The farm is located at Griersville and will be the pride of Grey County. Mr. Petch, jr., has all the latest appliances for spraying and caring for his valuable fruit orchard and it is bound to give him good returns on his investment.—Meaford Express.

New Industry for Wiarton

The Feldspar and and Clay products Limited, Wiarton, is the name of a new company which was recently incorporated with an authorized capital of $1,500,000. This has been the outcome of negotiations carried on for purchase of the old cement plant. The engineer of the company was in Wiarton a few days ago and said that they had purchased the plant and everything owned by the Portland Cement Company. It is the intention to manufacture potash, the importation of which has been shut off by the war. The company will get their raw material near Parry Sound, where they have purchased 500 acres containing feldspar. This has been analyzed and goes 13.5 per cent., while rock yielding 10 per cent. has been worked to good profit. This company hopes to get to work soon and when they get started will require 150 men. For Wiarton's sake it is to be hoped the industry goes ahead.

A flock of sheep ran in front of an auto driven by Miss Cargill of Cargill, near Mildmay. One sheep was killed, another had its leg broken and the car was ditched and damaged.

CHESTER LONG

Paint that House this Fall

Protect it from the destructive effect of a winter's snow and ice—save valuable time next spring for other work. Fall painting pays.
But be sure you choose the right paint—one that will give your buildings the years of protection that you've paid for.

B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT

is made according to the formula which scientific tests and many years of experience by practical painters prove to be best to meet Canadian weather conditions.

Formula: 70% Pure White Lead
30% White Zinc
100% Pure Paint

It contains 70% of Brandram's B.B. Genuine White Lead—of standard purity for over 100 years—and 30% of pure white zinc—thus combining, in the proper proportions, pure lead and pure zinc, and making a perfect paint. You take no chances with B-H "English" Paint. Be sure you get it! There are cheaper paints, but none more economical when covering capacity and length of wear are considered.
