A minister congratulated a lady on her silver anniversary for living 25 years with the same man.

"But he is not the same man he was when I first got hold of him," she replied.

A report from Minnedosa, Manitoba, states that a dog was badly bitten along the back in a fight. The wounds were so placed that the injured animal could not lick them, so twice a day a neighboring dog called round and administered treatment until the wounds healed.

GLASGOW—Our visit to Scotland is almost over and today we are going back to the north of England. We have seen a great many interesting things, but the weather has been very bad, interferring with some of our travels. It seems doubtful that the Workinton plowing match can be held on schedule, which will be a disappointment to all of us.

Fuel is very scarce and in many places there has been no heat in our rooms. But we've had wonderful hospitality everywhere we've been and should not complain.

After our stay in southern England we left London for York. Normally it's about a four hour ride by train but again the cold delayed us.

On arrival we went straight to the National Institute of Agricultural Engineering at Askham Bryan, four or five miles from York. This building was formerly an agricultural school and farm of 400 acres, but was taken over for agricultural research in 1942. Here they test all kinds of farm machinery and design many new types.

We were all interested in their three-furrow, one-way plow. This plow has both right and left hand bottoms. When turning at the headland, the plowman simply trips a lever, the plow rotates and he goes back the same furrow. This eliminates dead murrows in a field where not necessary for drainage.

HARVESTER FOR SUGAR BEETS

A sugar beet harvester is another implement of their own design. A large acreage of sugar beets is grown in England and this machine pulls, tops and elevates the beets into a cart or truck, thus saving a great deal of hard work.

We returned to the Institute the next day. The ground was frozen too hard for outside demonstrations, so we were shown some interesting films on British plowing.

That afternoon we looked around York, one of the oldest cities in England. It still is surrounded by a heavy stone wall. We visited Yorkminster Cathedral and here again we saw some of the finest architecture in the world. The Cathedral's stained glass windows are said to be unexcelled anywhere.

The Edinburgh train was hours late, due to the cold, and we did not reach the Scottish capital until midnight. We went to bed in the North British Railway hotel without supper.

Next morning we were met by T. B. Manson of the Department of Agriculture for Scotland, who showed us a part of the city and after lunch we attended the International rugby match between Scotland and Wales. They take their football seriously here for, despite the cold weather and bad roads, the attendance was 50,000.

Next morning we attended service in St. Cuthbert's church in Edinburgh. Some of us had been anxious to go to St. Giles, where the Rev. John Knox used to preach, but it was closed for awhile.

On Monday morning we motored 60 miles to Perth, where we watched the judging of the Aberdeen Angus at the annual show and sale. After lunch we visited the farm of Mr. Thos. Clark of Muirton, where we saw some excellent Clydesdales, one being Muirton Monarch, Grand Champion Stallion and winner of the Cawdor Cup at Glasgow in 1945, the last time shown.

Next we went to the dairy farm of the Lord Provost of Perth, Ure Primrose. We were entertained at tea in the lovely home and in the evening were guests of the Provost and city magistrates at a civic dinner in the Station Hotel. Later we attended a "brains trust" in the city hall, conducted by the young farmers' club, in which our manager, George Waldie, took part.

A FARM IN FIFESHIRE

Tuesday morning we drove up to Fifeshire to see one of the larger farms in Scotland, that of Mr. Geo. Clark, Nether Pitlochie. The farm contained about 1,000 acres, 600 being sown to spring crop annually. Mr. Clark is not a dairy farmer, but feeds about 200 to 300 steers yearly. These are purchased in Ireland at between 12 to 13 cents per pound. He does not consider there is very much profit in feeding cattle at present prices, but finds it necessary in order to utilize the straw to make manure. Most of the cattle are finished in the stable and marketed; the balance are put on grass. They would weigh from 13 to 15 cwt. each.

This farm produces about 125 acres of potatoes each year, as well as a lot of turnips and about 20 acres of sugar beets, which farmers in some sections are compelled to grow. The potatoes are sold mostly for seed and are quite a profitable crop, averaging as much as 12 tons per acre. We were surprised to find that most of the potatoes are picked by hand, thus requiring a lot of extra labor—for some reason they are not satisfied with the potato diggers. Sixteen men are employed yearly, with some casual labor during the harvest months. It seemed evident that the labor siuation is not as acute as it is in Canada.

PERTH ANGUS SALE

After lunch we returned to Perth and attended the sale of the Angus cattle. Between 4 and 5 hundred passed through the ring, averaging about one a minute. The Grand Champion Bull sold for 5,800 guineas $24,476) for export to South America. The reserve bull was purchased by Mr. F. W. Harding of the U.S. for 4,600 guineas (19,412). With the exception of a few of the tops, prices were lower than we expected.

We drove from Perth to Glasgow this morning through heavy snow and over very slippery roads. At lunch we were the guests of the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Association, one of the largest co-operatives in the world. It was organized about 100 years ago by a few farmers. They handle or manufacture almost every commodity that's on the market. In the past the company was noted for its fine horses, and while many have been replaced by trucks, they still have about 100 left.

This afternoon we are to take the train for Carlisle and then we're to go to Workington, where the plowing match is to be held, weather permitting. After that it will be over to Ireland for some new advenures.

Messrs. Geo. Banks, M. S. McLeod, W. R. Meads and John McWilliam motored to Fort Erie Tuesday afternoon and conducted the conferring of the third degree on Robt. Banks, son of the former, at Fort Erie Masonic Lodge. They arrived home about five this Wednesday morning.

A touch of Spring and beauty was evident on St. John's altar Sunday. There were two vases of daffodils and tulips in memory of Keith Cairns, also box of beautiful daffodils loaned by Mrs. Wm. Turney. Both Spring and Easter will soon be here with their promise of renewed life for all.

8TH LINE OSPREY

(Intended for Last Week)

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Smith entertained recently with a euchre party. Mrs. Lloyd Stephens and Gerald Magee were the lucky winners.

We are glad to report Mr. Albert Williams home again, after having had his tonsils removed in the Markdale hospital.

We are very sorry to report little Kathleen Haley, a patient in Markdale hospital, suffering a broken leg obtained while ski-ing at school. Mrs. Haley is also on the sick list. We hope for both of them a speedy recovery.

Mr. Fred Hale attended the Good Roads Association convention in Toronto recently and on his return was storm-bound in Flesherton for a days.

Mr. D. Stephens and son, John, visited recently with Mr. and Mrs. M. Mullen.

DEADLINE FOR CAR LICENSES IS MARCH 22

Hon. George H. Doucett, Minister of Highways, has announced that in view of the unusual snow conditions prevailing in many parts of the province which have prevented many motorists from securing their new registration plates, the term of 1946 motor vehicle permits and drivers' licenses has been further extended to March 22.

The minister added that there would be no further extension beyond that date.

She: "But I haven't been drinking."

Sailor: "I have."

A candidate for the police was being given an oral examination. "If you were by yourself in a police car, and were being pursued by a gang of desperate criminals in another car doing 40 miles an hour on a lonely road, what would you do?"

The candidate replied, promptly, "50."
