There is still a situation open in The Advance office for a bright youth to learn the printing business.

The first snow storm of the season arrived on Friday night last and Saturday morning the ground was white with snow. It didn't look good.

Cadet T. Blakely, R. F. C., of Camp Borden visited with his uncle and other friends in town over the holiday. Tom is shortly to be gazetted a Lieutenant.

Mr. W. Hemphill and daughter, accompanied by three other friends, motored from Toronto Sunday, took in the fair and returned to the city Monday evening.

Dr. Fred Murray motored up from Toronto on Saturday and visited his brother here. The Dr. gave a sweetly rendered solo on Sunday evening in the Methodist church.

The Advance had a pleasant but brief call on Thursday last from Mr. C. W. Chadwick of Toronto, who was paying a visit to Mrs Bulmer, who is in failing health.

Revs. Stanley of Markdale and Belfry of Flesherton exchanged pulpits on Sunday. In the evening a number of Mr. Stanley's old parishioners on the Maxwell circuit, where he was stationed five years ago, attended the service here.

Osprey fall fair met the first real rebuff in its history on Wednesday of last week, when the day proved rainy and disagreeable throughout. Notwithstanding this there was a nice crowd present and the show in some respect the exhibition was even ahead of former years. The horse and cattle exhibit was especially good. The gate receipts amounted to $112 and the concert at night brought $65.10.

The sum of $47 was raised for the Children's Aid Society on Monday, when a number of young ladies played "tag" with the villagers and visitors. The industrious and successful bunch comprised Misses Thelma and Evada Wilson, Bessie McVicar, Mabel Switt, Jean Reid, Lorena Carlo, Lilian Buskin and Mamie McTavish.

Mrs. E. C. Murray held her post-nuptial reception on Friday of last week, when a large number of ladies called. The hostess was exquisitely gowned in white brussels net and was assisted by Miss Maud Richardson, while Mrs. Blackburn on the piano and Miss Hulse on the violin provided music. The tea table was presided over by Mrs Mitchell assisted by Mrs. Munshaw and Miss Holmes. The floral decorations were fitting to the autumn season, being of dahlias and asters. Many good wishes were left with the bride of two months.

The pupils of Mrs. (Dr.) Murray, formerly Miss Lowndes, met at her home on Tuesday evening and presented their former much esteemed teacher with a silver handled cake knife as a token of their good will.

Flesherton high school pupils drove to Markdale Friday afternoon last and joined the high school pupils there in field day sports, The Flesherton pupils left honors with the Markdale scholars. We do not know much about it, but it appears that all was not perfect harmony as it should be. Here is a sample given us: A Flesherton lady contrasted the physical proportions of the contestants, when a Markdale legal light said, "Oh, yes, we raise big boys here." Quick as a flash the lady countered: "So do we, but we've sent them all to the war." It is said the legal light went out sputtering like a tallow dip.

Flying machines are becoming quite a common sight around Flesherton. Saturday evening last, just as the street lamps were lighted, a plane came up from the south, turned west and came down on the Hazard farm, Stone's line, four miles west of Flesherton, making a successful landing in the dusk. It later transpired that the air man had lost his bearings, having been misdirected, he said, at Brantford. Sunday morning he came to town and phoned to Camp Borden for a pilot and a very short while afterward the second flyer arrived from Borden, passing over the town, and came to rest on Alex. Muir's farm about a mile west of Flesherton Station, half a mile from the first machine. The wind was very high on Sunday and both planes rested until about 4 p.m., when the wind began to go down, and then got away in good style, flying low. Several hundred people visited the machines on Sunday. The air men were entertained by R. Whittaker and J. McMillan while on their enforced visit.

East Grey Fall Fair

East Grey fall fair, held on Monday, was the most most successful from point of exhibits that we have had for some years, but the crowd was small. Of course the weather was very cold and it snowed, but still the crowd should have been larger if the public took the deep interest in their home fair that they should and that they do in other places.

The hall was well filled with grain, roots, vegetables, fruit, flowers, ladies' work and dairy products. The competition in butter was keener than we have ever seen it here. Outside cattle, horses, sheep and pigs were also good as also was the poultry. Mr. J. C. Mercer of Markdale, a specialist in white 'dottes and white leghorns, took a large number of prizes for his fine birds. The judge remarked that this exhibitor evidently knows a good bird. The show was made very interesting through Mr. Mercer's contribution thereto. He has stock for sale. The poultry judge this year was Mr. R. B. Fox of Toronto, who is also a breeder of white wyandottes, and who evidently knows his business from A to Z. We consider him the best all round man on poultry that we have had here.

The Mt. Forest pipe band furnished music and many were the complimentary remarks we heard passed on their playing. Flesherton will be pleased to have a return engagement with these gentlemen at some future time.

The concert at night was a successful affair and the entertainment was a good one.

Receipts at the gate were $106 and at the concert $132.

The prize list will appear next week.

Canadians in Flying Corps

Ottawa, Oct 8—Recent spectacular feats of Major Bishop, the Canadian aviator who has won all the medals for valor available in the British army, has called attention strikingly to the manner in which young Canadians have taken to the new manner of fighting in the air. Canada has sent to the war some of the finest air fighters developed in recent years.

The services take only men under 25 years of age to train as pilots. These young men must be of the finest physical and mental type, active, alert, and unusually intelligent. From Canada over one thousand of such young men have joined the Royal Flying Corps as aviation cadets in training and over 550 are officers in the Royal Naval Air Service, the naval branch of the flying service. Besides this 3000 Canadians have joined the Royal Flying Corps as mechanics, helpers, etc., the rank and file of the corps.

It is said to be an encouraging evidence of the spirit of the Canadian people that so many young Canadians have joined the most difficult and arduous service; also, to be further proof of Canada's deep and sincere interest in the war.

The experience is that many men can afford to assign half their pay to dependents, in addition.

A considerable number of men who have enlisted in the Canadian forces have found themselves better off under the army rate of pay, which is granted in addition to board, lodging, clothing, equipment, transportation, etc., than they were while in civilian positions. Their wants are provided for, and they receive a steady addition to the bank account each month.
