Under those conditions we would say cold feet is the trouble in both cases, and wonder if the Military Service Act only applies to the other provinces of Canada and not to Quebec as well, and also think that the government, or whoever has ontrol of this affair, should be talked to with no uncertain demand.

Walkerton

A workman in a Walkerton factory while going to work recently collapsed on the street and was removed in a prostrate condition to his home. As he was almost as low in finances as he was in health, and having a wife and five small children to support, his factory colleagues took up a collection for him and raised $28 in a few minutes. The English church, which the family attend, and the town council are both taking turns in extending relief, and the family will no doubt be tided over the hard spell by the charitable assistance thus afforded them.

Mrs. Wilhelm who, with her daughter, Miss Tillie Wilhelm, lives on a farm west of Walkerton, had the misfortune while going down the cellar steps with a candle in her hand, to fall down the stairs and landing on the cement floor broke two ribs off her spine besides badly bruising her back. As she was alone in the house at the time, she lay unconscious in the cellar until one of her grandchildren happened in on her way home from school after four and was attracted by the moans, where she found the aged lady lying prostrate on the floor. Owing to the advanced age of Mrs. Wilhelm, who is in her 81st year, her condition is most precarious—Herald and Times.

Philip White of Collingwood was sentenced by Judge Vance to one year at Burwash Farm for shooing his brother, Edward White. There had been bad blood for years between the families, who lived on adjoining lots, and the direct cause of the shooting was Edward's attempt to put up a fence on what Philip maintained was his property. After warning his brother, Philip fired a shotgun at his brother, who received more than thirty grains of shot in the face, causing among other things total blindness. After a trial extending over three days Philip was convicted.
