ARTEMESIA COUNCIL

Artemesia Council met on Saturday last, all the members present, the Reeve in the chair. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. A communication was received from Owen Sound hospital asking for donation, also from the Artemesia High School Board asking Council to pass a bylaw authorizing them to borrow $1400 for current expenditure; account $51.33 was received from W. H. Thurston, stationery and printing Auditor's Report.

Bylaw No. 10, appointing overseers, etc., was read a third time and passed.

Bylaw No. 11, empowering the High School Board to borrow $1400 was put through the several readings and passed.

Council adjourned.

The oil flotation process is one of the most economical for the treatment of certain metal bearing ores. Pine oil, which hitherto has been exclusively used in this process is a product of the turpentine industry in the southern States. It is so scarce and so much in demand to reduce ores in United States plants that it is practically impossible for Canadian mines to purchase it. In this difficulty the Forestry branch of the Department of the Interior was appealed to and an investigation started in the Forest Products laboratories which resulted in showing that pine oils could be produced in Canada and also that a by product oil of the hardwood distillation industry could successfully be employed in extracting cobalt and similar ores. The discovery is attracting a great deal of interest in mining circles as it will greatly facilitate the introduction of the oil flotation process.

The many uses to which aeroplanes are hardly known to the general public. Unlike other war weapons, they have been used to save life as well as destroy it. During the Serbian retreat airplanes were used as ambulances for the first time. Thirteen gravely wounded men needed to be removed at once ; several would lose their lives unless operated on without delay. The journey over such mountainous roads to a coast hospital was beyond their strength, so it was decided to carry them to the Italian port of Vaolna by airplane. One of the worst cases travelled over 200 miles thus, the pilot making one landing—at Prisrend—to make sure that his passenger was still alive.

A revolution carried out in Costa Rica was less costly in life—in fact no blood at all was spilled in this case—than the Russian revolution. The man occupying the position of President of the Costa Rica Republic desired to succeed himself, something the constitution forbids. On one morning, after his intentions became known, he was quietly informed by a band of responsible citizens that his administration would be no longer recognized, the majority of the army declared their allegiance to a new order of things, and the deposed leader took refuge in the American Legation. Not a single person was injured, and no one was even placed under arrest longer than 24 hours.

Interprovincial Road For Grey Connty

That the Toronto and Sydenham road will be taken over as one of the county provincial highways is an assured fact. A meeting was held in Toronto recently of members fo the county roads committee of Peel, Dufferin, Wellington and Grey. The matters dealt with were the construction and maintenance of roads on county boundaries and arrangements were completed by which the county roads superintendent of each county will have charge of half of the distance and the county will pay for the construction and maintainance of the work done. The settlement of monies expended will be adjusted between the counties at the end of each year, county paying one half of the cost. The arrangements were entered into by the warden and chairman of the county roads committee of each county and it is expected that it will work out fairly for each of the municipalities concerned. While in the city the delegation waited upon th provincial government and the assurance was given that the Toronto and Sydenham road which runs from Owen Sound to Chatsworth and through to Toronto by way of Flesherton, Shelburne and Orangeville, will be taken over as one of the county provincial roads. This would mean that the province will pay for sixty per cent. of both maintainance and construction and undoubtedly this will prove to be one of the great main arteries in the system of inter provincial roads.

Foodstuffs shipped from the United States and Canada to the allies during March exceeded February shipments by 350,000 tons, the Food Administration announced to-night. The month's total was 1,100,000 tons.

Creative Canadian Literature

Although there are no books more sought after by collectors of other nations than "Canadiana," Canadians themselves have hitherto paid little attention to their own literature. When, therefore, Lord Shaughnessy of the C.P.R., who himself is a great reader of works by Canadian authors, and has an extensive library, was recently asked to present the nucleus of a library to the Canadian Club of New York, no available list could be found which could be considered representative of what was creative and original in Canadian literature. With the help of well informed booksellers and librarians such a list was compiled and the nucleus of this Canadian library in New York has been formed. The list was confined almost exclusively to fiction and poetry, as the intention was to emphasize the creative character of Canadian literary expression. Several books which otherwise would have been included, such as Jerry Snyder's "In the Wake of the Eighteen-Twelvers" and Edith Eaton's "Mrs. Spring Fragrance," could not be obtained, as they are out of print. As a guide to those who are interested in the growth of an original Canadian literature, Lord Shaughnessy's list should prove of great interest. Here it is:—
