Kimberley Budget

The copious showers on Sunday were certainly much needed as the land was drying out very rapidly on account of the high winds prevailing.

Eugenia junior baseball team drove down to our burg on Saturday last and played our boys a seven inning game, resulting in a win for Eugenia by one run. Our lads had it over them like a tent till the last inning when they changed pitchers, Eugenia scoring six runs this inning. Eugenia boys are a good manly bunch of sports and we'd like to see them back again before the end of the season.

Our "grand old man," Mr. Thos. Wickens, is just a few years off the century mark and is still hale and hearty. That he may long be spared is the sincere wish of his many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stuart and little son, of Parry Sound, are visiting with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart.

Victor Ellis, of Collingwood, is renewing old acquaintances in this part at present. Victor is teacher in the Technical School and draws a salary well up in four figures.

Our two teachers, Miss Cook and Miss Latimer are holidaying at their respective homes in Meaford and Eugenia.

Chas. Camack, of the valley road north, will have over $100 worth of strawberries grown on a piece of land not over ½ of an acre in extent. We fail to understand why there isn't more growers of this luscious fruit.

We attended a meeting of the Eugenia Farmers' Club on Saturday evening last and found it an able and efficient organization with a live president, secretary and board of directors.

Victoria Corners

On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore and family motored to Smithville to spend the holiday with Mrs. Moore's parents.

The pupils and teacher, Miss Hamilton, enjoyed a picnic last Friday in Mr. Stinson's bush. The parents were royally driven from the woods in an up to date Ford. We are sorry that Miss Hamilton has resigned her duties, but wish her the very best of success wherever she may go.

Mr. and Mrs. Burnside, Markdale, visited at Mr. Jas. Lockhart's.

On Sunday last Rev. Dinnick preached a very impressive farewell sermon. At the close of the service, Miss Dorothy Nichol read an appropriate address and Mr. Elmo Stevens presented the pastor with a safety razor as a token of appreciation from the Epworth League. Mr. Dinnick will be greatly missed at Inistioge and has the community's best wishes for success in his new work.

Mrs. A. Montgomery, Dundalk, visited for a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gallaugher.

Miss O. Lockhart holidayed with friends in Toronto.

We hear a great deal about the high price of matches but never before heard of any one conserving them quite so much as to prepare a fire ready to light and then leaving it, expecting the water on the stove to boil. We believe there is a great necessity for economy, so if the plan was successful others might try it.

Some idea of the acuteness of the labor problem in this section may be understood by the fact that a young high school girl, living with her widowed mother on a Carrick farm volunteered to go out and drive the team to haul gravel to put in their statute labor. The only son on the farm had been drafted, but the girl was ready to do her part.

Maxwell

The Red Cross concert held at Mr. Andrew Pallister's, Maxwell, on Friday evening last was a decided success. The ball game was especially interesting, the girls playing against the boys, who consented to encumber themselves with skirts in order to make it more even. However, we won't ask them to do it again, as the score was 11 to 2 in favor of the girls. The proceeds were $96.36.

In the casulty list on Monday was the name of Pte. John Shattock, formerly of this place, among the wounded. A telegram from the Records Office received by Mrs. Cordon stated that it was gunshot wounds on June 19th in the jaw and chest, and that the soldier boy is in a hospital in England. This lad is not yet 20 years old, but he has had considerable experience in warfare in his two and a half years in the battle lines if casualties count. He was first wounded by gunshot in the neck, then shell shocked, then buried alive for half an hour by an exploding shell, afterwards struck by a splinter from a shell and now his present wounds. He has surely had some close calls and deserves home leave if his wounds are not too serious for that.—Dundalk Herald.

During the rain storm on Friday last Elgin Duke, son of Joseph Duke of the back line, Melancthon, and Harold Peterson, of Shelburne, had an experience that they will remember for some time. They were working at the gravel pit on Geo. Bingham's farm in Amaranth and while it was raining they stood with their backs against the side of the pit where they were sheltered from the rain. All at once they received an electric shock that doubled them up and sent them rolling in the pit. They soon recovered but both men since are feeling very sore as if they had been clubbed.—Free Press.

Summer Forage for Lambs.

Frequent change of pasture is beneficial to, and relished by, all classes of stock and this applies with special emphasis to the case of sheep. It is true for two reasons. Sheep are subject to parasitic disease which may be prevented to a large extent by not pasturing on any one area for too great a length of time. In addition to this they are possibly more fastidious about their food than some other farm animals. It is not practicable on every farm to arrange for a succession of pastures during the grazing season. However, the same area will sustain considerable more sheep if such an arrangement is feasible. Rye sown early in the fall furnishes a good deal of pasture in the late fall and early spring. After the rye is eaten off in the spring rape may be sown on this land and will come along for pasture in June or July. Alfalfa and red clover are satisfactory pasture crops and will serve until the rape is ready. An annual pasture consisting of one bushel each of wheat, oats and barley together with eight pounds of red clover provides a good pasture for the early summer months, and the clover coming along in the autumn will give a nice picking. This annual pasture may be sown any time early in May. Without a great deal of additional labor it is possible to have a succession of crops ready for seeding throughout the entire season. The increase in health and condition of the flock will amply repay any such outlay of time and expense.—J. P. Sackville, B.S.A., Ontario Agricultural College.
