Pte. Fred Karstedt, who is taking an officers training course in Toronto, was stricken with influenza, which developed last week into pneumonia. His parents went down Friday evening by motor, returning Monday evening Fred is recovering nicely.

Mr. Holland, principal of the public school, received the sad news on Tuesday that his sister and niece had both died of the influenza. Mr. Holland left for Toronto by the evening train and school is closed.

Misses Maud Boyd, teacher at Waterdown; Adda Wright of Bentinck, Bessie McVicar of Collingwood township, and Mrs. Brady of near Violet Hill, were visitors at their parental homes over the holiday.

A good evidence of the modern convenience of the automobile was afforded one day last week. Mr. Ed. Best broke an article in his traction engine while moving in the afternoon. He jumped aboard an auto, tore off to Waterloo, got his repair and returned in time to get his engine going next morning without losing any time.

There are at least three well defined cases of the Spanish influenza in this vicinity and many cases that are not so well defined. It would be well where there are cases of colds in the house if the parents would keep their children from school until danger of infection is past. The authorities request this—W. T. Little, M.O.H.

About fifteen auto loads of citizens went to the station on Thursday noon last and escorted two more returned Flesherton boys, who arrived on that train to town. These were Robert Bellamy and Will Flynn, both of whom have seen active service, the former having been wounded in the leg and thigh. Both boys were given a royal reception, a reception Flesherton knows how to give, and were welcomed back from their long stay overseas. George Richardson came home on the evening train unexpectedly, although he was thought to be in Canada. Eight Flesherton boys have returned from overseas during the past two years and a half of whom six have seen active service.

Of interest to Canadian sportsmen is the October issue of Rod and Gun with its hunting stories of deer, moose, bear, etc. in the various Canadian provinces, and its well maintained departments devoted to guns and ammunition, fishing, the trap line, the kennel, etc. "Trout Fishing in Many Waters," by Louis Rhead, is the title of the leading article in the Fishing Notes section, Mr. Rhead being America's foremost angling author. The first article in a series of four to be contributed by Mr. H. Haddon on "A year with the deer," appears in this number also. Rod and Gun is published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock.

In Memorium

In loving memory of Robert F. Genoe, who died Sunday, October 14th, 1917.

One year has gone since that sad day
When our dear father passed away.
He was called home, it was God's will
But in ou hearts he liveth still.
There is one link death cannot sever,
Love and remembrance last forever.
—Wife and Family.

Five Local Men Have Returned

Bob Bellamy, Wm. Flynn and George Richardson, of Flesherton, Wells Whittaker and J. J. Pattison, of Ceylon, returned home

Pte. George Richardson

Pte. Richardson, who returned home on Friday night of last week, went overseas with the old 147th Battalion. While drilling in Owen Sound he, with others, was in the rink accident and had four ribs broken. Some of these have given him trouble ever since. After arriving in England he was not allowed to go to the front owing to his physical condition, but was given a job in the postoffice in London, where he has been for nearly two years. Recently he has been under examination by the medical board, who ordered him home to Canada. George says that all invalids capable of of moving, soldiers under 19 years of age and all over 45 are now being returned to Canada This is probably to make room for the younger men who have recently been called to the colors. He says the U boats menace is practically mastered. The food question in England is not acute; there is plenty for everybody to eat.

Pte. Robert Bellamy

Robert Bellamy enlisted at Cayuga with the 114 Batt. in the summer of 1916 going overseas that fall, as a sergeant in the quartermaster's department. In the summer of 1917 he was sent to France with a machine gun company, and last January was wounded in the right leg by the bursting of a shrapnel shell. His leg was broken just above the knee and was otherwise disabled by the shell. He spent eight months in hospitals in England before he was returned home to Canada disabled for further service. A brother, Emerson, also enlisted as a Quartermaster Sergeant in the same battalion and was also sent to France as a private with the 4th Canadian Machine Gun Company. He was recently promoted and is now a Corporal. Emerson was wounded in the hand a couple of months ago but is again on duty.

Pte Wm. Flynn

Pte. Wm. Flynn enlisted at Flesherton with the 147th Batt. in the spring of 1916 going overseas that fall. He went to France in the spring of 1917 and spent four months with the 38th Batt. when he saw much active fighting. He was never wounded but was sent to England and underwent an operation for appendicitis. He spent a year in England recuperating in the different hospitals. While in France Will was in the Lens sector and had quite an experience.

Corp. Wells Whittaker

Pte. Wells Whittaker, son of Mr. Richard Whittaker of Stone's Line, surprised his parents last week by walking in on them unheralded. Wells was in the medical Corps and had seen service in both Egypt and France, covering a period of about three years. He has returned to complete his medical studies at Queens.

Pte. J. J. Pattison

Pte. J. J. Pattison also returned on the Wednesday noon train, with Wells Whittaker, after an absence overseas of nearly two years. He was wounded in the back by shrapnel while in the Lens area, and was in the hospital in England for over a year. He enlisted with the 147th Batt., going to England in the fall of 1916, thence to France the next spring, where he was attached to the 58th Batt. until he was wounded.
