is obscured. During the summer temperatures running as high as 105 degrees are common.

Back in 1926 the first of some 2000 Mennonites arrived in this savage country. Searching for a land where they could live according to their peculiar religious tenets many of them had moved from Germany to Russia, then to Canada and the United States. Paraguay seems to be their last frontier.

The life of the Mennonites in the Chaco has been an unending struggle against nature. In order to reach their markets, products have to be carried first in carts drawn by oxen or horses, then transferred to a tiny railroad, then floated down the Paraguay River.

But the Mennonites chief crop—long fibred cotton—has made them, if not wealthy, at least self sufficient. Before many weeks have passed their ranks will be swelled by a notable addition. Toward the end of June 1500 Mennonites left the Red River Valley in Southern Manitoba and sailed from Quebec on the Dutch ship Volendam. Their destination was the Paraguayan Chaco where the life may be hard, but where they hope to find the freedom from "worldly influences" that has been the goal of stricter members of the sect ever since it originated in Europe in the 16th century.

Russia

During the past few weeks Russian progress in Europe appears to have slowed dowr considerably, and it now seems as if the policy-makers in the Kremlin had decided to turn attention toward Asia, at least for the time being.

Reports from Burma sound as though the Communists had been getting in some of their best propaganda work there, and there are many indications that this former British colony is definitely moving toward the Soviet orbit.

Dispatches from China give increasing evidence of real deteriora tion in Nationalist circles. It is now a serious possibility that before many weeks have passed all of China down to the Yellow River will be in Communist hands.

France is making no real headway in its long effort to reclaim Indo China. There is trouble in Malaya; and the Dutch have yet to establish anything like a satisfactory relationship with the Indonesians.

Just how much Russia is directly responsible for all this trouble and unrest cannot be determined with any certainty. But there is little doubt that chaotic conditions are increasing throughout Asia, and that such conditions are ideal for Russian exploitation. So it seems only reasonable to assume that Moscow is definitely interested in the possibilities that exist in that area of the world, and is not just sitting idly by letting events shape themselves.

So You Can't Sleep

If you're troubled with insomnia, you're probably brainier than the average person—at least that's the opinion of a noted neuropsychiatrist, and any men who can tote a title like that around without getting a backache should know what he's talking about.

This neuro—etc. etc. maintains that an active mind requires far less sleep than a mind preoccupied with dull or unimportant matters. Authorities have never been able to agree on the exact number of hours of sleep required by the average person. But lying awake at night in a comfortable bed is rarely dangerous to one's health.

Greatest Known Oil Reserve On Earth

Canada suffers from oil anaemia, producing only about a seventh of her needs from her own wells—says the Monthly Letter of The Royal Bank of Canada. Yet widespread seepages in favorable structures in the Mackenzie River Basin indicate the possibility of opening up new fields to supplement those at Fort Norman and in the Turner Valley.

We also have enormous oil deposits in the tar sands of Alberta—according to the Canada Year Book "the greatest known oil reserve on the face of the earth." Up to now the difficulty has been to find an economic method of reclaiming this oil. But it will be well worth while to seek for such a method, as the estimates of the amount of oil varies from that of Canadian geologists of 100 billion tons to that of the United States Bureau of Mines, 250 billion tons.

Red Threat Is Ever Present

There should be no complacency over the fact that in the Ontario elections and the three recent Federal by-elections, the Socialists mustered less than a third of the popular vote, says The Financial Post in a recent editorial. With far less support than that there have been plenty of world examples where totalitarian parties have been able to smother all resistance.

In Russia and in pre-war Germany and Italy, the Communists, Nazis and Fascists never were in the majority, but they acquired complete control. Since the war we have seen the same thing happen in Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania.

It is all very well to argue that in the recent wins, the Socialists' gains have all been in urban areas or in urban-dominated areas; that farmers and other classes outside these areas will not be tempted by the C.C.F. bait. The Saskatchewan election of 1944 knocks the props out from under that argument just as the subjugation of the kulaks in Russia by the city-trained Communists proves that wide-scale but unorganized opposition is no match against a ruthless and powerfully regimented minority.

There is only one way to meet this divide-and-rule threat by the Socialists. It will not be met by outpromising them. For the man who wants complete state domination of every minute of his life from the time he comes into the world until he departs, then Socialists are best able to give it to him.

The average Canadian does not expect or want Socialism from the non-C.C.F. parties of Canada, but he does expect something that the C.C.F. cannot possibly offer. That is freedom to develop his own individual initiative, to live his own life, to make his own future. Give him that instead of regimentation with its crushing taxation, and he will scorn Socialism.

Man Saves Children In Path Of Fast Express

WINS DOW AWARD

CHARLES AUGUSTE LEMAY OF LOUISEVILLE, QUE.,

rescues boy and girl from railway bridge in nick of time

On their way home from an afternoon sports meet, the two Saucier children — Helene, 8 and Roger, 4 — decided to take a short-cut by crossing a 250-foot railway bridge. Chattering gaily about the day's events, and not thinking to look behind, they didn't hear the Montreal-Quebec express approaching in the distance.

LEMAY SEES DANGER

Charles Lemay, walking along the track with a friend, saw the train and the children at the same time. Realizing that the youngsters would not have time to get across, he made a dash for the young pair. He had been about 500 feet from the bridge when he started and by the time he caught up with them they were about half way across.

Without saying a word and barely stopping, he swept 4-year-old Roger into his arms and ran with him to the other end of the bridge. Then, speeding back, he grabbed the girl and repeated the wild dash . . . leaving the bridge just in time. In a matter of seconds the express roared by.

Courage, presence of mind and quick thinking on the part of this young Canadian saved the lives of two children that Sunday afternoon. We are proud to pay tribute to Charles Lemay of Louiseville, Que., through the presentation of The Dow Award.

Lemay knew that the children would never reach the other end of the bridge on time. Quickly he sprinted the 500 feet to the bridge . . . determined to save them at any cost.

Slowing down just long enough to scoop young Roger into his arms, Lemay carried him to safety and then returned at full speed for the girl.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation for outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Winners are selected by the Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian newspapers.

Like To Tinker Around Your Car?

Car owners who like to take care of their own autos and tinker with them in spare minutes, are enthusiastic about a new little business that has started in a suburb of Akron.

The business now enables them to rent garage space and tools at a cent a minute on an hourly basis.

Its proprietor knew how scarce tools were during and just after the war. He also knew that because of the housing shortage many persons do not have garages of their own to work in. Being a "tinkerer" himself he decided to help his fellow tinkerers.

He rented a garage and hung out a shingle, "garage space for working and tools for rent."

His enterprise is now open 12 hours a day, including Sundays.

For 60 cents an hour, a home-made mechanic can replace piston rings and bearings, or wash his car. A hoist is available for lift work.

Two high-school boys are tearing down a 1941 Packard there and installing new rings. One customer recently put in new springs in 2¼ hours.

Week-end business is usually made up of husband-and-wife teams who come there to wash the family car.

"Somehow the women seem to think the men won't get the inside clean enough, so they come along," he explains.
