Hon. I. B. Lucas was in town on Saturday, accompanied by his son, Lieut. Kendell Lucas, who is home on a three months' furlough. The young man has been attached to the Royal Flying Force and has been in Italy for a year past. In a brief interview with The Advance he said he was in the hydroplane section and his duties had lain mostly along the Albanian coast. He was familiar with the ports of Durazzo and others. He said that when he quit duty there was no whisper of the great raid on Durazzo which the Allies have since made with such wonderful success and he was thoroughly astounded when he heard of it. Kendall was young when he enlisted, and has developed into a manly young soldier.

A Few Cases of "Flu"

While there are a few cases of influenza here it has not really reached the proportions of an epidemic as it has in some surrounding places. There are a number of scattering cases throughout the township.

On Friday evening last the Board of Health met and instructed the Medical Health Officer as a matter of precaution to close all schools in the village and township, also all church services, Sunday schools and other church meetings; lodge meetings, concerts and other public meetings to be withheld, until further orders.

The cases here can nearly all be traced to their source. Some came from Toronto and others from Owen Sound. The infection is only communicated by contact with those who have the disease. An important article dealing with the subject is printed elsewhere in this issue. Read it carefully.

Youth Fatally Shot

Another fatal shooting accident happened in this section Saturday, that dampened the pleasure of Thanksgiving and brought additional sorrow to a home already burdened. Harold and Harvey White and a cousin named King from Toronto spent Saturday shooting in the neighborhood of Jessopville, and were returning home about five o'clock when the latter stopped to tie his shoe. He placed his rifle on a log and pulling it up the gun exploded, the ball passtng through the young man's stomach. He died in about ten minutes. He was about 20 years of age, and was the only son left at home with his widowed mother. Another brother died about a year ago and the other brother had been drafted, but was on leave.—Grand Valley Star.

Deceased and Arnold Hauert had been over to Mildmay with the truck in the afternoon and while there Mr. J. S. Wilson asked them to deliver a parcel at his house in Hanover. It was at Mr. Wilson's house that the accident happened. Deceased had got off to deliver the parcel and Hauert was turning the car in the meantime. The truck was still in motion when Bailey returned and he attempted to get on, with the result that a sharp corner of the body of the car caught him in the small of the back.
