Married—In Burks Falls, Ont. on Wednesday, Dec. 8. 1918, by the Rev. J. F. L. MacDonald, Mr. Thomas John Stuart to Margaret Adella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parker of Armour Township.

The influenza appears to be hitting the surrounding districts pretty severely, there being a large number of cases, especially throughout the western part of the township. There are no cases in town thet we are aware of.

Dr. Morell Oldham, of Tara, died on Saturday, a victim to influenza, similarly to Dr. Little of Flesherton. Like him Dr. Oldham was overworked and unable to throw off the disease. He was a son of Dr. Oldham of Chatsworth and leaves a young wife.

The Advance wants to get the news going among its readers. If there is an item our local readers or our western readers, or any of our readers would like to see in The Advance, just address it to us. Make The Advance YOUR paper, by contributing to it items of interest.

Miss Irene Wilson, of the G. & M. hospital at Owen Sound, spent Tuesday at her home here.

Miss Lillian Bunt left on Wednesday for her school at Chapleau and will visit relatives at Woodbridge.

Cadet Harold McLean is spending a couple of weeks with his parents here Harold is with the United States Navy and has been training at Philadelphia. He expects that he will have to put in his four years' service that is required of all navy men.

The Advance regrets to learn of the death of Mrs. George Watson, of Priceville, which occurred last Friday morning as a result of influenza. Mrs. Watson was a resident of Flesherton a few years ago, and the many friends of the family here tender their sincere sympathy to the sorrowing ones.

Sergt. Ellwyn Jamieson returned home on Thursday last from overseas and looks fine. Ellwyn enlisted with the 147th Batt. and has been an inspector in the 8th Reserve Batt. at Witley Camp, Eng. Just now he is visiting in Toronto.

Mrs. Mary McNally, an old residence of Artemesia, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Towell, in Toronto, on Monday. The deceased lady was 75 years of age and settled in the township of Artemesia about 52 years ago. She leaves two daughters and one stepdaughter (Mrs. John Pedlar) and three sons—W. J. McNally at Portlaw, George and Sam, Mrs. Towell and Mrs. G. Ellis in Toronto. The remains will be brought to Flesherton by the noon train Thursday of this week and interred in Flesherton cemetery.

The public school began their studies on Monday of this week, one week earlier than is required, on account of missing so much school a few weeks ago by the influenza. The high school will commence on Friday morning. Both schools will hold classes on Saturday mornings so as to catch up in their work.

If you reside on the farm you will surely find the Farmers' Sun a profitable and candid friend. Its market reports, both stock and grain, are unequalled, while its independent views have long been appreciated. One dollar for a full year's subscription. The Farmers' Weekly Sun, Toronto.

Ed. Rutherford, dealer in agricultural implements Proton Station, wishes his numerous customers the compliments of the season, and desires to intimate that he is still doing business at the old stand. Also gasoline and kerosene engines, Superior stable fittings and litter carriers for sale.

Another old landmark of Flesherton has disappeared—the old Flesher residence on Durham street, beside the mill pond. Mr. W. J. Fadden, of Orange Valley, has purchased and demolished the old house. He will re-erect it on the farm recently purchased from W. Swanton after selling his own farm in the Orange Valley.

Christmas day was a quiet one in town. It was a narrow squeak from handing out to us a green Christmas, but sufficient snow fell the day before to give fairly good sleighing, and many people took advantage of it to enjoy an outing. It was essentially a kiddies' day at home. there being no services or public gatherings of any kind in town.

The Methodist Sabbath School entertainment on the evening of New Years day, which has been a fixture for many years, will not be held this year. Although there are no cases of influenza in town it was thought wise as a precaution to withdraw the event. Although a big disappointment to the little people, we believe the withdrawal was a wise one. In many places the plague has revived and we do not want to take any chances.

While driving in from the station on Friday Miss Jennie Teeter, daughter of Mr. Price Teeter, east back line, had a narrow escape from serious injury, when the horse she was driving took fright and ran away, throwing her from the cutter. Miss Teeter was coming down the Orange Hall hill, and as she approached the eleven ton piece of hydro machinery left beside the road the horse got rattled and ran away, pitching the occupant from the cutter. The animal passed through town at a whirlwind gait. No real damage was done to cutter or occupant. The animal is of a very nervous disposition and has tried the same game before.

Married—At the residence of the bride's parents, Flesherton, on Christmas Day, Miss Leone Bellamy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bellamy, to Mr. Roy Thistlethwaite.

Dr. Murray went to Toronto on Friday to meet a cousin, Lieut. Morton Orr who had arrived from England that day. This young man was overseas since early in the war. When he first went over he was a despatch rider. One morning seven of them started out with despatches. A large shell killed six of them and Orr's wheel was knocked out from under him. He continued from shell hole to shell hole and got his despatches through. For this he was awarded the D.C.M. He also has the M.M. and bar. He is now only 21 years of age. After his 21 months in the trenches he joined the Flying Corps and was in England and had completed training when the armistice was signed. Lieut. Orr expects to visit Flesherton shortly, where he is well known.

Memorial Question Discussed at Length

After the nomination on Monday a meeting of ratepayers was held to discuss the question of a public monument to our fallen heroes, with Mr. Weber in the chair and Mr. McKenzie as secretary. About an hour and a half was spent in discussing the matter, which resulted in the passing of two revolutions. Rev. Mr. McVicar, on behalf of the Women's institute, presented their plea for a monument and their desire to act conconjointly with the council in erecting a suitable monument to the heroes who have fought and died. A number of others expressed varying views on the matter.

On motion our representatives were instructed to convey to the county council the sentiment of this meeting that it is in favor of a community or municipal memorial rather than one erected by the county.

It was moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. James Hill, that a committee be appointed composed of Thomas Phillips James Dargavel, John Boland, Frank Chard, R. H. Plantt, James McMullen, A. S. Muir, J. C. Wright and the members of Artemesia Council to act in conjunction with the Women's Institutes of the township with a view to deciding on a site and other matters in connection with erecting a monument. This committee will meet at Flesherton on Saturday, Jan. 11, at 2.30 p. m. Those mentioned above sohuld all take notice and be present.

The meeting then adjourned.

London Times medical writer estimates that six million people have died of the "flu." It has hit Europe far harder than this continent, even though New York had to use steam shovels to dig graves.

Happy New Year!

AT the close of one of the world's most eventual years, we take the opportunity of wishing our friends and patrons a joyous and bountiful Xmas and a New Year whose blessings will more than counteract the strain and suffering of those which are happily passed.

Shake, Bro. Hoover

Personally, The Advance would like to meet that man Hoover, Food Administrator for the United States, who was asked by Germany to meet Baron von der Lancken and Dr. Rieth, to discuss the little matter of getting food to Germany. We would shake his hand with a grip such as he never felt before. His reply to this request was : "You can describe two and a half years of arrogance towards ourselves and cruelty to the Belgians in any language you may select, and tell the pair personlly to go to hell, with my compliments. If I do have to deal with Germans it will not be with that pair." This is not language of a diplomat, but Mr. Hoover is not looking for a job of that kind and is in a position to make known without injuring his prospects the sentiments of a few million people on this continent, in language that ought to be understood without a dictionary, even by the low order of animal represented in these two vile instruments of a vile nation.

RESOLUTIONS FOR 1919

I HEREBY RESOLVE ;

That during 1919 I will save money ;

That I will save an amount which will compel me to forego something I can really do without ;

That I will buy War Savings Stamps ;

That I will also get a Thrift card, which will enable me to take care of the "quarters" ;

That I will keep on doing this throughout the year ;

That I will recommend this Plan to others ;

That I will do all I can to popularize it for the good of my neighbor and Canada generally.

Canadian Air Route

Ottawa, Dec. 29—Some weeks ago an Advisory Committee on Aeronautics was appointed by the Government at the instance of organizations propagating aerial navigation. Two proposed aerial routes have just been approved. One of them—the Canadian link in the All-Read Route—will run from St. John's Nfld., to Vancouver, stopping at all the principal cities, The sunset airway will be the second great high road of the Canadian air. Starting at St. John's, Nfld., it will touch Sydney, Halifax, St. John, N. B., Fredricton, Moncton, Riviere du Loup, Quebec, Three Rivers, Montreal, Cornwall, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston, Belleville, Toronto, Camp Borden, Owen Sound, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, and so on to the coast.

Subsidiary routes are proposed from Toronto to Central Ontario and across to the United States, and from Winnipeg to Hudson Bay, Edmonton to the Peace River, and Vancouver to the Yukon. Halifax will be a 40 hour flight from Vancouver, while Winnipeg and Montreal will be a bare 15 hours apart.

Hasan Neby, the Albanian who is under sentence of death for the murder of George Tucker, an Orangeville boy, will have to pay the penalty for the brutal boarding-house car murder at Weston last summer. Neby is confined in the Toronto jail and will be hanged on the 3rd of January.

Ball---Oldham

A matrimonial event of interest to Hanoverians took place at Toronto on Wednesday, Dec. 25, the principals being Miss Ida May Oldham, B. A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Oldham of Toronto, and Capt. S. S. Ball, R. A. M. C., officer commanding Whitby Military Hospital, and youngest son of Mr. R. J. Ball, M. P., and Mrs. Ball of Hanover. The ceremony took place at the bride's home, 23 Roehampton Avenue, and was witnessed by the immediate relatives only. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Oldham. Captain Moon, R. A. M. C. of Windsor, college friend of the groom, who saw active service with Captain Ball in the Mediterranean, Egypt, the Dardanelles and Bagdad during two and a half years of campaigning, was best man. The bride, who was recently on the teaching staff of the Owen Sound Collegiate Institute, is known and admired by many friends in this district.—Hanover Post.

[Mrs. Ball was for two years a teacher in the Flesherton High School when she transferred to the Owen Sound Collegiate two years ago, and was very highly thought of. Rev. N. Wellwood, of Richmond Hill, Ont., father of Rev. H. E. Wellwood, formerly of Flesherton, married the young couple. While here Mrs. Ball made many friends, who wish her and her husband a happy and prosperous journey through life. The Advance joins in the congratulations for the young couple.—Editor Advance.]
