

There is nothing that draws more support and enthusiasm in this area than minor hockey as hundreds of parents and friends of those participating in the Pine Ridge Tournament proved on Saturday.

The all-day tournament sponsored by the Bowmanville Minor Hockey Association brought players from near and far into the town to meet in competition for consolation and championship titles.

Shown here are some of those who emerged as winners during the event.

But there were many others on the 20 teams competing in the tournament who deserve recognition as well.

The tournament's organizers, chairman Art Adams and registration director Dick Dennis wish to extend their appreciation to all who helped to make this year's competition a success.

Upcoming Rotary Bazaar More Promising than Ever

The 2nd Annual Rotary Club Bazaar is scheduled for May 7th and organizers for the event which raised almost $6000 for various causes last year are gearing up to make this year's venture just as successful.

The bazaar, the Bowmanville Rotary Club's greatest fund-raising effort of the year, brings in financial support for a wide range of projects for the community and their own special programs.

The programs that received support as the result of the 1976 bazaar included Big Brothers, Soper Creek Park Renovations, and repair work for both the Bowmanville arena and the Memorial Park swimming pool.

The funds also went toward three student scholarships, the Rotary-Student Exchange Program, and other community attractions such as the Santa Claus Parade and equipment for the town's Christmas lighting.

This year's bazaar promises to hold even more surprises for those attending, according to the program's organizer, Rotarian Jan Oegema.

Mr. Oegema, the club's special events director, told the gathering that this year's program will concentrate on the aspects that were most popular in their first bazaar.

A great part of the effort is undertaken by the club members' wives, responsible for providing a number of the items which sell quickly.

Supplying home baking and crafts are just two of the ways that the Rotarians contribute to making the bazaar an event to remember.

The main highlight of the all-day affair is their big auction, bringing a wide variety of worthwhile merchandise to be bought by the public.

Among the changes in the bazaar at the Bowmanville High School, the starting time of the event has been moved ahead to 10 a.m. with the auction getting underway at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Then there is the free admission offered this year to attract as much public support for the event as possible.

For those who need their hair cut or styled, a booth set up for providing this service has been planned, Mr. Oegema said.

A trip to Acapulco for one person is also to be featured as one of the prizes.

But other parts of the program which were popular last year will remain in the format.

The homebaking booth, a fast selling section previously, will return, again to offer browsers a wide selection of bread, casseroles, pastries and other dishes to buy.

And for those who enjoy competition, there will still be games such as golf putting as part of the entertainment.

The entire event should give the community an opportunity to contribute to a number of worthwhile causes while having fun and picking up bargains at the same time.

AECB Report Says Eldorado's Port Granby Dump Has Small but Measureable Effect on Lake Ontario Water

The Atomic Energy Control Board said last week that Eldorado Nuclear Limited's Port Granby disposal site has had "a small but measurable effect on near shore water quality" in Lake Ontario.

The AECB stated in a press release last week that this discovery follows a report by Ontario's Ministry of the Environment, Eldorado Nuclear Limited and a consulting firm engaged by Eldorado.

No details were given on the extent of this "small but measureable effect."

However, the AECB said that the impact of the Port Granby site on water quality of the lake is "acceptably low."

The AECB, which is responsible for licensing Canada's nuclear industries, added that the report on water quality confirms the validity of the board's decision to require a water treatment plant at Eldorado's lakeside disposal site.

Work on this water treatment plant is progressing well, the board added. The water treatment facilities at Port Granby will collect water from two streams flowing through Eldorado's property and purify the water before it is discharged into Lake Ontario.

Eldorado Nuclear Limited operates the dumpsite at Port

Granby under the terms of a license extended to July 31, 1977. The license is subject to review some time before the July 31 deadline.
