Thos. Holmes Home

Sergt. Thomas Holmes, V.C., of Owen Sound, and looked upon as the "pride" of Grey county, was tendered a civic reception by the Mayor of Toronto in his office on Saturday. Sergt. Holmes, who was accompanied by his mother and father, is the youngest winner of that coveted decoration, the Victoria Cross, in the British army, being now only twenty years of age. He enlisted at the age of 17 with the 147th Battalion and left England for France with the 4th C. M. R. He was wounded at Vimy Ridge and won his decoration at Passchendaele.

The youthful hero is very modest and had little to say. He thanked the Mayor for the courtesy extended him, and in his bashful manner stated that when he was invested in London by His Majesty the King he was asked how old how old he was when he enlisted. On telling that he was only 17 His Majesty said it was too bad he should have enlisted so young.

"How did you manage to enlist!" the king asked me," said Sergt. Holmes, "and I told him I told a lie."

The sergeant was the guest of the city until Monday morning, when he left for his home town, where he was given a rousing reception.
