Carelessness Causes Most Highway Accidents

One of the interesting bits of information of the month comes from the American National Safety Council, which reports that contrary to popular belief, it is not the drunken driver, who is the greatest menace on the highway, but the plain, ordinary careless driver.

Of the many thousands of automobile traffic fatalities in the United States, less than two per cent were caused by drunken drivers, the Safety Council reports. The completely sober driver who failed to exercise proper care was by far more dangerous.

People have been pretty well educated to the fact that a man with a quantity of liquor in his stomach has no place behind he steering wheel. They have not yet realized that no man has any business driving a car unless he keeps his mind on his job every second, abstains from too great speeds, observes the rules of the road scrupulously, and keeps always in the back of his mind the consciousness that the slightest lapse on his part may cause tragedy.

There is no excuse for carelessness on the part of any person at the wheel of an automobile. The highways are no place for the driver who has not a full realization of his responsibilities and who is not prepared to exercise due precaution while on the road to assure his own safety, that of those who may be with him, and of his fellow motorists. —Guelph Mercury.

In Memoriam

MAGEE — In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Wm. Magee, who passed away August 24th, 1939.

To-day we are thinking of someone
Who was always so kind and true,
Someone we loved with all our hearts —
Dear Mother, that someone was you.
Gentle in manner, silent in pain,
Dear Mother, you left us, Heaven to gain;
Nature so splendid, actions so kind
Such a beautiful memory to leave behind.

— Lovingly remembered by Husband and Family.

Diamond Jubilee Wheat

Canadian wheat, which was shipped to Great Britain more than fifty years ago has been returned to Canada for germination tests and possible display purposes, it is reported in Foreign Trade, a publication of the Department of Trade and Commerce. It formed part of an exhibit of various products grown throughout the British Empire erected during the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria on the present site of the Admiralty Arch, in Whitehall, London.

The wheat, which was acquired as a souvenir by Mr. W. E. Nichols of London when the exhibit was dismantled, has acquired added interest, for it was one of the few things salvaged from the ruins of his home which suffered destruction during an air raid in January, 1942.

Commenting on his experiences at the time of the Diamond Jubilee, Mr. Nichols recalled that he sat on one of the lions in Trafalgar Square to watch the procession. He saw little, however, because of the wooden stands that were erected along the houte for the convenience of spectators who could pay for the seas! Being only a boy of thirteen in 1897, he had been unable to rent a seat from which to watch the Queen drive by.
