Unveiled Honor Roll

Hon. H. J. Cody, Minister of Education, was greeted at the high school on Thursday afternoon last by a large attendance of the ratepayers of this high school section, and expressed genuine surprise at the excellent school he found here. He did not expect to find such a building or such equipment. His duty here was to unveil the memorial—honor roll to ex-pupils of the school, and this was preceded by an address of half an hour's duration that will long be remembered by those who heard it, and which was frequently applauded by the audience. He congratulated the school for the magnificent showing it had made in the war, and ended his address by an eulogy of the great work done by the Canadians in the war. The Canadians were honored by being placed in the hottest corners, and the Germans themselves honored them by massing all their available guns against the Canadians in every action in which they were engaged. He had been overseas near the end of the war and visited all the Canadian units, and his description of the work done from the time of St. Julien and Courcellette to Cambrai and Mons was thrilling in the extreme. Then, when he pulled the cord that unveiled the pictures of 31 boys, seven of them only faces of those who had given up their young lives in the cause, it was a tense moment of strange sensations and a conflict of pride and grief, gratitude and sorrow, to all those present.

Mr. H. S. White, the principal, occupied the chair and introduced the speaker. The proceedings were closed with the National Anthem.

A Pointed Admission

Wm. Proudfoot, who was denied the leadership of the Liberal party in convention at Toronto, and the position which rightfully was his given to Hartley Dewart, has said that his reason for supporting Union Government during the war was that he had two sons in the war and both had written home saying that they needed men. This is surely an admission from headquarters that the straight Liberals who opposed Union Gavernment were delaying the sending of needed reinforcements, as everybody knew at the time. This fact will not soon be forgotten by the country, either, and Mr. Proudfoot's admission only makes the truth more prominent in the memory of those Liberals who wished to give their sons "over there" the help they needed. A man of Dewart's stamp will never reconcile the fathers and mothers of this province to the action of the Liberal party in its fatal policy of delay when help was needed.

OWEN SOUND AND MOTORISTS

The Owen Sound Advertiser, as apologist for the action of their police force in haling motorists from remote corners of the earth to answer trumped up charges for transgression of the motor laws, says that out of many charges against car drivers this summer, in only three cases have the police been beaten. That may be, but it does not make the hardship of a false accusation, as we gave it in the case of Mr. McTavish, any the less. Our complaint was that the chief of the Owen Sound police refused to accept a sworn affidavit from Reeve McTavish setting forth the facts, but made him lose a day to go up and answer the charge and take witnesses along. The Owen Sound cop evidently thought the gentleman charged would pay the fine rather than spend his time a d money fighting the case, as no doubt happened in many, and maybe most, of the other police "victories," which the Advertiser so loudly trumpets abroad. But they got the wrong bull by the horns that time, and as a consequence suffered the inevitable defeat. We hold no brief for transgressors in any form, but we protest with all our might against such petty persecution as was evident in this case. The Chatsworth News tells of a similar incident which happened to a resident of that place, and ends its comment on these two incidents with the caustic remark that "Owen Sound will become about as popular with motorists as a polecat at a pink tea."

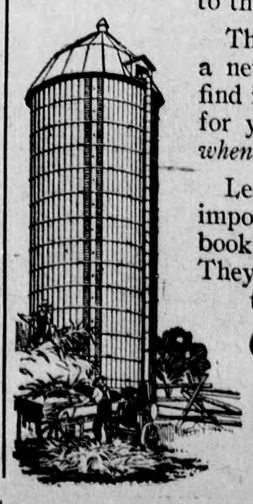
Ensilage is Profit

Ensilage is clear profit. It gives your stock health and weight they could get in no other way.

Have proper ensilage and lots of it. A good silo is a paying investment on the farm. The construction of the Toronto Silo assures you of ensilage properly protected against air and cold. The Hip Roof allows you to put in several more tons than other silos. In the Toronto Silo you can tramp the ensilage, right to the top.



The Toronto Ensilage Cutter has set a new standard of service. You will find it trouble-free and amply powerful for your needs. And you'll have it when you need it.

Let us tell you all about these two important Toronto Products. Our booklets are complete and illustrated. They will be sent free if you write for them.
