Think for a moment how much of all that goes to make up the beauty of HOME consists of color and the feeling of cleanness. Furniture, walls, floors, the kitchen, the charm of a house among the trees—all are what they are largely because of color and freshness.

B-H "English" paints give permanence to color, and invulnerable protection against decay.

Home is your haven and, in a sense, the measure of yourself. Protect it. Beautify it. Increase its value.

To My Sister

Mrs. Jane Cullen, who died August 14th, 1919

My sister Jane, I've learned today
That your dear soul has passed away—
That our kind Saviour called thee home
To heaven, where partings never come.

God spared thee to a good old age,
Though storms did otten round thee rage.
Thy life has not been always blest
Without some trouble or distress.

God in His own good time and way,
Has called you from this "house of clay"
To that bright home where sorrows cease
And all is joy and perfect peace.

Oh, yes! that world of perfect peace
Where sickness, pain and sorrows cease,
Where all is peace and perfect rest
And joy, which cannot be expressed.

We often think and try, in vain,
To imagine that eternal gain,
But we have found while here below,
Such sacred things we cannot know.

Yet while such knowledge is too high
For us, just now, yet by-and-by
We hope to reach that heavenly home,
Where death and sorrows never come.

We hope to join the blood-washed throng
Who sing the "everlasting song"—
That song of joy whose notes shall be
Resounding through eternity.

Glad angels round God's throne shall sing
Their praises to their heavenly king,
While all below shal learn the lay
To praise him through eternal day.

Actual Experience

The Ontario Temperance Act is Emptying Ontario's Jails

Jail Commitments Before and After Passage of the Act.

ALL CRIMES	DRUNKENNESS
1915—20,337	1915—6,235
1918—13,242	1918—2,595

From Annual Reports of Inspectors of Prisons 1915 and 1918, and Schedule H. Report of the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario for the year 1918.

ONTARIO'S experience with prohibition under the Ontario Temperance Act since September 16, 1916, has been all the argument any fair-minded man or woman wants, to prove that the Act should neither be repealed nor weakened by Amendments.

Jail Commitments for crimes and offences of all kinds have decreased more than one-third since 1915.

Jail Commitments for drunkenness alone decreased from 6,235 in 1915, the year preceding the Act, to 2,595 in 1918.

Jail Commitments for drunkenness decreased despite the fact that the Act makes drunkenness in public places a "prima facie" offence, punishable by fine or imprisonment, whether accompanied by "disorderliness" or not. A drunken man on the street has become a rare sight.

The number of commitments for drunkenness in Ontario in 1918 was the lowest in seventeen years, although the population of the Province increased by over 500,000.

Some jails received no drunkards in 1918 at all. Others show well nigh unbelievable decreases, notably in the cities and larger towns.

Do you want to see the taste for alcoholic beverages revived, and the population of Ontario's prisons, jails and lock-ups restored?

If you are convinced that drunkenness is undesirable in this Province mark X in the "No" column after each question.

"No!"—Four Times—"No!"

Each and every one of the four questions on the ballot paper in this Referendum must be answered or your ballot is "spoiled." And unless you mark X after each question in the "No" column, the Ontario Temperance Act will be spoiled, and years of Temperance progress lost.
