On Armistice Day the Orangemen of our community went off for a hunt and in the evening gave their wives a fowl supper. Your correspondent, not having the honor of being an Orangeman's wife, was not present but judging by what we have heard we begin to wonder whether it was the Orangemen or he wives who gave the supper. Whoever did it gave a first class feast anyway, so what does it matter?

W. G. Watson slipped on the cement sidewalk and broke a small bone in his right hand. It will be necessary for him to take a holiday for a short time.

Lost Left Leg

A very deplorable accident occurred about 2.30 Thursday afternoon at Corbett's foundry. A box of sand, the half of a mould, was being lifted by a crane and carried to another part of the shop. John Adams, in company with some other moulders, was guiding the box towards the other half of the mould. The rope broke, letting the box which weighed between 1500 and 2000 pounds drop from the height of five feet on Adams' left leg, pinning it against the half of the mould which was lying on the ground The injured man was released and Dr. Middlebro' was called. The leg was found to be very badly shattered and Adams was removed to the hospital in the ambulance. Here it was found impossible to save the leg and it was found necessary to amputate it about six inches below the knee. The patient is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.—O. S. Sun-Times.

Shocking Accident

A shocking accident occurred in the Township of Sarawak on Thursday afternoon of last week, when Peter Hodson met a terrible death by being dragged around a stony field by a colt that he had caught. The colt realizing it was caught, jumped and dragged Mr. Hodson on his back. The rope was wound around Mr. Hodgson's hand, and he was able to shout for help only once, before the colt dragged him across the field. When the colt was caught Mr. Hodgson was dead. Death was probably instantaneous as Mr. Hodgson was sure to hit his head on a stone when he would fall. The unfortunate man leaves a wife and three children.

IN MEMORIAM

In proud and loving memory of our dear son and brother, Private Stanley Parliament, who was reported killed in action November, 1917, somewhere in France.

We pictured his safe returning,
We longed to clasp his hand,
Friends may think that we forget him,
When at times they see us smile.
But they little know the sorrow
Which that smile hides all the while.
