A Merry Xmas. Wedding

(Ogema Times)

An event of interest to a very wide circle of friends took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Guy on Xmas. Day when Sadie Isabel Radley was married to William John Yearly. The parlor had been tastefully decorated for the occasion and the bride becomingly attired in a dress of navy blue taffeta silk. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. F. Passmore, the witnesses being Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Class. Both the bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents. Later in the day the bridal couple left for Ontario. That nearly half the townsfolk should pause in the midst of their Christmas festivities to bid them farewell was in itself a fine tribute to both the respect and esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Yearly are held by all who know them. Jack will be greatly missed by the members of the G. W. V. A. and I. O. O. F. and Sadie by the Rebekahs and by the boys and girls of the entire district. Their removal is a distinct loss to the Church and communial life of Ogema, but everyone will rejoice in the happiness and the mahner of the farewell at the depot will doubtless serve to remind them for many days to come that though they may have gone they are not forgotten by those they left behind.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. James Radley, and the young couple will reside in Toronto.

Extravagant Use of Straw.

The use of at least a limited amount of bedding for beef cattle is advisable, but the extravagant use of straw, coarse hays, etc., for this purpose should be discouraged. All such roughages that are to be used for bedding, either for fattening or breeding animals, should first be offered them in the hay rack and that which is refused used for bedding. If stover is fed the stalks, while somewhat difficult to handle, make satisfactory bedding material and should be used for this purpose rather than burned or otherwise disposed of.

Thomas and Wesley Gibson of West Luther were fined $5 and costs each for shooting a hound belonging to T, Hunter. Gibson's sheep had been worried by dogs, the father telling the son to shoot every dog he saw running them. He apparently carried out instructions for Hunter found his dog helpless in a ditch and took it away for treatment but its usefulness as a hunter is passed. Gibson said he thought the animal was dead. The fine was imposed on the charge that the dog had been cruelly treated.
