The deceased was born in Albion, Peel county, and came to Dundalk in 1876, from which time he was prominent in the affairs of the village. The funeral was held on Tuesday to Providence cemetery near Mono Road, where the remains were placed in a vault. The services were conducted by Rev. F. M. Bell Smith of Mono Road.—Herald.

Oil and Gas at Meaford

A despatch from Meaford says that at a depth of 710 feet drillers have struck a strong flow of oil and gas on the farm of Ben Doran, 4½ miles from Meaford. The men are now working in what is known as the Trenton rock and expect to strike a still stronger flow of oil before they reach the granite. It is believed that both gas and oil in unlimited quantities will be found when the drillers get below the capping, which they expect to do in a few days.

The discovery of oil and gas is creating much excitement there and prospectors from outside are already trying to secure options on several properties adjoining the Doran farm.

An Army Wedding In Sphinx Land

Capt. Edwin Smith Married At Cairo, Egypt

Capt. Edwin Smith of the British army in Egypt, was married on Dec. 17th, 1919, to Miss Edith Allen, daughter of the late Professor Allen of Oxford University. Capt. Smith is a son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Smith of Rock Mills and was attending Toronto university when war broke out. His wife was serving as a V. A. D. in a hospital at Cairo. The Advance is the recipient of a generous piece of the wedding cake and wishes the happy couple a thousand joys and safe journey to Canada, which they have no doubt already entered upon. Capt. Smith wrote the following interesting letter to his parents under date January 5th :

My dear mother:—I have just suddenly remembered that I have not written you since our wedding, but you know one doesn't feel much like writing during a honeymoon—too busy you know.

I left the Brigade in Beirut on Dec. 7th but on arrival at Kantara we were put in quarantine for 5 days for Bubonic Plague. They had a lot of plague in Beirut and were afraid of it spreading to Egypt so they kept everyone under supervision for 5 days in case they had contracted the disease before leaving Beirut.

I arrived in Cairo on the 12th and found that most of the preparations for the wedding had been made by Miss Allen so all I had to do was to get my suit and a few presents.

The wedding took place on the 17th at 2.30 p. m. in the Garrison Church near the hospital in which my wife was serving. The Padre from the church performed the ceremony. One of the V. A. Ds. was bridesmaid, an officer friend of mine was best man and our Brigade Padre gave the bride away.

The church was very prettily decorated by the sisters of the hospital in spite of the difficulties of getting flowers on account of the riots which were raging at that time.

There were about one hundred people present including my Colonel and three other officers from my Brigade who had just arrived in Kantara the day before and they rushed up to Cairo in time for the wedding.

After the ceremony we went to the Sister's mess in the hospital nearly where the Matron had prepared a reception. The mess was beautifully decorated and they had a lovely reception for us. We left by motor for Cairo and we stayed at Shepheard's Hotel for our honeymoon. We were going up to Luxor and Assouan but the riots being on we cut that out of our program.

We spent Christmas at Shepheard's and had an awfully cheery time. There was a big Christmas dinner and a dance afterwards and we thoroughly enjoyed it.

On the 29th we came to Kantara and joined the Brigade which is being disbanded now. The officers had fixed up a nice place for us across the road from the camp. It consists of two marquees, one for living in and one as a dining tent, and two bell tents for servants, also a cook house. We have our own cook and three servants from the Brigade so you see we are pretty well off. We got all the crockery we required from the officer's mess of the Brigade.

It is a great life in the desert, My wife is learning to ride. It is a good opportunity because the sand is easy to fall on in case she should fall off

The Brigade is being broken up now and we shall be sent home very shortly. I expect in about a month's time we shall leave Egypt and then there will be a short stay in England before we come back to Canada.
