MAKING AND MARKETING FARM BUTTER.

I have yet to taste the first creamery butter that excels the make of very many private dairymen writes Mr. M. T. Allen. Many keepers of small herds have an idea that to manufacture their own product it is necessary to have quite an array of machinery, which is not the case; $25 will cover all necessary apparatus with the greatest of ease. We have been told how and what to feed our cows and the product therefrom will be good cream if procured with cleanliness.

The cream from each milking should be put into a can, large enough to hold a single churning, and kept at a temperature of 50 degrees, stirring well every time new cream is added, until the required amount is obtained. Then warm up to 70 degrees to get the required acidity. Reduce the temperature to about 58 degrees and it is ready for the churn. Use one scald, inside fixtures, scald out thoroughly, then rinse with pure cold water, put in the cream and coloring and proceed. The time required to bring butter to the granular stage should be from 40 to 45 minutes. Stop the churn when the granules are about the size of clover seed, put in one pound of salt, which in my opinion gives better separation, give the churn two or three turns, then draw the buttermilk, using a strainer made by covering a frame about the size of the pail used for that purpose with cheese or butter cloth. There will then be no loss of butter. After the buttermilk is drawn, wash with cold water until the water is quite clear, put in a portion of the salt, giving the churn a few turns backward and forward, add the remainder and give a few more turns, and the salt will be sufficiently mixed in the butter. Then work with the hand in the churn just what is necessary and no more, and the butter is ready for the package.

Use such package as your market demands. If they are to be of wood, soak the best. Rinse out with cold water, sprinkle sides and bottom with salt, then fill, not trying to pack too great an amount at a time, so that the package will be filled solid, with a sprinkling of salt between each layer, thus making it easier for the butcher to cut out. Fill package full, then cut off with stout linen cloth, even with top, the same as you would take a measure of grain. Cap with paper or butter cloth, one thickness, circular, just large enough to cover package. Put on dry and press down and the moisture from the butter will hold it. Cover with a thin layer of salt and work it into the meshes, gently removing all surplus. Fasten on the cover, mark with stencil, then tag, and it is ready for market. Our greatest aim is to have as neat and attractive packages as possible, as neatness attracts the eye of many would-be purchasers. The farm dairy, like the creamery, must look beyond the local market for an outlet for its product, in order to receive remunerative prices. We are quite well satisfied with private customers at a set price the year round, the surplus going to a commission house, whose sales are satisfactory. With private customers we cater to their taste and there is no trouble in holding them so long as we do our part well.

GROW GRAPES ON EVERY FARM.

Grapes are easily grown and deserve more attention than is now given them. Nothing will so redeem an unsightly place in a back yard or improve a neglected corner of a garden than a small number of well-trained grapevines. If only a few can be grown, it is best to choose the excellent quality of rapid growth, with that of delicious eatableness. If more ground can be spared, then it is a good idea to have several varieties. Concord, Worden, Delaware, Brighton and Niagara are all good and grow readily.

For a grape patch of larger size, the following directions are recommended. For most varieties, plant 10 ft apart each way with the rows running north and south. Smaller sorts may be nearer, while vigorous plants upon strong fertile soil may be put 12 ft apart, and even more. For the first two seasons they may be trained to stakes, one shoot only being allowed to start. After this, use a trellis of two wires, the lower one about 4 ft from the ground, the top one 2 ft higher. This will allow the air free circulation through the branches and lessen the danger from mildew. Spray the vines before the buds start in the spring with copper sulphate solution or bordeaux mixture. The latter application may be repeated once in two weeks as long as very moist weather prevails.

When the leaves have fallen, pruning may begin. Cut out all the dead or broken branches and remove the weaker shoots. Some recommend cutting back the strong canes to three buds, leaving from 20 to 40 spurs. But this pruning should be conducted with careful judgment. Many of our varieties will not endure with impunity the rigid pruning which German and French grape raisers give vines. Our vines are planted farther apart, and in consequence we must leave more wood. As the vines grow older, alternate ones may be removed, in order to let each vine hold twice the trellis space at first given it. Vines treated in this manner are much more likely to escape mildew. Some root pruning is likewise advisable by cultivating more deeply and keeping the roots of the grapes where they will be the last affected by changes of temperature.

WHAT OF OUR ORCHARDS?

Every year we are realizing more and more that there is money in the apple orchard writes Mr. C. W. Burkett. It pays in its neglected state what might not be expected if it were taken care of? Glance over the country to-day and what do you find? Untrimmed trees and unimproved soil. Do you wonder at the occasional crop results?

What is the first step? Trim the trees and plow the soil. Let the air into the soil and rejuvenate it. Clear away all the old brush and bushes. Plow and harrow. I am inclined to think it best to summer fallow until some time in July. This puts the soil in good thorough tilth, the air has had a full activity and then you are ready for the final step. Some chemicals are needed. The continual cropping of leaves and fruit has been at the expense of the potash and phosphoric acid and nitrogen in the soil.

Doubtless these orchard lands contain but little of these materials in available form. So they should be added to put the soil in good fertile condition. A couple hundred pounds per acre of both muriate of potash and acid phosphate should be added. Then clover should be sown. The latter will add nitrogen, then the three important elements have been furnished. Muriate of potash and acid phosphate are inexpensive and you will be surprised how quickly your trees will respond and bear fruit.

If in a couple of years the trees are too vigorous, plow under the clover and grow a crop of rye. If we adopt some method like the above it will pay many fold.

You can try it on a small scale at first to study your conditions and to get your bearings. It will lead to but one conclusion: apple growing requires an improved soil and available plant food. Both are obtained in the above simple, inexpensive suggestion.

TRAVEL BETWEEN CANADIAN POINTS AND NEW YORK.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad affords the most convenient train service, and is a particularly desirable route for residents of the Province of Ontario to use in going to New York. This Co. runs through train service in connection with the Grand Trunk Railway from points in Canada, and provides for the public a service which meets all the requirements of the most exacting. Its solid vestibule through trains between Philadelphia, New York and Chicago, made up of luxurious new Pullman Palace Sleeping Cars, commodious and comfortable coaches, its a la carte dining car service, and the use of steam heat and Pintsch Gas, are features which are highly appreciated by the traveler, and are guarantees of physical comfort. The route, through the most picturesque portion of the eastern part of America, affords an ever-changing panorama of scenic splendor, delightful to the eye.

The road-bed of the Lehigh Valley is ballasted with rock, a decided improvement over the old style cinder or other ballasting, and one which Summer passengers, when windows are open, appreciate, as the rock ballast does away altogether with the so common nuisance of dust.

VITUS' CURED.

THE STORY OF A BRIGHT YOUNG GIRL'S RECOVERY.

How Was First Attacked With La Grippe, and the After Effects Resulting in St. Vitus' Dance—Friends Despaired of Her Recovery.

The mails from Wolfville to Gaspereau are carried every day by an old man who is noted for his willingness to accommodate and the punctuality with which he discharges his duties. His name is Mr. Merriner Cleveland and his home is in Gaspereau, where he resides with his wife and grand-daughter, Miss Lizzie May Cleveland, a bright girl of fifteen years. A few months ago the health of their grand-daughter was a source of very great anxiety to Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland, and the neighbors who learned of the physical condition of the little girl gravely shook their heads and said to themselves that the fears of the fond grand-parents were by no means groundless. When the news reached the ears of an Acadia man, a short time ago, that the health of Miss Cleveland had been restored, he hastened to interview Mr. Cleveland as to the facts of the case. When he explained his errand, both Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland appeared only too eager to give him the information sought and it is in accordance with their wishes that we give to public the facts of this remarkable case. Early in December, 1898, Mrs. Cleveland was taken ill with a severe attack of la grippe and fears of her recovery were entertained. Careful nursing, however, brought her through this malady, but it left her system in a completely run-down condition. This showed itself principally in a weakness of the nerves. In January symptoms of St. Vitus dance began to show themselves. At first these were not very prominent, but it was not long before she was rendered altogether helpless by this terrible malady. In a short time she lost all control over the movements of her hands and feet. For weeks she had to be carried from room to room and was unable to feed herself. Her grand-parents naturally became very much alarmed and having tried other remedies without effect, determined to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. Developments showed that their confidence was not displaced. When three boxes had been used the condition of the patient had improved considerably. Then Mr. Cleveland bought six boxes, more and continued their use as before. The sufferer rapidly began to recover. When she had consumed the fifth box Mrs. Cleveland reduced the dose to one pill a day and by the time the sixth box was gone a complete cure was effected. Miss Cleveland is now as vigorous and healthy as could be desired. Her grand-parents are persuaded that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are alone responsible for her cure and are devoutly thankful for the results which, under Providence, they have produced.

Sold by all dealers or sent post paid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to try something else said to be "just as good."

WOMAN AND POLITICS.

A well-known magazine writer has recently stated that in matters pertaining to the advancement of women the Anglo-Saxon race seems to have made greater progress than any other nationalities. In Germany women are not permitted to form political associations, while in Russia neither men nor women can band together in any organization of a political nature without special consent of the imperial government. In Holland such an act is unconstitutional, but in France, long before French women displayed any desire to study medicine or obtain a university education, the doors of scholastic institutions were thrown open to them. And even English and German women availed themselves of the privileges of becoming graduates of the University of Paris.

A MAN KILLER

Fierce and Pavenous, is Diabetes, Which Defies all Medicines

Except Dodd's Kidney Pills, the Only Remedy on Earth That Removes the Cause of the Disease—Dodd's Kidney Pills Never Fail.

Quebec, P.O. March 26.—There are certain diseases that sap the brain and dry up the springs of life, besides, undermining the strength.

Diabetes is such a disease.

Its symptoms are great thirst, failing sight, dry mouth, coated tongue, paleness, numbness in the thighs, pains or aches in the loins, or small of the back, increase of urine, sugar in the urine.

Any one, or two, seldom more, of these appear in the same case.

Diabetes is caused by poison in the blood.

Poison gets into the blood through defective action of the kidneys, which should filter it out.

Heal and strengthen the kidney and they will cleanse the blood. Then Diabetes will vanish.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine on earth that can cure Diabetes. They are the only medicine that can cure the kidneys.

Here is proof: Mr. Sam Desrochers, of 167 St. John St., Quebec, says:

"I have suffered with Diabetes for five years.

"My feet were always cold. I had pains in my loins, and a terrible thirst.

"I tried a dozen remedies before I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills. They all failed to relieve me.

"Five boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me completely. To-day I am well and strong."

Reader! Have you any of the symptoms above?

If you have, you have Diabetes, and nothing on earth but Dodd's Kidney Pills can cure you.

Excellent for Public Speakers.

Rev. M. McKay, of Goderich, Ont., writes: "Some time ago you sent me a bottle of your Catarrhozone. We have given it a fair trial and are glad to say that the medicine is all it is claimed to be. It appears to work well in case of Catarrh, and is an excellent remedy for a throat irritation arising from public speaking." For Public Speakers, Ministers, Singers, persons troubled with irritable throat, Catarrh or Asthma, Catarrh-o-zone is of inestimable value. It is a guaranteed cure. Sold by all druggists. The trial outfit sent for 10c in stamps by N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., Proprietors.

BEES ARE STRONG.

Observations made to test this question showed that bees can carry with ease twice their weight in honey. Several bees were caught as they returned to their hives laden with honey, and, after enclosing them in a little box, they were carefully weighed. When the bees unloaded their honey they were again caught, placed in the same box and weighed a second time. This experiment showed that the bees when laden weighed three times as much as when empty. It was therefore proved that a bee can carry twice its own weight in honey, and can fly very long distances with that weight.

PET DOG GUARDED HIM.

At the battle of Graspan Major J. H. Plumbe, of the British Royal Marine Light Infantry, was among the many killed while storming the main kopje. He had a pet dog, a terrier, which ran up the hill with him under the fiercest fire imaginable. When he fell the dog sat down and guarded his body until the ambulance removed it, six hours later.

What upsets our men, and especially the wounded, are the unearthly screams the Boers give vent to when wounded.
