NATIONAL LIVE STOCK SHOW

High Tribute Paid to Canadian Horses—Illinois Expert Praises Live Stock Exhibition

A despatch from Toronto says: The interest in the National Live Stock Show at Exhibition Park was very great, judging from the large number of people who visited the Exhibition. The splendid quality of the horses and cattle that were shown attracted much attention, and caused favorable comment.

Mr. Robert Burgess, of Wenona, Ill., who was out of the judges of horses, and who this year has seventy head of Percherons entered in the International Show at Chicago, said: "I had no idea that you had an institution such as this in Canada. You have some of the finest horses I have seen anywhere."

In the cattle ring the competitions in the Shorthorn class were very keen. Two of the finest lots that were shown came from the United States. One particularly fine carload was exhibited by W. F. Harding of Wisconsin, President of the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association. Another carload of splendid animals came from Ohio.

Holsteins Win in Dairy Test.

In the milking test at this show the cow that scored the highest number of points over all breeds was a pure-bred Holstein, Madam B. 3rd, Alma 2nd, exhibited by W. F. Walker, Manchester. This cow gave in the three days 213.3 lbs. of milk, testing 3.5 per cent., making a total of 243.54 points. The five highest cows in the test were all Holsteins, and the sixth a Holstein grade. Seventh and eighth places were taken by Ayrshires, and ninth and tenth again by Holsteins. Among the Holsteins of the same age as the winner, the poorest one gave 219 lbs. of milk, testing only 3.0, making 220.25 points.

The World in Review

The Cry of China.

On the occasion of his inauguration as president of the Chinese Republic, Yuan Shi Kai declared that China undertook to observe all the treaties which had been entered into, and all the obligations which had been incurred by her during the reigns of the Manchu dynasty, and since that period, and that she agreed to conform to established usage in the conduct of foreign relations. On the strength of these assurances, which were conveyed to the foreign legations when the Chinese Government notified them of the election of Yuan Shi Kai as president, the foreign ministers, acting under the instructions of their respective governments, accorded recognition to the republic.

The impact of the West, combining with economic and social causes of periodical recurrence in the history of China, has placed a new name on the gate and a new exterior. Behind it, however, life goes on as usual in the ancient edifice, says the Times. The soul of the people, steeped in its patriarchal conservatism, remains philosophically aloof from the strife of political sects; the masses ask only for peace in their time, for the right to enjoy in security the fruits of all their labor.

To this immensive China it is a matter of indifference whether Yuan, as their new ruler, calls himself President or Emperor. Political intrigue may agitate the surface of these waters, but the depths remain unmoved. "Give us stable government, despotism if you will, but stability," is the cry of China.

Quebec and the Liquor Traffic.

Quebec would appear to be moving towards State control of the liquor traffic. An important move in the direction of temperance will be the appointment of analysers to inspect liquors and prevent adulteration. The difference between home-brewed beer, and the commercial article is that the one is made for use and the other for profit. Adulteration may mean profit, but it often means poison also. With the manufacture and sale of liquor a State industry it could be as well conducted as the postoffice. There would be no inducement to the manager to sell after hours or to adulterate. The revenue could be used, as the inland revenue should be now, to promote true temperance by education, music and elevating pursuits.

Four Grades of Tramps.

Tramps cost the United States $200,000 a day, according to Professor William Bailey of Yale University. In an address the other day he put the tramps into four grades, the lowest being the "tomato can" variety, and the next being the "dossers," so called because they have the price of a bed in a dose house in which lodgings may be had from five to fifteen cents a night. The "dosser" is vain and considers himself superior to the "tomato can" tramp. The third grade is made up of the "hobo," who is more dignified and intelligent than the "dosser." The gypsy is the highest type of tramp, though the American gypsy is not really a gypsy at all. Yeggman are not classed in the tramp category, as they are desperate burglars, who work in small communities. To eliminate the tramp from American society, never give him a cent for food unless he works for it, declares Professor Bailey.

Business Methods.

Herman Loeb, director of the department of supplies of the city of Philadelphia, offers to give up his salary of $10,000 a year and to pay the annual expense of his office, $7,000, if the city will agree to permit him to transact the city's business in his department on a business basis, and will further agree to give him the profit he will be able to make by the employment of business methods. He figures that he will be able to secure a net revenue of $135,000 by such an arrangement.

There are many men who would be glad to have the same opportunity as Mr. Loeb, not only in Philadelphia but many other cities. So long as a city is obliged to change its administration every year, and elect its representative on a platform of one kind or another so long will the business of a city be under obvious handicaps. Many and various schemes have been proposed for getting over the difficulty and of these the commission form of government or some of its relatives seems to be the most popular. But waste of the kind to which Mr. Loeb refers is possible even to a commission government. What seems to be really wanted is the right man in the right place paid sufficiently well to make it worth his while to hold that place. One real administrator who can be trusted is worth the salaries of half a dozen commissioners. Most of the troubles of cities arise from the fact that they do not recognize that public office should be the prize of the best men and should be paid accordingly. No good man will give up a lucrative private business to enter public service and be at the mercy of every political wind that blows.

Cost of Living in Canada.

Comparing September in the two years, it is seen that articles of food and articles of clothing, as well as other commodities entering into the living cost, showed a general increase in price this year. Animals and meats, butter and eggs, rolled oats, oatmeal, sugar, and other foodstuffs all cost considerably more last September than they had cost a year before. The same statement may be made in regard to boots and shoes, textiles, anthracite coal, fuel generally, house furnishings, building materials and other less important articles. This was the condition in September, and it does not improve as the weeks go on, but rather, becomes worse.

DIVORCES IN GERMANY.

Latest Statistics Show An Extraordinary Rise.

A despatch from Berlin says: Germany, which for some time past has been expressing a alarm at the falling birth rate, has discovered a new sign of social decadence. It is the "marriage crisis." Latest statistics show an extraordinary rise in the number of divorces obtained in Germany. For instance, 15,780 divorces were obtained in 1911, or 20 per 100,000 inhabitants, against 12,180, or 20 per 100,000 in 1906. It is believed that when the next set of statistics is published a further increase in the number will be reported. What makes the marriage crisis all the worse is that while the number of divorces is rapidly increasing the number of marriages is decreasing. The number of marriages per 100,000 inhabitants in 1909, was 8,200, in 1911 7,800.

SEEDSMEN PROTEST.

Against Cancelling of Special Postal Rates.

A despatch from Ottawa says: A deputation of seedsmen from different parts of the country was received by Dr. Coulter, Deputy Postmaster-General, on Monday morning. They protested against the cancelling of the special rates that have been allowed on packages of seeds going through the mails. The new rate is one cent per ounce, while the former rate was two cents for the first four ounces, and one cent for each additional four ounces. The new rate is the same as that for ordinary merchandise. Previous to 1909 the rate was only four cents a pound up to five pounds. The deputation was assured of consideration of its representations.

DUCHESS IS ILL AGAIN.

Cause of Serious Anxiety at Government House.

A despatch from Ottawa says: The health of Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught is again the cause of serious anxiety at Government House. It was learned late on Monday night that Her Royal Highness was threatened with a return of the illness from which she suffered prior to her departure from Canada last spring. Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the famous British physician, who spent the week-end at Government House, and who left for Montreal on Monday was summoned back to Ottawa. No official announcement is available as to her exact condition.

G.T.R. FLYER WRECKED.

Train Bound From Detroit to Toronto Comes to Grief.

A despatch from Chatham says: The Grand Trunk "Eastern Flyer," Detroit to Toronto, was wrecked at 4.40 on Monday afternoon between Puce and Belle River, about fifteen miles out of Windsor. Number 16 was behind time at Windsor, which is quite unusual, and is reported to have been making between 60 and 70 miles an hour. Most of the cars remained upright, and to this can be ascribed the fact that none of the passengers or crew are reported seriously injured. All suffered considerable shaking up, and many were severely bruised.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: The Government of Saskatchewan on Monday announced that the grain harvest this year will be valued at $110,000,000, of which $71,000,000 is represented in wheat, and $25,000,000 in oats. The total production was 243,500,000 bushels, of which 122,369,000 bushels was wheat, 110,210,000 bushels oats and 9,279,000 bushels barley.

FULLY NOURISHED.

Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements for both brain and body in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon.

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time take Grape-Nuts alone, and feel perfectly nourished.

"Nerve and brain power and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I had improved are now using Grape-Nuts.

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream."

DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Two Girls Lose Their Lives at Wolseley, Saskatchewan.

A despatch from Wolseley, Sask., says: Myrtle Mackenzie, aged eleven, and Dorothy Quinn, aged nine, were drowned Thursday afternoon when with a group of other children they were skating on the C.P.R. reservoir after school. The ice broke as they skated toward the bridge, and as they sank the screams of the other children brought Mrs. Mackenzie and her eldest daughter Fannie, both of whom rushed out to where the little girls had gone down. The ice, too weak for the children, broke before the women reached them, and the mother was only rescued when sinking for the third time by Allan Thompson, who jumped in with a rope. Fannie Mackenzie was dragged out by a rope flung to her by men on the bank. The bodies of the children were recovered later.

PACKAGES MUST BE STRONG.

Must Meet Requirements of Canadian Freight Classification.

The Canadian Lines notified their Agents at various points to refuse all freight in fibreboard, pulpboard, or double faced corrugated strawboard packages, unless the packages are fully strong enough to carry the contents. Complaints have been received from time to time, indicating that these packages are reaching destination in a damaged condition, evidence that shipments are being sent to the railways in packages that are not of sufficient strength to safely transport their contents. Agents have, therefore, been notified that henceforward they must positively refuse to accept shipment of any nature in fibreboard, pulpboard or double-faced corrugated strawboard packages that do not comply fully with the requirements and specifications provided in the Canadian Freight Classification. In the past agents have had the right to accept such packages at an increased freight rate of 20%. From now on agents have no option in the matter, and must refuse such packages.

SEQUEL TO LAKE TRAGEDY

Supposed Dead Man Turned Up Alive—"Apparition" Appears Among Mourners

A despatch from Hamilton says: Perhaps the most extraordinary incident in connection with the disaster recorded on the Great Lakes occurred here on Wednesday evening. One of the supposed victims of the marine tragedy was John Thompson, 442 John Street north, of this city. On Monday last week a telegram was received by Mr. Thompson from his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ward, of Sarnia, to the effect that his son John had gone down on the James Carruthers. Learning that the bodies of a number of the crew of the ill-fated steamship had been cast ashore at Kettle Point, near Goderich, Mr. Thomas Thompson hastened there on Monday evening to see if he could identify the remains of his son. He arrived at Goderich at midnight, and after a nerve-wracking drive he reached the place on the lake shore where the bodies had been carefully and tenderly laid away for the purpose of identification. Among the number was that of a young man which corresponded so closely to that of John Thompson that the bereaved father acknowledged it as that of his son. The only difference Mr. Thompson saw was in the color of the hair, he being of the opinion that his son's hair was lighter than that on the head of the corpse. On mentioning this fact to the undertaker in this city, the latter, who was personally acquainted with the son, said the fact that the body had been in the water so long might account for the difference. Preparations for the funeral were proceeded with. Flowers were sent by sorrowing friends and relatives, and a wake was to be held at night.
