ISLE OF MAN PATRIOTIC.

Anti-Conscription and Voluntarily Increase Taxes.

The Isle of Man has self-government in regard to all taxation, and in a number of other ways is self-governing, says a London despatch.

The residents are patriotic and the Legislature has carried a resolution requesting the Imperial Government to extend the Military Service Act to the island. The Legislature has increased the tobacco duties and those on imported spirits and beer to the British scale, and the home brewing rates pro rata.

Employment Offices Essential.

There should be a farmers' employment office in each town and village so farmers could put in their applications for men and men could put in their applications for work, and the two parties could thus sort themselves out and get together with some system and some satisfaction. Live mayors and reeves in Canada are taking the initiative in this matter and not a bit too soon.

Australia's first extensive deposit of slate has been discovered in New South Wales.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS SKIN WHITENER.

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

LIVE STOCK LOSSES.

How the Warring and Neutral Countries of Europe Have Suffered.

The comparative losses of live stock by the warring and neutral nations of Europe and the general effect on their meat supply may be judged from figures announced by the United States Food Administration.

As regards meat, the Central Powers were much better prepared for the war than the Allies. Although the Allies possessed a greater total number of meat animals, the Central Powers had forty-two per cent. more per capita. This advantage amounted to thirty-three animals of all classes per one hundred population.

Due apparently to acquisition of animals by conquest, Germany has not slaughtered her home supply of live stock as rapidly as otherwise would have been necessary. There is now a practical exhaustion of animals in Belgium, Serbia and Rumania as a result of invasion, according to information from very reliable sources. In total animals the Allies have decreased their herds and flocks 45,787,000 head, while Germany has decreased hers about 18,000,000—only slightly more than a third as many. The figures include cattle, sheep and hogs. Neutral nations show a total net reduction amounting to 1,412,000 of these animals. The European loss thus exceeds 65,000,000 head without taking into consideration Austria, Turkey and Russia which would, undoubtedly, bring the total to over 100,000,000.

A somewhat clearer view of the European meat situation at present is secured by reducing the number of animals to the actual amount of dressed meat they will yield. Rating cattle as equivalent to 500 pounds of dressed meat apiece; sheep forty pounds, and hogs 150 pounds, it appears that the various countries have suffered losses in their total meat assets to the following extent:

	Per Cent. of Loss on Meat Basis.
Allies as a group	28.7
England	12.5
Belgium	82.0
France	21.4
Italy	17.8
Germany	36.3
European neutrals	0.9

Considering the poor condition of the animals still alive and the reported reduction in live weight, the possible meat resources of Europe are obviously still further reduced.

Beet greens can be used the same way as spinach.

ANY CORN LIFTS OUT, DOESN'T HURT A BIT!

No foolishness! Lift your corns and callouses off with fingers—it's like magic!

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn, can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you apply upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

For little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain.

This simple drug dries the moment it is applied and does not even irritate the surrounding skin while applying it or afterwards.

This announcement will interest many of our readers. If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to surely get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.

QUEEN WIELDED A HAMMER.

To Satisfy Herself Munition Work Wasn't Too Hard for Girl.

How thoroughly the royal family is at one with the people in the present situation has been shown both by the King's informal visit to the battle front and by the Prince of Wales' return to duty before the expiration of his leave. Since his return his Majesty and the Queen have been busy visiting munition factories and equipment works.

At a factory at Walthamstow the Queen, as ever, was chiefly interested in the girl and women workers, among whom she mingled with her usual cheery smile, chatting most of the time—when not passing a few words with the girls—with Mrs. Phipps, the organizer.

The Queen, impressed by the appearance of the girls, remarked to Mrs. Phipps they seemed to be girls of a very superior type, when one of the conducting party remarked, "Yes, your Majesty, we are some stunt on these girls."

The Queen looked puzzled, not understanding the slang, but quietly laughed with pleasure when it was explained that what the official meant was that their experience in the employment of female labor had been altogether satisfactory.

Queen Alexandra has been busy, too, visiting factories with Princess Victoria, throwing out a useful word or two of advice as it occurred to her practical mind. In one shop she saw a girl wielding a hammer and punching identification marks on a shell.

She thought this must be very heavy work for a girl, but to the Queen's inquiry the girl smilingly replied it was quite simple now she had grown accustomed to it. Accepting an invitation to try for herself, Queen Alexandra held the punch in position with one hand, and with the other hit a series of hard blows; but on examination of the marking feared that they came far short of the standard.

It is false economy to use cheap, inferior tea, for it yields so poorly in the teapot. Use only the genuine Salada to secure the maximum number of cups to the pound and, in addition, you will enjoy the unique flavor.

Some Cow.

"She's an awf'ly good cow. Our children think the world of her. You'll like her immensely."

"And how much milk does she give?"

"Don't know exactly, but she's a nice cow—first class."

"Well, you must have some idea—does she give a gallon at a milking?"

"Never kept very much track."

"But you have a rough notion about it. Does she give as much as half a gallon a day?"

"Couldn't say definitely. She's an awf'ly good, kind old cow, though. If she's got any milk she'll give it to you."

He was a little Belgian lad
Whom war had somehow failed to mar.
Almost a baby face he had,
Bewildered now and vaguely sad
"Where are you going in the wind
And rain? And must you travel far?"
He said, "I've started out to find
The country where the mothers are."

The Fairies.

The fairies follow after
Their fairy queen and guide;
Like music is their laughter,
We wonder where they 'bide.

They like to go a-straying
On starry nights in June
Among the maples swaying
Beneath the silver moon.

We often hear them dancing
The waltzes all they know;
Sometimes the moon-beams glancing
The fairies to us show.

In rainbow tints and shiny
Are clad the merry elves,
Save that they're very tiny,
They look just like ourselves.

They only speak in whispers
Of things that they will do—
Those merry elfish lispers
That flit the woodlands through.
