What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhœa checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks. Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless — Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

Selecting the Feeder Steer

(Experimental Farms Note.)

In a very few weeks it will be necessary to purchase the steers that are to be finished for the spring market. The selection of profitable feeders is much more difficult in the Eastern Provinces than in the Western Provinces, due to the fact that a very high percentage of the Eastern steers show evidence of considerable dairy cattle breeding. However, there are many of these steers, even with some dairy blood, that will make very profitable feeders and they are the ones that should be selected for the winter feeding work. The remainder should go to the block as they come from the pastures. Select only such steers as will conform more closely to the real beef-type, that is, straight, low-set, deep, blocky individuals, with a quite temperament. It is that real dairy type of steer, with a nervous temperament, that one wants to avoid in the feed lot. For example, out of twenty-five steers fed at the Nappan Experimental Farm during 1927-28, six of the steers were of the latter type and their average gain in 125 days was only 161 pounds, against 246 pounds as an average for seven steers that were fairly typical beef steers, with some dairy blood mixed in. The former were worth 1½ to 2 cents less on the market in March, besides making 85 pounds less gain. The dairy-type steers never made profitable gains, nor did they look finished at their best.

To feed a bunch of good, thrifty beef steers is a profitable side line, besides being an economical method of marketing cheap roughage grown on the farm, such as hay and roots. In reading the annual report issued from the Experimental Farm, Nappan, it may be seen that a good average market price has been charged for all feeds consumed and, furthermore, that a good average profit over feed cost has been realized over a period of years in the finishing of a bunch of beef steers. After all, this is the most businesslike method of farming, and the adoption of such a policy will be found a profitable one. There will be more manure available for top-dressing; consequently, less money going out for fertilizer, all of which helps to swell the income from the farm. The main point to bear in mind is the selection of good feeders of the right type, steers that will make reasonably good use of the feeds consumed.

Mining in Canada as Major Industry

Development, Beginning About 20 Years Ago, Has Still Much Wealth to Tap

Manitoba Shows Activity

Surface Exploration of Claims Along Embury Lake is Planned — Kirkland Gold Area Report Ready

Toronto, Ont.—Although mining has risen in twenty years to a position as one of the most important industries of this Dominion, it is still a long way from its potentialities.

A little more than two decades ago, silver was discovered at Cobalt. Since that time there have been many discoveries not only of silver, but of gold, copper, lead, zinc and nickel. New mining districts, such as Porcupine, Kirkland Lake, Sudbury and Rouyn, have been opened.

The Porcupine is one of the gold camps in which the original discovery strike has faded into oblivion. The strike in October, 1907, in the east bank of Porcupine Lake, which made the district famous, is now almost deserted.

Spectacular showings of free gold still abound near the scene of the original discovery. Small-scale development on the Bannerman and Kenora properties is all that remains of the celebrated Golden City.

The centre of public interest suddenly shifted, on account of the amazing wealth of the Pearl Lake area, to the section a few miles west, embracing the Hollinger, McIntyre and Dome.

Activity in Flin Flon Area

In view of the great activity in the mining regions west of Fort William, with particular reference to the area formerly known as the upper Seine River section, attention has been directed to the varied spellings of the lake known locally as Sapawe Lake, a busy mining field. In the interests of accuracy and uniformity it will be advisable to obtain an official ruling on the matter, for from present indications Sapawe Lake is on the map as a mining camp to stay.

In the Flin Flon area of northern Manitoba, the northwest corner of Embury Lake is the scene of great activity. Several hundred claims have been staked on the north side, along what is described as a series of iron dikes. Interest was first directed to this locality by a German mining engineer, a newcomer to the country, who after prospecting far afield, returned and staked his first choice on Embury Lake. Others followed fast, and the north shore has now been staked almost solid.

The geology has been reported on by several engineers as being favorable for base metal deposits. Among some of the larger groups recently staked are the Isabels, Victorias, Major C's, Emburys, Rex, Hygrades, Vidonnas and Spots.

The owners of several groups are already planning a campaign of surface exploration.

Option on Canadel Property

Word was received recently that an option on the property of Canadel Gold Limited, formerly known as the Rochester Mines, has recently been given to interest closely associated with March Gold. It was also said that dewatering of the shaft is now under way and has reached a depth of 300 feet. At this point the shaft has a depth of 1,000 feet. Extensive lateral work is to be carried on at this property.

With $175,000 cash on hand and with a big block of treasury shares available, directors of Macassa Gold Mines are soon to reach an important decision respecting plans for development of the property.

Opinions differ in regard to the method of attack. It is considered that $175,000 is not sufficient to give the property the desired test. It is believed that about $500,000 would be required to carry the work to 3,000 feet or more in an effort to tap the continuation of the mineral vein in its strike westward from Kirkland Lake gold area will soon be ready for distribution. It deals with work in individual mines, as well as the general geological conditions throughout two and ahalf miles of the field. The report was prepared for this Ontario Department of Mines under the direction of Mr. Todd.—(From an article in The New York Times.)

Victorious Canadian Athletes Return Home

THE first contingent of the Canadian Olympic Games party received a tremendous welcome when they returned to Canada on the White Star liner Laurentic. They were guests at civic receptions in Montreal and Toronto, while individual cities planned special celebrations in honor of their individual members of the team. The above photographs show, top, the group on board the Laurentic in which can be seen, fourth from the left, standing, Mrs. Joe Wright, and, extreme right, Joe Wright, Sr., parents of Joe Wright, Jr., who won the Diamond Sculls at Henley. Joe Wright is seen in the centre of the back row, eighth from the right. Fourth from the right standing is Lou Scholes, winner of the Diamond Sculls in 1904, who went to greet young Joe Wright. Underneath the group, on the left is Joe Wright, Jr.; on the right is Ethel Catherwood, of Saskatoon and Toronto, winner of the high jump at Amsterdam, where she created a world's record. The four girls are members of the team which won the 400 metres relay event and created a new world record. From left to right they are Myrtle Cook, Jane Bell, Ethel Smith, and Fi Rosenfeld. The bottom photograph shows young Joe Wright, displaying his trophies won at Henley to his mother. In his left hand he has the gold cup which is his permanent prize and in his right hand he has the miniature Sculls, which he holds for one year.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

In Summer When Childhood Ailments Are Most Dangerous.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhœa carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming on. The Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely harmless even to the new-born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

As the Poets Had Said

The road turned suddenly and ascended above the valley. There was a rush of air, and then Nora saw the sea. It was booming against a deep purple cliff lost in green water and pale green spray. . . .

They climbed over one slate ledge. A light mist lay over the cliffs above the sea, which resounded from below. The high grass between the hedgerows was very wet, the foxgloves against the stone walls drooping with their load of dew. As she was mounting the stairway made of flat stones over the second ledge, she heard her first lark. The bird had swooped up, and was singing, singing as he climbed higher and higher. She sat on the flat top of the stile, looking up towards the sky and listening to the warblings, fainter and fainter. Just as the poets had told her, singing as all her life she had dreamed they would sing. The three sisters stood waiting for her to climb over the ledge. While she had been sitting on the stile, the larks had slowly gathered in the sky, one after another, singing together, close to the last yellow light.—Wanda Fraiken Neef, in "We Sing Diana."

Husbands Are Dull

(By One of Them in the London Daily Mail)

Less than 10 years ago the most brilliant women of her year went down from Oxford, married a handsome man, a soldier and a scholar in one. The other day she wrote to a friend of the Oxford days: "I'm conscious of advancing age: I want to make merry. . . . Husbands are dull, even picturesque ones like yours and mine." I am the other.

It is a terrible thought; and no less terrible than true. Husbands are dull. Look around and everywhere you will see on almost every married face abyjous signs of dullness. Observe husband and wife at a dance. Does her eye sparkle with pleasurable anticipation if and when her husband requests the pleasure? It does not.

So on every social and even festive occasion, on railway journeys and in motor cars, you will notice the unlighted countenance of the husband in the immediate presence of his wife. The wife is correspondingly dull, of course but let us stick now to the husband. You can see that it requires no effort for him to avoid the bad form of allowing adoration to appear too obtrusively.

It is small wonder that wives' eyes sometimes sparkle at a compliment from another man.

The rest-cure is a dangerous and uncertain remedy. Mr. Edgar Jepson, in answer to a question which appeared in The Daily Mail as to how a husband could hold his wife, once said: "Remain her lover." But it will not do. Nor is it so easy as it sounds; so many men are dull, even as lovers. And she may want something new.

Try this: Assume a new form; keep different hours; if clean-shaven, grow a beard; if hirsute, shave. If gentle, assume a roughness; if old, grow young; if regular, become irregular; and if well dressed, don the garb of an undergraduate. When these changes pall, begin again. This also; if you have sat all these years at opposite ends of the breakfast table, take your seats on the same side.

Or let us continue in our natural dullness. Wives should be aware of a sense of ease, confidence, and security in a good and faithful husband, however dull.

Mr. Lenin's Brain

Scientists are said to have cut the brain of the late Nicolai Lenin, the Russian dictator, into 31,000 slices and particles. For two and a half years the work of dissecting, analyzing and preserving Mr. Lenin's gray matter has been in progress.

The net result, probably, is that they have 31,000 slices and particles. This is usually the way such tasks work out.

New York Is Paying High to be on Time

Telephone Company Takes in 35 Cents a Minute for Telling the Hour

New York—This city is paying the New York Telephone Company 35 cents a minute in order to find out what time it is.

Several years ago the telephone company discontinued the practice of telling its subscribers the time of day whenever they wanted to set their clocks or watches. But housewives became tired of calling across the air shaft to learn the time from Neighbor Jones and business men found the numerous clocks that line New York's streets did not always agree.

The result was that the telephone company established a special "time telling department." It sells time just like a store sells eggs, shoes or overcoats. The charge is 5 cents. If a subscriber calls up Meridian 1212, and a honey-voiced operator replies, "The time is now 3.51," his telephone is charged with a local call. If someone drops a nickel in a toll-box telephone, it doesn't come back to him as it did in the old days when the operator would tell him the hour.

During the first seven days that Meridian 1212 was in operation, there were 77,160 requests for the time, which means that New York residents spent $3,858 for the knowledge thus retailed. The calls, according to the telephone company's records, reach the peak between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m.

A TIRED-OUT FEELING

Is a Sure Sign That the Blood is Thin and Watery

"I am glad to have an opportunity of testifying to the benefits I derived from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills", writes Mrs. Lawrence Kennedy, St. Joseph, N.B. She further says:—"Some years ago I was working as a stenographer, and became badly run-down. I always had a tired-out feeling, had no appetite and suffered terribly from backache. Almost every month I had to remain from the office for a day or two. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I have reason to be glad that I followed this advice. Before I had been taking the pills very long I began to feel much better. Continuing their use my strength came back, I regained my appetite and the terrible backache from which I had suffered disappeared. I have been married some years now and have two fine healthy children, a girl and a boy, and am in the best of health. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' famous Pink Pills, and I trust that these few lines may help some other weak, run-down person."

All weak, run-down people who will give this blood-building tonic a fair trial will find through its use new health and strength. You can get the pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Heart of Man

The heart of man resembles a secret chamber wherein stands like the block of white unhewn marble set in the studio of a sculptor—a veiled figure. Though the man may not so much as lift the corner of the veil, yet he forever and in secret work to fashion and form the figure that lies beneath.

And the figure is the oul of the man, and the unveiling thereof is called death; and until the figure be unveiled, the man scarce knoweth what manner of man he is.—Coulson Kernahan.
