PRICEVILLE

Durham and Dundalk Agricultural Societies changed the dates of their fall fairs to the same dates as Priceville, so the Priceville directors thought it best to change our dates to October 7 and 8. We consider it a shabby trick to play on Priceville.

The harvest was nearly all gathered in last week. A few remaining fields will be cleaned up in good time this week.

Mev. H. Berry, who has been in charge of the Priceville Methodist circuit during the pastor's vacation, mentioned last Sunday morning that he had a letter from Rev. R. J, McCarten stating that he was improving in health but desired to stay two or three weeks longer.

WALKERTON

While jerking a troll ont of the river Charlie Schnurr, 12 years old, had the misfortune to run a fish hook through the right eyelid just over the ball of the eye. He was hurried to a doctor's, where the fish hook was with great difficulty removed.

Peter Altman, who occupies a farm southwest of Walkerton, was badly crushed by a heavy horse when he was jammed against the side of the stall by the animal, which became suddenly vicious while he was cleaning it. His ribs were severely crushed and the breath so squeezed out of him that he was for a time in a state of collapse. A doctor, who was summoned, found that while no bones were broken, yet there is a possibility that some serious internal trouble may develop.

During a fit of despondency brought about by a long illness of nervous trouble, James Boyd, a bachelor farmer of 45 years, residing near Elmwood on the Bentinck side, stabbed himself five times in the abdomen at an early hour on Thursday morning last and was found by relatives, who went out in search of him, standing against an old stump in the field with the blood gushing from his wounds. He was removed to the house and later brought to the Bruce County hospital at Walkerton, where Dr. Sinclair sewed up the terribly lacerated abdomen and where the patient is now progressing as favorably as possible, with bright prospects for his ultimate recovery.

License Inspector White's recent trips to Paisley and his frequent scoutings around that burg for booze infractions have resulted in at least one supposedly bad offender in the person of Thomas F. Pearce, drayman of that village, being caught with the goods and made whack up to the tune of $1000 on Monday last, which is the stiffest fine yet levied in Bruce for a breach of the Temperance Act.—Herald and Times.

The Sweet Clover Market

The sweet clover seed market this year does not seem very promising, at least not as yet, and if something does not happen to create a change there will not bemuch seed change hands this fall. Last year's crop sold at a good price, the seed houses vieing with each other in securing business. As a result, they bought more clover seed than they had a market for. On the other hand the acreage under sweet clover this year is reported easily double that of last, and the result of throwing this surplus on the market this season will have but one tendency—to reduce the price. So far as the Chronicle could ascertain, the seed companies so far have quoted no price at all—they are simply overstocked now and are not going to buy until they see a way out. Of course conditions may change before the winter is over ; we are merely giving publicity to information we received from one who ought to know—Durham Chronicle.

Government a Convert To Lightning Rods

Visitors to the parliament buildings at Ottawa recently having had their curiosity aroused by the presence of steeplejacks on the top of the highest tower of the new Central Block, will be interected to learn that this magnificent structure is being protected against lightning, thus setting government approval on the lightning rod, an appliance whose high efficiency it took many years to establish from the practical side.

The work has been entrusted to the Shinn Manufacturing Company of Canada, of Guelph, Ont., and is in personal charge of Professor W. H. Day, who for many years as Professor of Physics at the Ontario Agricultural College carried on extensive research as to the efficiency of lightning rods, which resulted in establishing the fact that good lightning rods, installed in accordance with the laws of science, are almost absolute protection against lightning.

Mr. E. Rutherford of Proton is agent for the Shinn flat lightning rod in this district.

A Miraculous Escape

Wednesday night of last week, says the Brampton Conservator, while returning from a garden party at Cataract, a Ford car with a party of five from Adjala township met with a serious accident when passing a horse and buggy travelling in the same direction, on Bell's hill, 15 sideroad, Caledon, when the earth gave way and the car rolled down a forty foot embankment, turning over three times. When it landed at the bottom four of the five passengers were still in the car and one under it, and the engine was still running. The fifth party was able to crawl out and all were very little the worse for their experience other than a few scratches and a severe shaking up. The wonder is that there was a survivor to tell the tale. Next day the car was removed with the aid of a block and tackle and taken to a repair shop, it being a bad looking wreck, the top and windshield being completely destroyed and many other parts twisted and broken.

A Girl's Horse Sense

Miss McPhail spoke at the Labor Day celebration in Owen Sound and the Advertiser reports her in part as follows :

"I would rather represent the farmers than any other class on earth. I am very glad that the farmers, labor and returned soldiers are getting together. They are the common people and must get together if they are to do anything. Formerly at election time the farmers were told that they were the salt of the earth and all that kind of thing. But the salt soon lost its savor after the election.

With two and a fraction people per square mile in Canada, is it just to suppose that we can make this a manufacturing country. Farming should come first, followed by mining, forestry and fisheries, with manufacturing last. Yet the government tries to protect manufacture while the farm lands are going to decay. There is a movement to get the people back on the farms, but when farming pays three hundred and ten per cent. profits as did the Dominion Textile Co. then you will have to put barb wire barricades around the farms to keep the people away."
