A Horse Case

Can a horse jump over his front feet with the hind legs? This may seem like a silly conundrum, and yet that is what the plaintiff in the action of Stinson vs. Piper claimed a horse the defendant sold tried to do. The case was heard before Judge Sutherland here last Tuesday at the Court of the General Sessions of the Peace. The defendant sold the plaintiff a horse last February. The plaintiff contended that there was a warranty attached to the sale to the effect that the horse was sound. He said that he had not driven it two miles before it began to go lame. When asked by counsel for the defence what was the matter with it exactly, he said he could not say as he was not a veterinary but that it seemed to want to jump over its front legs with its hind ones. In fact it attempted this impossible feat a great many times. Just what the result of its attempts were, and whether it ever succeeded or not he did not say. We presume, however, that it did not. Mr. Henry of Lucas & Henry, Markdale, appeaaed for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. E. Wright of Owen Sound for the defendant. Verdict was given in favor of the plaintiff for $100. The case lasted from Tuesday at 2 o'clock until Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Judge Sutherland concluded his address to the jury. Twenty witnesses were called during the trial, and the costs of the case would probably amount to more than the amount of the verdict—O. S. Sun Times.

DURHAM

A case was tried here last week before Police Magistrate Laidlaw, growing out of an alleged assault made by Mr Fred Noble of Egremont against Mr Edwin Johnson, an aged gentleman of the same township. The original trouble was over some of Noble's pigs trespassing on Johnson's property. Though no blows were struck, Magistrate Laidlaw deemed that an offense had been committed and fined the defendant $10 and costs, in all about $23.

A team of horses that had been stolen from him early this fall were located by Mr C B Lawrence at Collingwood, and were brought home by him last week. The horses had been borrowed from Mr Lawrence by Matt Grainger, a local character for the past five or six years, ostensibly to go to Kenilworth, where Grainger was to secure employment in the flax fields. Instead of going to Kenilworth, Grainger went to Owen Sound, and subsequently to Collingwood where he traded the team off to a farmer near there, Grainger has not yet been apprehended, but if caught will certainly be prosecuted.—Chronicle
