Our new village council this year ought to do some good work. "A new broom sweeps clean and they should be able to leave a clean floor at the end of the year. There are a number of important things to be done, but in our estimation one of the most important is to see that our fire fighting apparatus is kept in a proper place and in order for immediate action. A deputy fire marshall was in town last week and told The Advance that it was a crying shame that the chemical engine which, he said, would extinguish quite a large fire, was not kept in order. We knew that, of course, and there is absolutely no excuse for leaving it in a useless condition as it has been left for years. Since it was purchased there have been several fires that could easily have been extinguished if it had been kept in working order.
