HEALTHY

A man with a thin head of hair is a marked man. But the big bald spot is not the kind of a mark most men like.

HAIR

Too many men in their twenties are bald. This is absurd and all unnecessary. Healthy hair shows man's strength. To build up the hair from the roots, to prevent and to cure baldness use—

Ayer's Hair Vigor

It always restores color to faded or gray hair. Notice that word, "always." And it cures dandruff.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

My business calls me out among strangers a great deal. I would actually feel ashamed every time I would take off my hat, my hair was so thin and the bald spots showed so plainly. I began the use of Your Hair Vigor less than three months ago. Today I find I have as fine a head of hair as I ever had. I tell everybody what I used, and they say it must be a wonderful remedy.—Geo. Yeant, Dec. 14, 1896. Chicago, Ill.

We have a book on The Hair and Scalp which we will send free upon request. If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

WHAT AM I?

(A riddle by Hannah More, the English authoress, and, least our readers should have difficulty in finding the answer, we may say that it is "Book.")

I'm a strange contradiction, I'm new and I'm old;
I'm oft times in tatters and oft decked with gold;
Though I never could read yet lettered I'm found;
Though blind I enlighten, thought loose I am bound;
I am always in black and I'm always in white;
I am grave and I'm gay, I am heavy and light.
In form, too, I differ; I'm thick and I'm thin;
I've no flesh and no bone, yet I'm covered with skin;
I've more points than the compass, more stops than the flute;
I sing without voice, without speaking confute;
I'm English, I'm German, I'm French and I'm Dutch;
Some slight me unduly, some love me too much;
I often die soon though I sometimes live aged,
And no monarch on earth has so many pages.

HE GOT ANOTHER MAN'S DOSH.

Perkins is a good-natured bachelor, and very convivial withal, being out late at night. One night, near twelve o'clock, as he was passing Mr. Jones' house, he noticed that the front door was open, and supposing that it had been left so by mistake, he felt it his duty to wake up Jones and tell him about it. So he walked up the stoop, and was on the point of ringing the bell, when a bucket of water was thrown upon him from a window above. Perkins was almost knocked down the steps and drowned; but as he glanced up for an explanation to this sudden shower, a shrill female voice greeted him with—

"Didn't I tell you if you dared to stay out late another night?"

Perkins continued his journey without manifesting any further interest in Jones' door, saying that he got Jones' dose. And he doesn't envy Jones any because he is married.

MOODY'S REMARKABLE LIFE.

We have received a book of much importance at the present time, from the Poole Publishing Co., Toronto, "The Life of D. L. Moody." The book is attractive, and is well printed on good white paper. Thirty-three pages of illustration embellish its pages, covering the outstanding features in Mr. Moody's career, home life and religious experience. Its circulation will probably be very large, as Mr. Moody had a powerful influence in Canada, was known here quite as well as across the line, and his was a potent name in thousands of Christian households. The book is published at 25 cents in heavy paper cover, or 50 cents bound in cloth—for sale at all booksstores or will be sent postpaid by the publishers on receipt of price. Everyone will want to read the story of the life work of this remarkable man.

HE WASN'T A BACHELOR.

Scene: Calstaud near London. A lady distributing tracts hands one to a cabby, who glances at it, hands it back, and says politely:

"Thank you, lady, but I'm a married man."

The lady nervously looking at the title and reading—"Abide With Me," hurriedly departs to the great delight of the cabby.

JUST FOR FUN.

Mrs. McPherson was attracted by the following advertisement the other day: "To the public—A gentleman who was cured of drinking, smoking, talking too loud, going out at nights, going to the races, and gambling and who also gained twenty pounds of flesh in three years, and who was completely restored to health, will sell the secret to any respectable person for half-a-crown. If no cure, money returned.—Address, 'In confidence,' etc." Mrs. McPherson sent for the remedy, and received the following reply: "I was cured of all the bad habits mentioned by a three-years' enforced residence in her Majesty's prison."

The superintendent of a city Sunday School was making an appeal for a collection for a Shut-in Society, and he said: "Can any boy or girl tell me of any shut-in person mentioned in the Bible?" Ah, I see several hands raised. That is good. This little boy right in front of me may tell us. Speak up good and loud so that all will hear you, Johnnie." "Jonah!" shrieked Johnnie.—Harper's Bazar.

While the landlady and the boarders bent their heads devoutly above the table the new arrival sat bolt upright. The good landlady was shocked. "Atheism?" she sharply asked. "No, ma'am," said the new boarder, "bolt!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HIT OR MISS.

Here is a capital story told of a couple of western hunters. Their names were Hoffman and Cowan; and both were excellent shots, and not a little given to boasting of their skill. One day they were on a deer-hunting expedition, and after getting into the woods where they expected to find deer they separated. Shortly after Hoffman heard Cowan's gun fired off, when he immediately went over to the spot where he had heard the shot, expecting to be obliged to help Cowan hang up a deer, he found Cowan very busy loading his gun, and shouted out:

"Hallo, Cowan! what did you shoot at just now?"

"None of your business, go along over the hill!"

Surprised at this short and crusty answer, Hoffman looked around and discovered a calf among the bushes. Again he cried out:

"I say, Cowan, did you shoot at the calf?"

"Yes, I did, but it's none of your business."

"Why, what made you shoot at it?"

"Why, I took it for a deer."

"Well, did you hit it?"

"No, I missed it."

"How did you miss it?"

"Why, I wasn't quite sure that it wasn't a calf."

"You are a pretty specimen of a hunter," rejoined Hoffman, "to shoot at a calf for a deer, and miss it at that."

"Don't make a fool of yourself," replied Cowan, "I shot at it just so as to hit it if it was a deer, and miss it if it was a calf."

"Nothing out of Ireland, of the "bull" species, is a better "specimen" than this.

HOME.

That house is no home which has a grumbling father, a scolding mother, a dissipated son, a lazy daughter and a bad-tempered child. It may be built of marble surrounded by gardens, parks and fountains; carpets of extravagant costliness may spread its floors; pictures of the rarest merit may adorn the walls; its tables may abound with dainties the most luxurious; its every adorning may be complete; but it won't be home.

A HURRY-UP JOB.

The Irishman was painting his barn, and he was hurrying his work with all his strength and speed. "What are you in such a hurry for, Murphy?" asked a spectator. "Sure, I want to get through before me paint runs out," was the reply.

Now Is The Time

To purify your blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. At this season your blood is loaded with impurities which have accumulated during the winter and which should be expelled. Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished thousands of remarkable cures of blood disease. It is what the millions take in the spring to build up health and ward off sickness.

It is not how long, but how well we sleep.

Tearless grief bleeds inwardly.

Pitty's Pills are small—mere mites—but one is a dose, and every dose counts. There are no blanks.

General Grant, when asked to write a message to the Sunday school youth of the United States, wrote as follows: "Hold fast to the Bible as the chief anchor of your liberties. Write its precepts in your hearts and practice them in your lives."

We are spending thousands to make Pitty's Pills known. Our money proves our faith. A trial will secure yours.

Aid yourself and heaven will aid you.

One Laxa-Liver Pill every night for thirty days makes a complete cure of biliousness and constipation. That is—just 25 cents to be cured.

THE INVENTIVE THIEF.

The latest dodge, which is but the revival of an old one, with variations, is as mysterious in result as it is simple in action. If you have a grip which you carry carefully enough to dinote that its contents are valuable be careful how you set it down in a crowd, even for a moment. Along comes a man with a good-sized grip which he also sets down beside you, while you argue with the ticket inspector or consult a time table.

The man is well dressed and seems in a hurry. In a moment more he picks up his grip and is gone. Your grip is gone with him, for his own was empty and had a trick bottom. It was slipped down square over yours, the flaps of the false bottom folded up and a row of hooks on either end held your property securely. It is the most infernally ingenious trick ever devised for robbing the traveller, wary or unwary.

STOPPING A TRAIN.

Recently an Irishman was sitting on the track of the New London Railroad when an engine tossed him down an embankment. The conductor backed his train to pick up the dead body; the victim was found alive, however, only somewhat bruised, and was taken to Norwich. Here the conductor kindly offered to send the man home in a hack; but he insisted on his ability to walk, and refused to be sent home. The conductor pressed the matter, when the Milesian, who had stood the battering of the cow-catcher so well, bristled up with, "Go away with your karridge; I'll go home by myself, and if I've done any damage to yer ould engine, dadad, I'll pay it do the spot."

GOOD NAME FOR HIM.

"Why do you call that young man Atlas?" asked the old gentleman.

"I know," interrupted the small boy before the fair maid had a chance to answer.

"Willie!" she exclaimed warmly.

"You bet I know!" persisted the boy.

"Why is it, then?" inquired the old gentleman.

"Well, I heard him tell sister Mary that she was all the world to him," said the boy.

"And what of that?" asked the old gentleman.

"Why, Atlas held up the world didn't he?" demanded the boy.—Chicago Post.

A LITTLE COLD LET RUN.

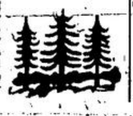
A little tickling in the throat—now and then a dry, hacking cough—"not bad enough to bother about you say."

But every hack makes a breach in the system, strains the lungs and prepares the way for more serious trouble.

Twould be wise for you to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup now, before the lungs become permanently affected.

It is the most certain and satisfactory remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Croup, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and Whooping Cough.

Mrs. Geo. F. Foster, Lansdowne, N.S., writes this to say: "I was taken suddenly with a cold which settled on my lungs. I had a terrible cough and it gave me great alarm. All the remedies I tried seemed of no use. I then started taking Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which cured me so promptly that it was a pleasant surprise. I shall always keep it in the house during the winter season."



A NERVOUS BREAK DOWN.

Almost A Physical Collapse, But Completly Restored by South American Nervine.

Mrs. Geo. Quackenbush, of 310 Victoria street, Toronto, was gradually breaking down under an attack of extreme nervous prostration. Her appetite had left her; she suffered from insomnia. Here are her own words as she wrote them: "I took doctor's advice, but received no benefit. I commenced using South American Nervine, and three bottles worked a marvellous change in me. My appetite came back, I sleep soundly, and my general health is as perfect as ever it was. It is a pleasure to recommend so worthy a remedy. Sold by A. T. Brown.

As a restorative these pills are in the first rank.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided. This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

If you are well, let yourself alone.

To Prevent Consumption.

Hard to cure; easy to prevent. Scott's Emulsion nourishes the body, keeps all the organs and tissues healthy, and the consumption germs cannot get a foothold.

One is not so soon healed as hurt.

As an all-round family remedy, one that always should be in the house for an emergency, Dr. Pitty's Pills discount anything in the market. They are so small a child can take them with ease; yet one's a dose.

Let the appetite obey the reason.

"Some time ago I obtained a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I can now without hesitation say that they have been beneficial in relieving me of an obstinate and long standing complaint affecting my heart and nerves.

"I was troubled with sleeplessness, dizziness, palpitation and neuralgia for such a long time that I had really given up hope of a cure. Now, that others may learn of the virtues of this remedy, I give my unsolicited testimony.

"My honest opinion is that there is no sure so good for heart and nerve troubles as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

It is to live twice when you can enjoy the recollection of your former life.—Martial.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondence and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquillizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, guaged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any the market. All druggists sell it.

I used the B.B.B. as a wash as well as internally, and it seemed to give great relief as soon as it was put on.—Mrs. Philip Mitchell, St. Mary's, Ont.

Bob McCready.

Above is a splendid portrait of Bob McCready, one of the best football players in Canada. He is a member of the Ottawa University team, and has been in all of the championship matches. He is a splendid specimen of robust Canadian manhood, but, strong as he is, he has known what it is to suffer from dyspepsia. So seriously afflicted was he at the opening of the past foot-ball season, that he was not able to go out with his team. Pains in the back and sides, intermittent headache, and the awful pangs he suffered after eating, the result of an impaired digestion, warned him that he was in no condition to play football, the hardest of all games. Besides, he lacked the energy to carry him through a campaign. He consulted his physician, but that gentleman gave him no relief. "At this stage," he writes, "I was advised to try Dr. Pitty's Pills, the new remedy that one of my friends assured me was wonderful in its effects. I was skeptical, but he sounded their praises so persistently that I was at length induced to try them. The very first dose drove the pain away, and at the end of a week I polished my team, and I have come through one of our hardest seasons in the best form that I have ever been in. Dr. Pitty's Pills are alone to thank for my fine condition. They are the best medicine I have ever taken. They make one so strong and so full of energy. I, for one, shall never take any others when I feel in need of a stay-strengthener." Such is the recommendation of this well-known athlete, and such will be the experience of everyone who tries this wonderful remedy. If your druggist cannot supply you, write to us, enclosing price, 50 cents a bottle, six bottles for $2.50. Address The Dr. Pitty Medicine Co., Ottawa, Canada.
