BLUES

Ever have them? Then we can't tell you anything about them. You know how dark everything looks and how you are about ready to give up. Somehow, you can't throw off the terrible depression.

Are things really so blue? Isn't it your nerves, after all? That's where the trouble is. Your nerves are being poisoned from the impurities in your blood.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

purifies the blood and gives power and stability to the nerves. It makes health and strength, activity and cheerfulness.

This is what "Ayer's" will do for you. It's the oldest Sarsaparilla in the land, the kind that was old before other Sarsaparillas were known.

This also accounts for the saying, "One bottle of Ayer's is worth three bottles of the ordinary kind."

CRYTING THINGS.

"You cannot get something for nothing,"
A philosopher told me one day.
"And he is a fool who sits waiting
For things to be thrown his way.

What if you are gifted and worthy?
Rewards will not reach you unless
You pluck up courage to ask for
The things that you long to possess.

Full many a man who has never
Engaged in a praiseworthy task
Is above you to-day, for the reason
That he always was ready to ask.

"You cannot get things just by waiting,"
I heard the philosopher say;
"You must ever keep asking and reaching
Or nothing will fall in your way."

Yet, while the old fellow was preaching—
If the facts in the case may be told—
The wind blew in over the transom,
And he caught a most beautiful cold.

WHAUR AM I NOO?

The following anecdote has been related to us by a venerable friend, the name, etc., only being altered:

John McGlashan, Esq., of Barghall, was an important proprietor of a small estate. He was a genial soul, and particularly fond of himself on Ayr market days. His pony, a sturdy Rustlie, knew well the condition of his master when the Laird was hoisted into the saddle, assisted by Mine Host and the hostler. The Laird, as the fresh air began to tell upon him, fell half asleep, and leaned first to one side and then to the other, the poor but wise dumb brute would lean first to one side and then to the other, to preserve his master's equilibrium. But this pitcher went once too often to the well. The Laird one night fell off, and lay becalmed, not far from a coal pit. The colliers, returning from the night shift, saw him, and put him into the creel along with them, and carried him to the bottom of the coal pit. Here the Laird was laid on some straw. In the morning he awoke out of his drunken dreams, by the noises of shouting men. He saw nothing but darkness, relieved only by evil spirits of the infernal regions, angels of darkness, as he thought with lamps on their foreheads. One of these hideous looking spirits addressed him in a sepulchral voice: "What are you, and where do you come from?" "Be canny, be canny," yelled the laird. "Whaur am I noo? Lord be mercit to my soul! I admit I was fond of a dram up aboon. I was Jock McGlashan o' Barryhall, up yonder; but God only kens what they'll mak o' me here!"

A MIGHTIER TRIBE.

Once upon a time the Rev. Thomas R. Beecher, of Elmira, N. Y., brother to Henry Ward Beecher, got into some sort of a quarrel with a man named Smith down at Cohoes. Thomas K. Beecher wrote the presumptuous man a defiant little note, saying curtly:

"Do you want to get into a quarrel with the Beecher family?"

And the man wrote back with a snarl:

"Do you want to fight with the Smith family?"

And so Beecher could stand that. Thomas K. laughed and hastened to make terms.

MOTHER AND SON SAVED.

Catarrh Had Pinioned Them, But Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder Cut the Cords and Freed Them the Disease.

Mrs. W. A. Bicel, 54 Inkerman Street, Toronto, says: "For months and months I suffered torments from pain in my head, caused by acute chronic catarrh. I used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and found it a perfect specific. My son was also a victim of this malady for three years, and suffered a great deal. Doctors could not cure him, but one application of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder gave him great relief, and it cured him in an incredibly short time." Sold by A. T. Brown.

HUMANITY'S COMMONEST TROUBLE.

Thousands Suffering in Springtime.

Paine's Celery Compound the Great Banisher of Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Stomach Troubles.

The most prevalent trouble in springtime is dyspepsia in its many varied forms.

This common but dreaded disease is produced by acute inflammation of the nerves centered about the stomach.

It is a well-known fact that the stomach is one of the chief nerve centres, and physicians will tell you that without healthy, vigorous nerves, the stomach cannot properly digest food.

There are cases of consumption so far advanced that Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup will not cure, but none so bad that it will not give relief. For coughs, colds and all affections of the throat, lungs and chest, it is a specific which never been known to fail. [illegible] digestion are quickly [illegible] caused by impoverished blood, overwork, worry and cares.

The first and greatest work for all sufferers from dyspepsia and indigestion to accomplish, is to nourish and brace the nerves and purify the blood.

Paine's Celery Compound is the chosen medicine of the ablest physicians for producing nerve fibre, true nerve force and pure, rich blood. When these blessings have been secured, dyspepsia and its train of evils are completely banished, and solid, lasting health is established.

Paine's Celery Compound has done more for dyspeptics than all other combined agencies. Thousands of testimonials from the best people tell the story that Paine's Celery Compound "makes sick people well."

Mrs. E. Trinder, of Simcoe, Ont., says: "For a long time dyspepsia and indigestion made life miserable for me. I was so bad I could not go out of the house, do housework or get regular sleep. I bought six bottles of Paine's Celery Compound from Mr. Austin, our druggist, and commenced to use it regularly. My doctor advised me to continue with your compound, and told me if I had not been using it he would have recommended it to me.

Your Paine's Celery Compound has worked wonders for me; it has banished my dyspepsia, indigestion and sleeplessness, and given me a new life."

Inflammatory Rheumatism.—Mr. G. I was the whole of one summer unable to move without crutches, and every movement caused excruciating pains. I am now on the road and exposed to all kinds of weather, but have never been troubled with rheumatism since. I, however keep a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Oil on hand, and I always recommend it to others, as it did so much for me."

For Inflammation of The Eyes.—Among the many good qualities which Parmelee's Vegetable Pills possess, besides regulating the digestive organs, is their efficacy in reducing inflammation of the eyes. It has called forth many letters of recommendation from those who were afflicted with this complaint and found a cure in the pills. They effect the nerve centres and the blood in surprisingly active way, and the result is almost immediately seen.

SABBATH ON THE FARM.

The farmer's Sunday, if he is a religious man at all, is a better Sunday than the city man's. In some cities even on Sunday the business houses, if they are not open, are still for ever before your eyes, suggesting man's business and not "the Father's business." Streets are crowded with people; street cars and railroad trains are running; saloons and theatres and dance halls and billiard halls are wide open; baseball or football games, horse races or prize fights go on; men must have their Sunday business letters; the Sunday newspapers, full of the world, the flesh, and too often the devil, are cried into your ears and creep into your hearts and drive God and church and things of your soul out of your mind altogether. No wonder the city man has to fight hard to keep his religion, and above all the Lord's Day, as he ought to. But the farmer, even the most worldly, seldom thinks of working on Sunday, after the necessary chores are done. Other things will let him alone—if he lets them alone. He can go to church if he wants to. And when he gets there he hears a simple sermon which he can understand, takes part in a simple worship which he can follow, meets only familiar friend and neighbors instead of a lot of utter strangers, gets some good in this way out of the service; and if he has to talk a bit, outside after church, it is still about weather and crops and stock, with which God has still something to do.

Thank God then, that if you are a Christian at all; that you are also a farmer, and have about you all the time these constant appeals to your religious sensibility. This makes it all the easier for you to be a Christian and to stay one.—Bishop Boyd Vincent.

A Clear, Healthy Skin.—Eruptions of the skin and the blotches which blemish beauty are the results of impure blood caused by unhealthy action of the Liver and Kidneys. In correcting the unhealthy action and restoring the organs to their normal condition, Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will disappear without leaving any trace.

One demagogue is more dangerous than a dozen aristocrats.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many durative being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill, in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual judicious use, the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength, by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep, imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the public their Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

Spring and Summer Weakness

As spring advances a weakness and debility seems to seize on the strong and delicate alike. The circulation is sluggish on account of the exhausted nerve forces, and the blood is poor in quality and deficient in tissue-building elements. As a result there is a general running down of the system. The stomach is disordered and the appetite poor, the liver, kidneys and bowels become inactive, and there is a lack of energy and ambition which renders work of any kind a burden. It is not strong drugs or purgatives with their depressing action that is required, but a food to nourish the nerve centres and enrich the blood.

Bob McCready.

Above is a splendid portrait of Bob McCready, one of the best football players in Canada. He is a member of the Ottawa University team, and has been in all of its championship matches. He is a splendid specimen of robust Canadian manhood, but, strong as he is, he has known what it is to suffer from dyspepsia. So seriously afflicted was he at the opening of the past (1899) season, that he was not able to go out with his team. Pains in the back and sides, intermittent headache, and the awful pangs he suffered after eating, the result of an impaired digestion, warned him that he was in no condition to play football, the hardest of all games. Besides, he lacked the energy to carry him through a campaign. He consulted his physician, but that gentleman gave him no relief. "At this stage," he writes, "I was advised to try Dr. Petty's Pills, the new remedy that one of my friends assured me was wonderful in its effects. I was skeptical, but he sounded their praises so persistently that I was at length induced to try them. The very first dose drove the pain away, and at the end of a week I rejoined my team, and I have come through one of our hardest seasons in the best form that I have ever been in. Dr. Petty's Pills are alone to thank for my fine condition. They are the best medicine I have ever taken. They make one so strong and so full of energy. I, for one, shall never take any others when I feel in need of a strengthener." Such is the recommendation of this well-known athlete, and such will be the experience of everyone who tries this wonderful remedy. If your druggist cannot supply you, write to us, enclosing price 50 cents a bottle, six bottles for $2.50. Address The Dr. Petty Medicine Co., Ottawa, Canada.
