Winter Storms: Are You Prepared?

Defeat Winter's Wrath

Winter is upon us. Get ready now by gathering essential supplies, knowing what winter storm watches and warnings mean, and reducing fire risks when using portable space heating equipment. Get more winter storm safety information from your local Red Cross chapter.

Winter weather brings cold, ice, snow, and high winds to many areas of our country. Here are some suggestions to help deal with these conditions:

- Know what winter storm WATCHES and WARNINGS mean. A winter storm WATCH means a winter storm is possible in your area. A winter storm WARNING means a winter storm is headed for your area. A blizzard WARNING means strong winds, blinding wind-driven snow, and dangerous wind chill are expected.
- Gather essential supplies, including flashlights, a radio, first aid kit, protective clothing and winter wear, canned foods, and at least three gallons of water (preferably more).
- Listen to the radio, the Weather Channel, and local television broadcasts for the latest information about storm conditions.
- Plan to stay at home during bad weather, but if you must drive and become stuck, stay with your car. Don't try to walk to safety.
- Use a flashlight if the power is out at home. Do not use candles or other open flames indoors. More people have died after recent winter storms from residential fires caused by candles than from the direct effects of the storm itself.
- Use portable space heating equipment very carefully. Keep heaters at least three feet away from any combustible material, including drapes, carpeting, and furniture. Do not drape gloves, socks, or other clothing over a space heater to dry. Turn space heating equipment off when you are not in the room. Keep children and pets away from heating equipment. Fuel-filled equipment should be filled outdoors when completely cool.

Winter storms can happen quickly and sometimes without warning. Get ready for winter weather now, while there is time to prepare. For additional information on preparing for winter storms and other disasters, contact the Red Cross chapter in your area.

Severe Storm Season is Upon Us

Spring is Storm Season

Spring often brings violent weather, sometimes without warning.

Get ready now by planning to stay inside a sturdy building during severe weather, learning how to squat low if caught outdoors during lightning, and learning CPR and first aid to treat injuries. Get more information from your local Red Cross chapter.

Red Cross

Severe spring and summer storms bring tornadoes, flooding and lightning damage to many areas. You should be prepared in the event of a storm, and especially the lightning which often accompanies it. Here are some important safety tips to consider:

- Keep an eye on the sky. Look for darkening skies, flashes of light, or increasing wind. Listen for the sound of thunder. If you can hear thunder, you are close enough to the storm to be struck by lightning.
- Listen to the radio, the Weather Channel, or local television news for the latest weather forecast.
- Find shelter on the lowest floor of a sturdy building when a storm approaches. If you cannot get inside to shelter, squat low near the ground in an open area. Lying flat on the ground is not recommended, because it puts more of your body into contact with the ground, an excellent conductor of electricity from lightning.
- Turn off air conditioning. Power surges from lightning can overload the compressor, resulting in a costly repair job.
- Draw blinds and shades over windows. If windows break due to objects blown by the wind, the shades may prevent glass from shattering into your home.
- If you are in a mobile home or car during severe weather and conditions are right for a tornado, get out of the mobile home or car and find sturdy shelter elsewhere.
- People struck by lightning carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely. If someone is struck, dial 9-1-1 or your local emergency services number. The injured person has received an electrical shock and may be burned. If breathing has stopped, begin rescue breathing. If the heart has stopped beating, a trained person should give CPR.

Severe storms can happen quickly and sometimes without warning. Get ready for severe storms now, while you have time to prepare. Another suggestion is to take a Red Cross CPR course. For additional information on preparing for severe storms, tornadoes, and other disasters, or to find out about CPR class schedules, you can contact the Red Cross chapter in your area.

Don't Just Whistle While You Work: Hunt for Home Hazards While Spring Cleaning this Year

Running on empty?

Refuel gasoline-powered equipment well away from sparks or flames, buildings and foliage, and make sure the motor has cooled down before you fill the tank.

Winter is finally over and it's time to get your home ready for the winter months ahead. Before you do take a good look around your home. There's a strong chance flammable materials are lurking in many areas, and it's important to store and use them properly to avoid the risk of fire.

With yard chores, particularly lawn mowing, right around the corner, use caution when using and storing gasoline, a flammable liquid that readily gives off vapors easily ignited with a spark or small flame. Gasoline should only be used as a motor fuel, never as a degreaser or cleaning solvent. Using gasoline for any purpose other than as a motor fuel is just too dangerous. If used properly, most gasoline fires are easily avoided.

According to the nonprofit National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), on average each year, nearly 8,000 home fires involve gasoline, and result in nearly 150 deaths. Gasoline should only be stored in tightly-capped containers specifically intended for that use, and placed in a garage or lawn shed, never in the basement or home itself.

Commonly used liquids such as lacquer thinners, denatured alcohol, and other solvents, which are often stored in basement workshops, can be easily ignited by a nearby furnace or hot water heater. These liquids should be stored in their original containers, tightly-capped, and used far away from sparks or open flames. Other liquids, including paint thinners, mineral spirits and kerosene, are less easily ignited, but should be treated with the same respect. Finally, hang or spread rags soaked in oils or paint thinners outside to dry and then dispose of them properly.

Improperly stored or used flammable products cause unnecessary fires, injuries and even deaths. Becoming familiar with the hazardous materials around your home can go a long way to protect you and your family.

DO IT NOW...

- Spring is the most critical season to protect your vehicle.
- Why? During the Winter, your vehicle suffers through the ravages of road salt and sand!
- Corrosion - one of your cars worst enemies - is percolating inside every seam, nook and cranny!
- If that isn't bad enough, with Spring around the corner, you can expect another 20% to 40% more corrosion due to increased moisture!
- Krown's "BODY MAINTENANCE" program treats your entire vehicle - including the electrical connections - while lubricating the moving parts!
- Krown's "BODY MAINTENANCE" program can save you $2000.00 a year!

Keep Your Day Job: Leave Fireworks to the Professionals!

While fireworks can be spectacular to watch, they can also be extremely dangerous in the hands of amateurs. Attend public fireworks displays put on by trained professionals. It's the safer way to see fireworks.

Fireworks are spectacular to watch, but can be extremely dangerous in the hands of amateurs. When celebrating Canada Day or other outdoor events, attend fireworks displays put on by trained professionals who follow state-of-the-art fire codes.

Statistics from a report by the nonprofit National Fire Protection Association (NFPA) show that fireworks (objects designed to burn and explode) annually causes tens of millions of dollars in property damage and thousands of injuries, as well as some deaths. Injuries from the intense heat of fireworks, typically harming the eyes, head, hands, arms or legs, can cause blindness, lacerations, amputations and burns. Some burns leave lifetime, disfiguring scars.

Playing with fireworks invites disaster, it's just not worth the risk. Children are at greatest risk from fireworks, whether as spectators or active participants. According to NFPA's report, in 1995, 59 percent of the fireworks injuries were to a young person under 20, with children between the ages of 10 and 14 most at risk.

As parents and adults, we have a responsibility to protect our children. While most parents work year round to keep their children safe, if they shoot off fireworks off in their backyards once a year, they are placing their children at substantial risk. Even sparklers, which can heat up to 1200°F, pose a serious danger in a child's hand, or anyone's for that matter.

NFPA, an international fire protection organization whose mission is to increase fire safety worldwide, strongly supports local fire departments' efforts to restrict the use of fireworks. NFPA has worked for more than 50 years to limit the use of virtually all fireworks by the general public. The association believes fireworks can be too unpredictable to be used safely by amateurs.

Is Your SMOKE ALARM WORKING?

CHANGE YOUR CLOCK

CHANGE YOUR BATTERY

More Canadians have smoke alarms than ever before. But nearly half don't work.

Without a working smoke alarm as an early warning device, fire can spread unnoticed through the household, blocking escape routes and filling rooms with deadly smoke.

Make sure you're protected. Start a lifesaving habit this October. When you change your clock from daylight-saving time, change the batteries in your smoke alarms.

A message from your fire department.

Home Fires and Fire Deaths Up During Heating Season

Deck the Halls with Holly, Not Hazards!

Christmas trees cause hundreds of fires every year. Keep your tree fire-free by placing it in a sturdy stand, well away from candles, heat sources and exits, and water it daily.

When we think of winter, we often think of holiday parties, festive decorations, and glowing fireplaces. What we may not realize is that December, January and February are the leading months for home fires and home fire deaths in Canada. On average, more than one-third of home fire deaths occur during the winter months.

The nonprofit National Fire Protection Association's (NFPA) statistics show that heating equipment fires are the second leading cause of fire deaths, but during the winter, they are the number-one culprit. Tens of thousands of home heating fires kill hundreds of people on average each year.

According to NFPA, home heating fires are most commonly caused by inadequate chimney cleaning; placing things that can burn too close to space and portable heaters; fueling errors involving liquid- or gas-fueled heaters; and flaws in the design, installation or use of heating equipment.

The good news is that most of these fires are preventable. It's simply a matter of being aware that these hazards exist, and taking the few steps necessary to avoid them.

Have all home heating systems and chimneys inspected annually and cleaned, if necessary, before the start of each heating season. If you use space or portable heaters, keep anything that can burn, including people, pets and furniture, at least three feet away. When leaving the room or going to sleep, make sure to turn the heaters off.
