Osprey fall fair enjoyed the only two nice days extending over a period of ten days. All the rest were rainy and disagreeable. The fair was probably the best ever held by the society, taking things all round. The hall was especially well filled and live stock was up to the usual mark.

Miss Annie McMillan, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan of Ceylon, passed away on Monday forenoon at the age of 26 years. Miss McMillan was a school teacher and taught at the Durham Road school, McIntyre and Fort William. At the latter place she was taken with pleurisy and had to give up her school eleven months ago, since which time she has been gradually sinking. The interment took place on Wednesday to Swinton Park. The parents and family have the sympathy of the community.

A pheasant raising expert from the United States arrived last week to put up pens on the hydro property wilh a view to testing out the feasibility of raising pheasants in this district. Such experiments have been succesful in southern Ontario in the Lake Erie counties, and it is hoped the climate here will not be too severe to propagate these grand game birds. We fancy the northern ptarmigan would stand more of a chance. Perhaps the Department may be persuaded to include them in their experiments after a time. And prairie chickens—what about them?

The play-off in the Centre Grey league did not take place on account of differences of the two contesting parties, Vandeleur and Dundalk. At an executive meeting held at Rocklyn last week the championship was awarded to Vandeleur as Dundalk did not appear to play at Vandeleur for the second game after the first had been postponed. Baseball had a great uplift in this community when the league was organized and great interests taken from the beginning to the end. We are only sorry that the play-off could not have been held and so decide the championship on its merits, as both teams made a great race for the top.

Flesherton Fair A Success

The postponed fair on Monday last may be classed as a distinct success, considering all things. The day was not favorable, yet a good crowd of people attended and the show of live stock was quite the best we have ever seen here. Cattle and horses were extra good, and there was very keen competition in some of the heavy breeds. The prize team of drafts came all the way from Clarksburg. There was also a big list of sheep, four exhibitors being present. The directorate are pleased with the result of the postponement, although no money was made thereby, but it was felt that the horsemen deserved recognition for their splendid response on the first day. Half a dozen games of skill on the "midway" and did quite a roaring business. The concert at night was also well attended and enjoyed, although the attendance was only about half what it was on the first night. Both concerts produced $350 and the gate receipts nearly $200. We will publish the prize list later.

Teachers' Convention

The annual convention of East Grey teachers was held in the auditorium of the high school here on Thursday and Friday of last week. There was a large attendance of teachers ftom the inspectorate and several visiting teachers. Mr. G. M, Jones, B. A., of Toronto, the principal speaker, gave three excellent addresses, one of which was delivered in the Methodist church Thursday evening, his subject being "Europe before and after."

The inspector and teachers of the inspectorate contributed the balance of the program, and splendid addresses were given. It was one of the most successful meetings ever held, and the teachers should carry away many ideas helpful to them, The next meeting will be held in Meaford. Following are the officers for the ensuing year:
