Many a schoolgirl is said to be lazy and shiftless when she doesn't deserve the least bit of it. She can't study, easily falls asleep, is nervous and tired-all the time. And what can you expect? Her brain is being fed with impure blood and her whole system is suffering from poisoning.

Such girls are wonderfully helped and greatly changed, by taking

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Hundreds of thousands of schoolgirls have taken it during the past 50 years. Many of these girls now have homes of their own. They remember what cured them, and now they give the same medicine to their own children. You can afford to trust a Sarsaparilla that has been tested for half a century.

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

COUNTING THE BABY.

I count one for the baby's chin,
With the pretty dimple in it;
I count two for the baby's mouth—
Kiss me, sweet, this minute!

I count three for the baby's cheek;
I count four for the other—
Cheeks of satin, soft and fair,
Leaning close to the mother.

I count five for the baby's eyes,
And six for the brow above them—
Laughing eyes that will not sleep,
Dearly do I love them!

Seven and eight for the baby's hands,
For the baby's feet nine, ten;
And now I begin with the baby's chin,
And count it all over again.

THE PRIEST'S UMBRELLA.

Picturing life "as it is was" in an Irish village, a contributor to the Cornhill Magazine diverges to tell a story of "Old Mike" who, with his wife Moira, occupied a mud cabin on the mountain.

To this mansion came his reverence one cold, showery morning in March, to hold a station. His umbrella was dripping, so, being a careful man, he placed it open in the space vacated by the animals, who were grazing outside.

When the congregation had dispersed after the usual devotions, the priest went for a stroll while Moira prepared his breakfast; for to entertain his reverence afterwards is the crowning honor of a station. He had not gone far when a heavy shower obliged him to take shelter under a tree and send a little gossoon back for his umbrella.

His reverence in shelter is athar sending me to bring his ombrell!" said the boy, bursting into the cabin.

"The saints preserve us!" said Mike. "Maybe it's the thing he left there beyant in the corner and seizing the umbrella, he tried to pass it through the door, but the entrance was low and narrow and the umbrella large and wide.

Without a moment's hesitation he caught up a spade and began shovelling down the wall at each side of the door.

"Man alive," said the priest, appearing on the scene, "whatever are you at?"

"Shure, it's makin' way I am for your riverence's ombrell," said Old Mike. "Not a bit of it 'll go through the door at all!"

"Ah, nonsense, man!" said his reverence, laughing; and stepping aside, he took the umbrella out of Moira's hand and closed it before them.

Old Mike stared at it aghast, then he turned to his wife. "Glory be to heaven, Moira!" he said. "Is there anything beyant the power of the priest.

Strength and Endurance

Are factors of the greatest success.

No person can do full justice to himself without them.

In no season of the year are they more easily exhausted than in the spring.

We need not discuss the reason for this here. It's enough to say there is one, and that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength and endurance, as thousands annually testify.

Trust everybody, but thyself most.

A GOOD STORY

A certain young lady in delicate health was advised by her doctor to take a half-teaspoonful of Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil after dinner—once a day—and found herself almost suddenly growing robust.

So small a dose is by no means the rule; the rule is whatever the stomach will bear—not more. Another rule is: take it on every least occasion, but not too much; don't overdo it.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

MUST CLOSE ON SUNDAY.

Text of the Law Concerning Barber Shops, Including Those in Hotels.

The following is a copy of the law requiring barber shops, including those in hotels, to close on Sunday:

No employer shall require, permit, or suffer any employee in any barber shop to work on Sunday, and no proprietor of any barber shop shall open his barber shop or permit the same to be opened to the public or carry on any business or work therein at any time between the hours of 9 o'clock Saturday night and 12 o'clock Sunday night.

Any employee or any proprietor of a barber shop who violates the provision of the preceding section shall on conviction thereof be liable to a penalty of not less than $20, besides costs, and in default of payment of the same shall be imprisoned for a period of not less than thirty days, and not more than six months.

A DENTIST'S QUEER WILL.

A dentist died in a rural town in England recently, after spending over fifty years pulling the molars of his fellow citizens. He had made it a hobby to keep all the teeth which he had drawn in the course of his professional career, and took great pride in the collection. When his will was opened it was found that he had ordered his collection of teeth to be placed with him in his coffin for burial. His heirs fulfilled his command, and almost thirty thousand teeth were put into the coffin with the dead dentist. If some archaeologist of the future century shall happen to open that grave, he will have "food for thought" and some difficulty, perhaps, in explaining the presence of so many teeth.

A CINCH.

"I should thing your mother would punish you for that," said the neighbor's little girl to one who had disobeyed.

"She can't," was the confident reply. "I've been sick, and I'm not well enough to be spanked yet, and she can't keep me in the house, because the doctor says I must have fresh air and exercise. Oh, I'm having a bully time."—Chicago Post.

Sore Feet.—Mrs. E. J. Neill, New Armah, P. Q., writes: "For nearly six months I was troubled with burning aches and pains in my feet to such an extent that I could not sleep at night, and as my feet were badly swollen I could not wear my boots for weeks. At last I got a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and resolved to try it and to my astonishment I got almost instant relief, and the one bottle accomplished a perfect cure.

"Ah," he protested, "my love for you is the greatest thing in the world. It is larger than the world. It is wider than the sea. Let me pour it into your ears."

"Sir!" ejaculated the fair maid. "Do you mean to insinuate anything about the size or shape of my ears?"

Mrs. Celesta Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of "Dyspepsia and Indigestion." One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose, without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required.

There is nothing more heroic than the ability to say no to yourself occasionally.

In The Morning.

You feel better of your sick headache or bilious spell. If you have taken a Laxa Liver Pill the night before. These little fellows work while you sleep without gripe or pain.

"I hear you are going to Australia with your husband, Kitty," said the mistress. "Aren't you nervous about the long voyage?"

"Well, ma'am," said Kitty, calmly "that's his lookout. I belong to him now, and if anything happens to me, it will be his loss, not mine."

It's not the weather that's at fault. It's your system, clogged with poisonous materials, that makes you feel dull, drowsy, weak and miserable. Let Burdock Blood Bitters clear away all the poisons, purify and enrich your blood, make you feel bright and vigorous.

Madigan—"Faith, I'm glad to hear it, for, by the powers, naither am I."

I feel better this morning, thank you. I took a Laxa-Liver Pill last night and it worked like a charm—headache and biliousness are all gone.

I've heard many ladies say they wouldn't be without Laxa-Liver Pills—they're such an easy pill to take, do not gripe or sicken, and cure constipation, dyspepsia, sour stomach, coated tongue, bad breath and all stomach and liver ills.

Nearly all infants are more or less subject to diarrhoea and such complaints while teething, and as this period of their lives is the most critical, mothers should not be without a bottle of Dr. J. The proprietors claim it will cure any case of cholera or summer complaint.

PIMPLES.

These Troublesome, Disfiguring Blemishes can be Removed by the all Powerful Blood Purifying Burdock Blood Bitters.

The nasty little pimples that come on the face and other parts of the body are simply indications that the blood is out of order and requires purifying.

They are little irritating reminders to you that you need a course of treatment with Burdock Blood Bitters.

When B.B.B. makes your blood pure then the pimples will vanish and your skin become soft and clear.

Here is evidence worth considering:

Mrs. Morrice Ketch, Bristol, Carleton Co., N.B., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending Burdock Blood Bitters to every one troubled with pimples. I was for years that I would break out with them at times on my face and back. I tried all sorts of remedies, including doctors' medicine, but everything failed to cure me.

"At last I heard of B.B.B. and thought I would try it.

"When I had finished taking two bottles I felt a great deal better, so kept on using it until I had taken in all six bottles. It has completely and permanently removed every pimple from my body and I never felt better in my life than I do at the present time.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.

A Canadian river steamer was the scene of an amusing blunder, which a Wisconsin paper describes as follows:

A lady passenger was taken ill in the night; a doctor's assistance was required, but the steamer did not carry a member of the profession. The list of passengers was read over in order to discover if there was a medical man among them, and happily there was the name, James Thompson, M. D.

The steward quickly ran to Dr. Thompson's berth, and aroused the occupant by vigorous blows on the door.

"What's the matter? Is the boat sinking?" came from within, in a startled tone.

"There's a passenger ill, and we want your assistance, doctor," replied the steward.

"What are you playing at?" growled the voice. "I ain't no doctor."

"Why, you have got 'M. D.' after your name."

"Well, I can put the letters after it if I like, can't I?" said the M. D. "That's my trade, I'm a mule driver."

A WASTED EFFORT.

"Yes, sir, I did my best to train my daughter up as an accomplished parliamentarian. I took her to meetings to give her a chance to listen to the rulings of able chairmen, and I had her learn the textbooks on the subject by heart. I thought I had her perfect in the business, but I was mistaken. She attended a convention not long ago, and pretty soon she had a chance to appeal from a decidedly unjust ruling of the chair, and how do you suppose she did it?"

"Well?"

"She was excited, you know, and this is what she said: "You are a mean old fright, and I just hate you! So there!" And then she burst into tears and sat down. No, sir, woman's nature will have to change before she will ever become a parliamentarian." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Benefit Derived From Using Milburn's Pills For Nervousness.

LOCUST HILL, Ont., Sept. 28th, 1900.

The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs,—I wish to let you know of the Benefit I have derived by using your Pills.

I am a widow with a family to support, and have to work hard, which is very trying on my nerves.

At night I was unable to sleep for hours after going to bed, and it seemed as if every nerve in my body was on the go.

I had a smothering, choking sensation, and had to spring out of bed to catch my breath.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done me so much good that I can recommend them highly to any person afflicted with heart and nerve troubles like I was.

Yours, with gratitude,
MRS. WM. HARPER.

Young lawyer—"Glad to hear it. But hadn't you better take me along? Perhaps he had better make his will."

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking taking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia.

Throwing dice seems to constitute a rattling good time with some people.

"My Kidneys are all Wrong! How shall I insure best results in the shortest time?" It stands to reason that a liquid specific of the unquestionable merit of South American Kidney Cure will go more directly and quickly to the seat of the trouble than the "pill form" treatment, and when it strikes the spot there's healing in an instant.—78

With his Back and Kidneys, but at last found relief in Doan's Pills.

Mr. P. Guillemette, under date of Jan. 26th, 1901, writes:

Dear Sirs,—For ten years I suffered from pains across my back, both sides and between my shoulders. In fact at times I was doubled up with pain, and my urine was highly colored. I saw Doan's Pills advertised, so procured four boxes and must say they have effected a complete cure. I owe my present good health to Doan's Pills and cannot recommend them too highly to any and all suffering from backache and kidney troubles.

Attention in the world of homœopathic medicine has been its very source of progress, as in politics and religion—the difficulties of opinions and the individuality of men have been parent to the disagreement by which the standard of these bodies have been elevated. So with most of our famous preparations—foremost in illustration of which truth stands the world-famous remedy to general debility and anguor, "Quinine Wine,"—and which when obtainable in its genuine strength, is a miraculous creator of appetite, vitality and stimulant, to the general fertility of the system. Quinine Wine, and its improvement, has, from the first discovery of the great virtues of Quinine as a medical agent, been one of the most thoroughly discussed remedies ever offered to the public. It is one of the great tonics and vital natural life-giving stimulants which the medical profession have been compelled to recognize and prescribe. Messrs. Northrop and Lyman, of Toronto, have given to the preparation of their pure Quinine Wine the great care due to its importance, and the standard excellence of the article which they offer to the public comes into the market, purged of all the defects which skilled observation and scientific opinion has pointed out in the less perfect preparations of the latter.
