M. O. H. Report For Artemesia, 1921

To the Council of Artemesia.

Gentlemen,—Your Medical Health officer respectfully submits the following report for year 1921 :

In January and February we had to deal with an epidemic of scarlet fever, chiefly confined to the vicinity of Ceylon, which abated only by rigorous measures of quarantining and thoroughly disinfecting. The early reporting to the Board of Health of suspected cases of scarlet fever on this occasion would have saved much expense, loss of time and spread of the disease. The early reporting of infectious diseases is one measure we never thoroughly emphasize and one that demands more attantion in the future.

Later we had a few slight cases of measles, which were promptly quarantined, disinfected and thus ended vary saaisfactorily. We also had one three case family with smallpox which, I must say, was a very fortunate thing ; this was dealt with very satisfactorily, being rigorously quarantined and thus prevented a further outbreak.

In addition to attending the Provincial Board of Health meeting at Toronto and those held in the municipality, your Medical Health Officer made many investigations into matters regarding the health of the community. He also visited and inspected all the schools and school buildings in the township and found them in a satisfactory sanitary condition, reports of this nature being sent to the school board of each school section. Too much stress cannot be laid upon this matter and it is to the health and welfare of the pupils that this question surely deserves more attention and not neglect.

Markdale

C E. Walden proprietor of the Regent Theatre, was put up against a tough proposition on Monday. He had advertised a special picture "Black Beauty" for that evening but when the noon train arrived there were no films on board. A telephone message to Toronto elicited the information that the parcel had been overlooked and there was nothing left but to use autos in its transportation. The supply house delivered them to Orangeville and Walden got them here in time to start the show but a few minutes late. There was a large crowd in attendance and the seating capacity of the building was used to the limit. It was a good picture and was worth the extra effort put forth to get here on time.-Standard.

Dundalk

Dr. Martin, who is ill in Fergus Hospital, is reported to be suffering much pain since the operation but is making progress.

We regret to report that Wm. Orr, the local cattle dealer, is critically ill since Friday at his home. That day he was stricken with partial paralysis. A nurse from Toronto is in charge, and his physician, Dr. Carter, says he is a very sick man. Dr. Hutchinson, specialist, of Toronto, was here in consultation on Monday.—Herald.

A Remarkable Escape

The Paisley Advocate says that while driving home late one night recently with a horse and buggy Wilfred Grant met with an experience which he would want to have duplicated during the remainder of his lifetime. As he came opposite D. McKenzie's on Goldie St. his horse suddenly lurched off the road and fell across the sidewalk. Jumping out of the buggy he immediately grasped the animal's head in an endeavor to assist the beast to its feet, as being a dark night he could not see what the trouble was. However, in groping in the darkness his hand came in contact with an electric wire and he immediately became aware of the actual trouble and danger, and wasted no time in removing himself from the scene of the accident. Upon rousing the residents and procuring a lantern it was found that the horse had been killed almost instantly. There had been an unusually strong north wind that night and two poles supporting the electric wires had been blown down over the road, with the above mentioned result. The fact that Wilfred happened at the time to be wearing rubbers and gloves probably saved him, but at any rate it was certainly a narrow escape.
