Montgomery, well known here, now a teacher in a Toronto Model school, is a son. Thomas, another son, lives near Paisley. The deceased lady was in the neighborhood of 80 years of age.

One of the largest crowds that ever packed the auditorium of the Methodist Church attended the annual anniversary entertainment of the Sunday School on Monday night. Recitations, drills, solos and two Hawaiin trio numbers, besides the cantata, delighted the large audience. The proceeds of the evening amounted to $103.50. Only one other year was this amount exceeded, and then it was with a 35 cent charge.

Mr. Fred McTavish brought up a new light McLaughlin car from Oshawa on Friday last. The run, however, was not a joy ride by any means. The last lap of the journey, from Shelburne up, was the worst, where drifts were encountered and it took over five hours to get through the last ten miles. Several times he had to shovel himself out and four times teams were requisitioned to get through the snow obstructions. He left Oshawa Thursday afternoon and came through from Toronto on Friday, but it took him a day. Fred was pretty well all in when he got home between 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening.

Write it 1922.

Mr. Al Swanton of Toronto visited with his friend, Frank Bunt, over the holiday, both returning to Toronto on Tuesday.

Watson Hungerford died in the Owen Sound hospital last week after lingering for 100 days with a broken neck, sustained in an auto accident.

A chimney fire at the residence of A Shackleford on Saturday afternoon during the wild wind and snow storm of that day, created a good deal of excitement in town. Tho roof was smoking around the chimney, and had it once broken into flame nothing would have saved the fine two storey brick dwelling, owing to the fierce hurricane that was blowing at the time.

The showing the band made at the rink on Friday evening last and also on Monday makes us wonder if a band could again be started in Flesherton. In years past Flesherton had as good a band as there was in this part of the country. The only need is of money to buy the instruments. There is plenty of good material here for the forming of a good band. How about it?

A meeting of the Shareholders of the skating rink was held on Dec. 28th at the Munshaw House. Geo. McTavish was elected President for the ensuing year. The office of Secretary and Treasurer is combined, Mr. S. deCudmore will fill the position. The finances were reported in good condition. Mr. Fred Mathewson is caretaker for the season, which promises to be a good one.

A hedge opposite the house of refuge at the suburbs of Markdale is coming in just now for a great deal of adverse criticism. This hedge causes the road at that point to drift up very badly. The property is owned by the county and our municipal Councils advocate and assist the building of wire fences to prevent this very difficulty. The County Council is a transgressor in this respect and should fall in line with the wire fence idea instead of maintaining a nuisance.

Old Citizen Passes

There passed away at Kimberley on Saturday morning last, Dec. 31st, one of Artemesia's oldest settlers in the person of Margaret Irwin, wife of Robert Thompson of Kimberley. The late Mrs. Thompson was born in Fermanagh, Ireland, 72 years ago and at the age of 12, together with her parents, and seven other children she came to Canada and settled in Artemesia township. She married George Murphy, the union being blessed with five sons and four daughters—Will, Oliver and Samuel at Vancouver and Dan in Saskatchewan; Tom, who died in 1915; Mrs W Carter and Mrs Wright of Toronto, Mrs Johnston and Mrs Sykes in Saskatchewan; Mrs Jake Thompson, a sister, and Oliver Irwin, a brother, of Kimberley, are the surviving members of the family. Four years ago she married Robert Thompson of Kimberley.

The late Mrs Thompson was a lifelong member of the Methodist church and much respected by all who knew her. The fullest sympathy of the community in which she lived goes out to the family in their bereavement.

The Hen Died

(Sidney, C. B., Experimental Farm note)

A short time ago the death of White Wyandotte hen No B 162 occurred at the experimental station, Sidney, B. C. Since this hen has had so much to do with the present high production of our strain of white wyandottes now kept at this station, her name deserves a place in the "hall of fame" of the poultry world and her achievement told in atory.

No B 162 was hatched May 1st, 1917, and laid her first egg October 30th, 1917, being 182 days old. Her total record was: 1st year 257 eggs, 2nd year 153 eggs, 3rd year 107 eggs, 4th year 4 eggs, making a total of 521 eggs. Of these 85 were laid in the winter of the first year, 34 during the winter of the seaond, 32 during the winter of the third, and 4 during the fourth, At time of laying her first egg her body weight was 5¼ pounds. Her eggs averaged 25 ounces to the dozen.

That her pullets inherited her high producing qualities was evidenced by their production. In 1919 twelve of her pullets gave an average of 232 eggs, the individual production being from 176 to 289 eggs. Of two pullets hatched in 1920 one gave 288 eggs and one gave 243 eggs, with two months to complete her year. The second year average for her pullets was also good, but as yet are not complete.

B 192 was never broody. She was attending so strictly to her business of egg production that she had no time. It would seem that this character was also transmitted, for only three of her daughters have ever lost ime because of broodiness.

Much has been written and said about the importance of the male in the flock from the standpoint of high production. He does occupy an important place, but we are more and more convinced with the years that if we are to obtain high production, and to hold it, that the trait must be in the blood of the dem as well as in that of the sire.

A Wonderful Invention

Rev. R M. Haller of Deemerton, has possession of an instrument known as the Radio Telegraph and Telephone, which is one of the wonders of the age. The machine arrived a few days ago, and although the expert has not yet arrived to properly instal it, Father Haller has succeeded in obtaining some wonderful results. On Tuesday, for instance, by "Listening in" he received by wireless the correct time from the U. S. Observatory, the weather forecasts from the U. S. Naval Station, all the financial market quotations from Wall Street, New York, and heard an open air concert at New Jersey and another in West Virginia. All the latest news is obtainable by this wonderful instrument, so that daily newspapers are almost superflous. When the machine is properly installed, even better results may be hoped for. Snow blockades will not now isolate the village of Deemerton, as this instrument will put one in touch with all parts of the continent.

Died After Fall On Ice

George Drinkwater, aged 69 years, a resident of Amabel township, fell on the ice while skating on some ice in a field, striking the back of his head. His skate caught in a weed frozen in the ice as he was skating backward and as a result he was thrown heavily on the ice, striking the back of his head in the fall. For a few moments he was stunned but then got up and proceeded home without complaining of suffering any pain. On retiring for the night his head began to pain him and medical aid was summoned but he passed away that evening, his death being a result of internal bleeding.
