EASTER.

"It lay all day, and it lay all night,
Hidden away from the cheerful light!
It was dusted away and swept aside
And they said "It has died!"
"The thing is dead!"
"And that is the end! the end!"
They said.

But lo! the chrysalis cracked and broke,
And the thing that was sleeping inside awoke
And it rolled and turned in its narrow bed.
"Why it lives," they said
And the outstretched thing
Was a beautiful butterfly's
Fairy wing.

Someday we, too, shall be at rest
In this dull, cold shell of a body dressed,
In the dust we too shall be laid away.
"This is death," they say, "is death
A friend?"
Or can this be really the end,
The end?"

But in God's good time we shall flog aside
The cold dead shell where our body died,
And out of the dust we shall rise again,
Without fear of pain,
Nay do not weep
For in God's good time we shall
Wake from sleep.

There never was and never will be a universal panacea in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir What would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the others. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a pound, unadulterated state a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves those to whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy, animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result strengthening the frame and giving life to the digestive organs which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine By the opinion of scientists, the wine approaches nearest perfection of any of the market. All druggists sell it

WRITING ON THE TRAIN.

Coming from New York in a parlor car a woman had occasion to write a telegram. Owing to the jolting of the train she was having a pretty hard time of it, when the porter, seeing her trouble went away and came back with a cushion.

"Write on this lady," he said, "and you'll get along all right. No matter how rough we may be going, you'll find that resting the writing pad on a cushion in your lap will always take the jar off. That's a trick we learn very soon in this business." The woman took the cushion and used it as suggested, and found that the porter was right. The violent shaking of the pad was almost entirely overcome, and the writing was legible and smooth.

A THIRSTY CAT.

"Perhaps you think the old water in the milk joke has been worked to death, but I've found a new variation of it," said a south side man recently. "You know, I have a small negro girl as a nurse for my children, and one of her duties is to tell stories to the kids just before bedtime. They always listen intently to what she says, and last night I decided to listen too. This is what I heard:

"'An' de cat, she got thirsty, an' got thirstier an' mo' thirsty, an' finally she went to a pan ob milk sittin' in de pantry to get a drink ob watah."

"I told the story to our milkman this morning, and he didn't laugh at all."

MR. GERARDY'S ROMANCE.

A romantic story is told of M. Jean Gerardy, the famous 'cellist.

A few years ago he broke off his engagement with a lady between whom and himself there existed the greatest affection, purely because he felt it was wrong and selfish of any artist who knew that his life must be a roaming one to ask another to share it.

For two years he remained firm to his purpose, but the lady was present in the front row at his recital in London last November, and he was so deeply moved by seeing her once more that at the subsequent meeting they became engaged again, and are to be married in the early spring.

Many Women Suffer
UNTOLD AGONY FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Very often they think it is from so-called "Female Disease." There is less female trouble than they think. Women suffer from backache, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, and a dragging-down feeling in the loins. So do men, and they do not have "female trouble." Why, then, blame all your trouble to Female Disease? With healthy kidneys, few women will ever have "female disorders." The kidneys are so closely connected with all the internal organs, that when the kidneys go wrong, everything goes wrong. Much distress would be saved if women would only take

STOP, WOMEN!

AND CONSIDER THE
ALL-IMPORTANT
FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions, and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result.

First letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have a severe female trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimnick, 50th and E. Capitol Sts., Washington, D. C.

Second letter

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me.

"As you know, I wrote you that my doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I then wrote you, telling you my ailments. I followed your advice and am entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I owe my life to you and to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wish every suffering woman would read this testimonial and realize the value of writing to you and your remedy."—Mrs. Mary Dimnick, 50th and E. Capitol Streets, Washington, D.C.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women whose testimony is so unquestionable, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Your selfish man is the centre of an admiring crowd—and he's the crowd.

Does Your FOOD
Digest Well?

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body and the purpose of eating is defeated; no matter how good the food or how carefully adapted to the wants of the body it may be. Thus the dyspeptic often becomes thin, weak and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vim are lost, and in their place come dullness, lost appetite, depression and languor. It takes no great knowledge to know when one has indigestion, some of the following symptoms generally exist, viz.: constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, headache, heartburn, gas in the stomach, etc.

The great point is to cure it, to get back bounding health and vigor.

BURDOCK

is constantly effecting cures of dyspepsia because it acts in a natural yet effective way upon all the organs involved in the process of digestion, removing all clogging impurities and making easy the work of digestion and assimilation.

Mr. R. H. Harvey, Amherstburg, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years and after using three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I cannot praise B.B.B. enough for what it has done for me. I have not had a sign of dyspepsia since."

Do not accept a substitute for B.B.B. There is nothing "just as good."

KNEW HIM AT ONCE.

There are other sure ways of bringing a man to mind besides mentioning his name. Among the candidates who were sent from Princeton to a Philadelphia Church was one young man whose language was of the sort which dazzles and delights the younger members of a congregation and sometimes pleases the elders as well. In this case the committee were besieged to ask for the young man again, and they consented, but unfortunately the man to whom lot it fell to write the letter had forgotten the candidate's name. Nothing daunted, he wrote to one of the seminary professors:

"Please send us that flowerot, streamlet, rivulet, cloudlet, starlight and moonbeam young man again. We've forgotten his name, but we've no doubt you'll recognize him."

"We do," wrote the professor. And the desired candidate was sent and subsequently was called to the parish.

CURE FOR DANDRUFF.

Put 5 cents' worth of flowers of sulphur and a quart of soft water in a clean glass bottle big enough to admit of violent shaking. Shake several times a day for a week, then let stand until the water is clear. Pour it off, strain and bottle. Rub well into the scalp with the tips of the fingers. This is a sure cure for dandruff, and it also gives the hair a beautiful gloss.

Afflicted With Rheumatism.

"I was and am yet afflicted with rheumatism," says Mr. J. C. Bayne, editor of the Herald, Addington, Indian Territory, "but thanks to Chamberlain's Pain Balm am able to attend to business. It is the best of liniments." If troubled with rheumatism give Pain Balm a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with prompt relief which it affords. One application relieves the pain. For sale by all druggists.

Evil habits, when they once settle are more easily broken than mended.—Quintilian.

DR. WOOD'S

NORWAY PINE SYRUP

Stops the irritating cough, loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed tissues of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and produces a quick and permanent cure in all cases of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and the first stages of Consumption.

Mrs. Norma Swanston, Cargill, Ont., writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I had a very bad cold, could not sleep at night for the coughing and had pains in my chest and lungs. I only used half a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and was perfectly well again."

Price 25 cents a bottle.

Many give themselves more trouble to raise doubts than to scatter them.—Lessing.

"A Grand Medicine" is the encomium often passed on Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, and when the results from its use are considered, as born out by many persons who have employed it in stopping coughs and eradicating colds, it is more than grand. Kept in the house it is always at hand and it has no equal as a ready remedy. If you have not tried it, do so at once.

Something More Than a Purgative.—To purge is the only effect of many pills now on the market. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are more than a purgative. They strengthen the stomach, where other pills weaken it. They cleanse the blood by regulating the liver and kidneys, and they stimulate where other pill compounds depress. Nothing of an injurious nature, used for merely purgative powers, enters into their composition.
