IN THE DO-IT-LATER LAND.

Have you ever bought a handful
Of the the well-I-mean-to-sand,
That is used to build the castles
In the do-it-later land?
It's a very pleasant country,
And it's not so far away,
But you can go and back again
Quite fifty times a day.

There the sun is always shining,
All the work you have to do
Is to build yourself a castle—
It seems very easy, too.
Just to say, "I'll do it later,"
And your castle is begun,
But the strangest thing about it,
Is, no castle's ever done.

Tho' some one is always building,
Working hard with might and main,
Yet no sooner is one started,
Then it tumbles down again.
After all, it's not so funny,
Did you ever see a land
That was all made up of castles,
Built of well-I-mean-to-sand?

BRAY'S ENEMY.

"Please, Mr. Jones, there's a little boy at the back gate to see you."

"At the back gate? Bring him in of course."

"He won't come, she says he's awful busy and hasn't time."

"How big is he?"

"About as big as my fist, sir," said Peter.

The good-natured gentleman went out to the back gate. "Well, country man," he said pleasantly, "what can I do for you?"

The small boy—for he was a very small boy—took off a soft, dirty hat and held it behind him. "I've come to tell you, sir that Bray's got to be killed."

"Bray, my big Newfoundland dog. And who sent you here with that information?" asked the gentleman losing his pleasant looks.

"Nobody sent me," the boy replied. "I've come by myself. Bray has run'd my sheep for three days. He's got to be killed."

"Where did you get my sheep?" ask Mr. Jones.

"My sheep are Mr. Ransom's. He gives me fifteen cents a week for watching 'em."

"Did you tell Mr. Ransom that Bray had been running them?"

"No sir, I telled you."

"Ah, that's well. I don't want to kill Bray. Suppose I give you fifteen cents a week for not telling Mr. Ransom when Bray runs his sheep; how would that do?"

As soon as the little shepherd got the idea into his head, he scornfully rejected it. "That'd be paying me for a lie," he said, indignantly.

When he said this Mr. Jones took off his own hat and reached down and took the small, dirty hand in his. "Hurrah, herdsman!" said he. "I beg your pardon for offering you a bribe. Now I know that the keeper of Mr. Ransom's sheep is not afraid of a man who is four times his size, but that he's afraid of a lie. Hurrah for you! I am going to tell Mr. Ransom that if he doesn't raise your wages I shall offer you twice fifteen cents and take you into my service. Meanwhile Bray shall be shut up while your sheep are on my side of the hill. Will that do? All right, then. Good morning, countryman." — English Magazine.

There never was and never will be a universal panacea in one remedy for all ills to which flesh is heir. What would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the others. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtained in a sound, unadulterated state a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on Nature's own restoratives. It relieves those to whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and by tranquilizing the nerves disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which being stimulated, courses through the veins, strengthening the healthy, animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result strengthening the frame and giving life to the digestive organs which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine By the opinion of scientists, the wine approaches nearest perfection of any on the market. All druggists sell it.

"You look weary," commented the Arctic explorer. "No wonder," replied the heavy-eyed Eskimo; "the baby has been crying all night." "Indeed?" "Yes; and that's exactly five months and six days so far."

COMFORT AT ANY COST.

The ways of the newly rich continue to afford amusement, both to those not yet rich and to those who have long been so. There is a good story, says Mrs. John Lane, in a recent essay, which is an addition to the general fund of such humor.

A certain magnate was giving a dinner. After the ladies returned to the drawing-room the hostess, tinkling and glittering with diamonds, leaned back in a great tufted chair and shivered slightly. A footman went in search of her maid.

"Francoise," said the magnate's lady with languid magnificence, "I feel chilly; bring me another diamond necklace."

A VEXING PEOPLE.

When Dr. Mandell Creighton, afterward Bishop of London, was Vicar of Embleton, he often gave as his evening sermon a clear expository discourse on one of the Psalms or an epistle.

Mrs. Creighton, in the biography of her husband, quotes a fine unconscious tribute to the directness with which Creighton brought the meaning of the Bible home to the plain Northumbrian people.

A devout old woman, a constant attendant at church, was much distressed at having the short comings of the Corinthian Christians made so clear.

"O them Corinthians!" she ejaculated. "I've no patience with them."

SPARKLES.

Miss Assum—"And do you really think it is possible for a man to love two girls at the same time?" Mrl Gallay—"Sure I provided it also isn't at the same place."

Sunday School Teacher—"What is conscience?" A dead silence. Sunday School Teacher—"What do we call the thing that tells us when we do wrong?" Little Ethel—"Grandma."

"All the little boys and girls who want to go to Heaven," said the Sunday School Superintendent, "will please rise." All rose but Tommy Twaddles. "And doesn't this little boy want to go to Heaven?" "N-not yit!"

"How goes the fight against the taxes, Brother Higgins?" "Wa-al, I ain't like on one some the country fair, pahson."

Her—"I hear that George and Kitty have made up their quarrel." She—"Only temporarily. They're going to be married soon."

"You seem to have lost flesh while you were out at that summer resort." "Yes. I had a large gold suit and could not run when the bell was rung for dinner."

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURES Dyspepsia, Boils, Pimples, Headaches, Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scrofula, and all troubles arising from the Stomach, Liver, Bowels or Blood.

Mrs. A. Lethangue, of Ridgetown, Ont., writes: "I believe I would have been in my grave long ago had it not been for Burdock Blood Bitters. I was run down to such an extent that I could scarcely move about the house. I was subject to severe headaches, backaches and dizziness; my appetite was gone and I was unable to do my housework. After using two bottles of B.B.B. I found my health fully restored. I warmly recommend it to all tired and worn out women.

Paraffine put on a stone floor may be removed by rubbing bath brick over the mark and letting it stay till next day, then wash in the usual way and the floor will be perfectly clean.

Known to Thousands.—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills regulate the action of the secretions, purify the blood and keep the stomach and bowels free from deleterious matter. Taken according to direction they will overcome dyspepsia, eradicate biliousness, and leave the digestive organs healthy and strong to perform their function. Their merits are well-known to thousands who know by experience how beneficial they are giving tone to the system.

Stains on the hands can be removed by acetic acid or salts of lemon, and ink marks will soon yield to pumice stone.

Many a man who dictates to his stenographer takes orders from his wife.

—A Sound Stomach Means a Clear Head—The high pressure of a nervous life which business men of the present day are constrained to live make draughts upon their vitality highly detrimental to their health. It is only by most careful treatment that they are able to keep themselves alert and active in their various callings, many of them know the value of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills in regulating the stomach and consequently keeping the head clear.

When dressing a baby the clothes should not be drawn over its head, but instead run the hand through the garment, take the child by the feet, lightly off the body, and slip the clothing up from the feet.

TO CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY

Take a Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablet. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. E. W. Grove's signature on each box. 25 cents.

Hickie's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is an unparalleled remedy for colds, coughs, influenza and diseases of the throat and lungs. The fame of the medicine rests upon years of successful use in eradicating those affections, and in protecting mankind from the fatal ravages of consumption, and as a neglected cold leads to consumption, one cannot be too careful to fight it in its early stages. Hickie's Syrup is the weapon, use it.

PRINCIPLE AS A GUIDE.

Principle is the only guide that is reliable. When one is controlled by self interest, he is never quite certain whether to take the turning to the right or to the left. Very often the thing which he fancies will bring him benefits, turns out to be a disappointment, and he ruefully wishes that he had done the other. But the one who is trying to do right faces no such uncertainty. He does not need to trouble himself as to how his choice will turn out. All that is necessary for him to follow principle, regardless of where it leads.

The Famous Pedestrian

Gentlemen:—

"I was a martyr to catarrh of the head, throat and stomach. I was so bad the doctors feared consumption. I tried many physicians and medicines. A friend suggested Psychine, I tried it and it was the only thing ever did me any good. I am now perfectly well. It is the greatest remedy the world has ever known. I do not need it for my health now but I use it as a strengthener for my walking matches. I owe much of my physical endurance to Psychine."

JAMES REYNOLDS,
Port Hope, Ont.

Psychine is the greatest cure for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach in the world. It is a wonderful tonic and strengthener of run down system, acting directly on all the vital organs, giving youthful vigor and strength to the system. At all druggists 50c. and $1, or Dr. T. A. SHE IS A WISE WOMAN.

Who keeps in mind that a little credit is a dangerous thing.

Who's able to mend both her husband's clothes and his ways.

Who has learned the paradox that to have joy one must give it.

Who can tell the difference between her first child and a genius.

Who most admires those eyes which belong to a man who understands her.

Who acknowledges the allowance made by her husband by making allowances for him.

Who appreciates that the largest room in any house is that left for self-improvement.

Who manages to keep not only her house and her temper, but her servants and her figure as well.

Who gets off a trolley-car the right way—though she runs the risk, of being arrested as a man in disguise.—Warwick James Price, in Walton's Magazine.

PAT'S AGE.

On a motor-car tour of the County Mayo, which the Earl of Altamont made with "Mairtin," an Irishgyasson, for general assistant, they passed a neat little cottage, with a pretty bit of garden.

"Who lives there?" asked the earl.

"Is it there? Mairtin said, indignantly. "Sure, doesn't ould Pat Murphy live there."

"Oh, does he?" said the earl, not knowing in the least, as he confesses in English Country Life, who "ould Pat Murphy" was.

"Deed he does," said Mairtin, "and him a hundred if he's a day—so he is."

"One hundred years old!" the earl said, in astonishment.

"Deed and he is," reiterated Mairtin. "He's been dead these three years, and he was ninety-eight when he died."

More Terrible Than War!

More terrible than war, famine or pestilence is that awful destroyer, that hydra-headed monster, Consumption, that annually sweeps away more of earth's inhabitants than any other single disease known to the human race.

"It is only a cold, a trifling cough," say the careless, as the irritation upon the delicate mucous membrane causes them to hack away with an irritable tickling of the throat. When the irritation settles on the mucous surface of the throat, a cough is the result. To prevent Bronchitis or Consumption of the Lungs, do not neglect a cough however slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages soon leads to fatal results. If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the life-giving properties of the pine trees of Norway, and for Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough and all Throat and Lung affections it is a specific. Be sure when you ask for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to get it. Don't be humbugged into taking something else. Price 25 cts.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Miss Lena Johnston, Toledo, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for throat troubles after taking numerous other remedies, and I must say that nothing can take the place of it. I would not be without a bottle of it in the house."

THREE Trying Times in A WOMAN'S LIFE WHEN MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS are almost an absolute necessity towards her future health.

The first when she is just budding from girlhood into the full bloom of womanhood.

The second period that constitutes a special drain on the system is during pregnancy.

The third and the one most liable to leave heart and nerve troubles is during "change of life."

In all three periods Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will prove of wonderful value to tide over the time. Mrs. James King, Cornwall, Ont., writes: "I was troubled very much with heart trouble—the same being to a great extent due to "change of life." I have been taking your Heart and Nerve Pills for some time, and mean to continue doing so, as I can truthfully say they are the best remedy I have ever used for building up the system. You are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of other sufferers."

More proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures sick women.

"A friend suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the proper medicine for me. I procured a bottle of this remedy and began taking, and before it was finished, I felt so much better that I continued its use and gave it a thorough test, with the result I am to-day well and a much healthier girl than I was three years ago. I have no more painful periods, dizziness or nervous troubles."
