For the benefit of some people who break the law in this vicinity in regard to the allowing of animals to run at large we would again state that animals are prohibited from running at large on the provincial highway. The following fines will be imposed: Horses $5 each, cows $3 each, dogs and all other animals $1 each and costs to be added in every case. This should be sufficient warning to all. The government has instructed all highway officers to prosecute in every case.

A strange story has reached us of a cyclone which struck the farm of George Day, who lives two miles south of Creemore, on Thursday afternoon of last week. Mr. Day's house, barn and driving shed were lifted bodily from their foundations and scattered in all directions. The family, including two little children, were whirled through the air along with the debris, but none of them were killed, altkough all were more or less bruised. The farm next adjoining was untouched. The following day a hundred neighbors gathered and put up a temporary frame house and kitchen for the distressed family.

Flesherton Lodge 2855 Celebrates at Markdale

The L.O.L. celebration in Markdale on July 12th was a wonderful success. Thirty-one lodges took part in the parade and these with several bands made the parade one of the longest ever seen in the village of Markdale. Flesherton Lodge No 2855 turned out en masse with some thirty members and, led by the Flesherton band, gave a real good showing, better than some of the older lodges.

After the parade there were speeches in the Markdale Armouries. Speeches were given by many prominent Orangemen who all reiterated their devotion to the British Empire and all it stood for. Many speakers expressed their disapproval of events such as are taking place in Ireland now and hoped that they would soon cease and peace would come over the troublous Isle. The Hon. I.B. Lucas was chairman with him on the platform were, Rev. W. E. Curran, of Corbeton; Rev. John Lennox, of Temple Hill; William Keys, County Master of East Grey; William Ormiston, County Master, West Grey; Rev. J. H. Douglas of Kemble; George R Gawley, Past County Master, West Grey; Joshua Larter, Past County Master, West Grey; R.W. E. McFadden, Markdale; Rev J S Veals, Kimberley, and Rev Jno Coburn, Past Grand Chaplain, Ontario West.

For the people who did not wish to listen to the speeches there was sports galore. Football, baseball and lacrosse each had its devotees.

The lodges which took part in the parade were:—

Owen Sound Pipe Band; O. S. True Blues, 229; O. S. Coronation, 846; Markdale 1045; Flesherton Band; Flesherton, 2854; Vandeleur, 1383; Artemesia, 1122; Eugenia, 1118; Ceylon, 883; Proton, 509; Orange Valley, 224; Earnscliff, 1102; Fife and Drum Band; Pipe Band; Swinton Park, 1136; Hatherton, 887; Dundalk Band; Dundalk, 797; Gideon, 1202; Proton, 1745; (Coronation); Kimberley, 1340; Goring, 1295; Rocklyn, 973; Victoria, 224; Jackson 1247; Kilsyth, 540; Chatsworth, 1125, Horning's Mills; Sarawak, 1302; Wolseley, 1231; Owen Sound, 1319; Hearts of Oak, 2044; Griersville, 576; Bay View, 198; Temple Hill, 894.

A Feline Nimrod

A remarkable case of feline prowess in the hunting field has came to our attention. Mr. H. Carrington of the suburbs owns this remarkable feline Nimrod, and the cat is provider for a family of young cats, who in time, owing to the careful lessons now being taught them, will no doubt become just as mighty hunters as their mother, and the breed will be worth peryetuating

This cat's record is almost unbelievable, but it is vouched for by all the members of Mr. Carrington's family. During one week recently, from Monday morning until Saturday night, pussy captured eight wild rabbits in the small swamps not far from her home. Of course she does not hunt on Sunday. She also captured two groundhogs, and squirrels, birds, chipmonks and mice in quantity. No cat larder was ever as well supplied.

A peculiar thing about her hunting proclivities is that this cat always brings her prey home alive, and will never proceed to portion it out among her progeny until she has attracted the attention of the family and proudly drawn their attention to her prowess. The rabbits and groundhogs were larger than the cat herself and must have entailed a lot of hard work on pussy's part to get them home intact and with life still in them.

FLESHERTON -- ONTARIO

Old Home Concert

The old home concert given last Thursday evening by the W I in aid of the memorial fund was well attended and a fine program was given by artists who at one time lived at or near Flesherton and also those who are at present here. Mr Ellwood Genoa was unable to be present on account of illness and much disappointment was expressed. Miss Marguerite Runstadler of Flesherton who is an ex-pupil of Mr Genoe in elocution, delighted the audience with her several numbers and is a real artist. Miss Irene Wilson, also of town, gave a fine soprano solo. Miss Badgerow of Toronto, formerly of Portlaw, was another talented singer who gave several numbers. Miss Emily Acheson also assisted with a splendidly rendered reading. Other numbers were, violin solo by Master Carl Bowler, duett by Misses Nora and Doris Bowler and Hilda Williams and Miss Glendenning of Toronto. Miss McPhail, M P, was in the audience and b ing asked to speak said she had not intended to say anything but just enjoy the concert. However, she said she wished she could have come back home and told the people of her constituency that the country was run by the people, but she couldn't do so, as it was run by five or six men down at Ottawa. About $85 was taken in at the door.
