Flesherton Schools Re-open

The Flesherton high school opened on Tuesday for the fall term with Miss Jennie McDowell as principal, and Miss King and Miss Holmes as assistants. At present there are sixty one students in attendance, 24 in 1st form, 15 in 2nd form, 22 in 3rd form and more are expected in a week or so. The past year has been a very successful one for the the Flesherton school, as under the new regulations the per cent. passed was up to the mark of the schools around us. Miss McDowell is a talented teacher and has, in the past, been a success as principal. Big things are expected of the high school this year.

In the public school Mr. R. G. Holland is principal and Miss Nelson is again his assistant.

The Wingham Times Says:—"According to Sir Adam Beck, the Hydro municipalities all recognize the fairness of the present system of fixing power rates. These include Toronto, Toronto, Toronto and Toronto."

The reopening ceremony at the Baptist church was observed on Sunday last, when the pastor, Rev. Vose, gave a special sermon. The choir furnished excellent music.

Mr. S. Huff, public school inspector for East Grey, returned last week from a two months' auto trip to Canada's West, and was accompanied by his wife. The trip was made with practically no tire trouble.

F. C. Blakely of Minneapolis, Mrs. R. W. Blakely and Robbie Blakely of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. F. Davie of Owen Sound, Mrs. E. Sparling and Miss Marion Sparling of Rocklyn, visited with W. A. and Mrs. Hawken.

Mr. Harry Patton received a painfu injury the other day. While drawing a water tank for a threshing outfit a wheel came off and pitched the tank forward on the horses, knocking one down. Mr Patton was thrown over the animal lighting on the ground. His arm was broken between elbow and wrist.

A great many people do not like Mr. Biggs' road policy, and look upon it as highway robbery. Others admire the "grit" he possesses. It requires a lot Minister of Highways for the "sand" and of such commodities to make a 60 foot concrete highway.

The school teachers from Flesherton who have returned to their schools are:—Miss Lillian Bunt to Toronto; Ruby Caswell to Durham, Dell Thurston to Cooksville and Elsie Caswell to Portlaw.

Two special officers have been engaged for the past week in taking a census of the traffic over the Toronto line in this vicinity. We do not understand the object, unless it be to determine the most important section to begin the "broadening out" contemplated by Mr. Biggs.

Miss Rose McGirr of Feversham and Miss Annie Stephens of Maxwell, who attended Flesherton high school last year, and who took a special course at Bracebridge, have both been successful in securing district certificates and both have secured schools near Bracebridge.

A Walkerton man threw a lighted cigarette stub on the sidewalk. A sparrow swooped down, annexed it and flew to its nest in a knot hole in a building. It did not result in a fire, but that wasn't the fault of the man who threw down the lighted stub. Probably more fires than are dreamed of start in this very way.

Will the parties whom I caught stealing pears from my orchard on the Carson farm on Monday, September 4, please come for their four empty bags and settle for the pears that they carried away in the other two? I was within six feet of them and neither one wore a false face, and as the moonlight was bright both are known—John Flynn.

Killed In Runaway

Son of George White Succumbs to Injuries

A sad fatality occurred about 2 p.m. two mile south of Flesherton on the Toronto Line Thursday afternoon of last week, when Freddie, the eleven year old son of Mr. George White, was fatally injured in a runaway. The lad with a younger brother was drawing stone with a team of horses and stoneboat. Both lads were riding on the stoneboat when the team for some reason ran away and the boys were thrown off. Evidently the stoneboat struck the elder boy in some way. The younger boy ran to the house and said Freddie was all blood. James Harrison, a neighbor, saw the team run and went over to give assistance. At first he thought the boy was dead and picked him up and carried him to the house. Drs. Turnbull and Guy were called but could do nothing and the little fellow passed away about 7 o'clock in the evening without having gained consciousness. The injury was to the head, although there was little outward evidence of injury.

Flesherton Schools Have Poor Water

Dr. Neelands, a lady representative of the Public Health Department at Toronto, was in town the middle of last month and examined the high and public schools and secured samples of the water supplied at these Institutions. Dr. Bibby, M. O. H., has now received the Department report which reads as follows:

"These samples show the presence of bacteria of intestinal origin. The number of baceili present in No. 457 reaches that ordinarily considered dangerous to health. The result of course should be considered in connection with the sanitary survey of the surroundings."

The above means that something will have to be done to eliminate the danger from water supplied to both schools. The drainage problem is at the base of the trouble and is not beyond remedy.

Unveiling of a Tablet

In memory of Matthew K Richardson, a prominent member and official of the Flesherton Methodist church for many years, a tablet has been presented by his family to the Methodist church. The presentation and unveiling took place at the morning service on Sunday last and was made by his son, Dr. E. K. Richardson of Toronto in the presence of members of the family and close relatives.

Rev. J. H. Oke accepted the tablet as a sacred trust in memory of the revered member, and Mr. Geo. Mitchell impressively unveiled the beautiful white marble tablet which bore the following inscription:

"In loving memory of Matthew Richardson, born in Cumberland, England, August 14, 1839; died Nov. 5, 1917, and wife, Mary McFarland, born in Monaghan, Ireland, January 26, 1833, died August 31, 1916. 'They rest from their labors and their works do follow them.'"

After the unveiling Rev. Mr. Oke paid a tribute to the memory of the late Mr. Richardson.

Members of the family present were: Dr. and Mrs. O. Webster, Miss Maud and Dr. E. K. Richardson of Toronto, and Hon. I. B. Lucas and two sons.

Fifteen Teeswater Chautaqua guarantors had to contribute $16.51 each to cover the deficiency.

Echoes Of The Fire

Those who have requested us to express their gratitude to the people who worked so heroically at the fire are: A Gilchrist, W. H. Bunt, W. A. Armstrong, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. A. S. Vandusen, A E. Bellamy and J. Runstadler. This note of thanks also applies to the Markdale friends.

The fire bell was rung by Miss Lillian Bunt, while her sister Florence ran clear to the Cargo residence across the town, scantily clad in night robes, shouting and arousing the citizens. Both girls are considered heroines of the night.

Miss Ethel Gilchrist was the first to see the fire and give alarm.

The chemical engine was charged and discharged three times but it could do very little against such a fire.

The roofs of all houses in the vicinity presented an animated scene with those who were left busy extinguishing incipient fires.

We were misled last week in stating that W. Cargo had no insurance. As a matter of fact he had $2000 insurance on stock and $500 on fixtures, Mr Gilchrist had $2000 on his residence and $400 on the grocery store. Mr. Runstadler had $2000 on his residence and shop. The Strain block, as we said last week, was insured for the amount of three mortages which covered it.

Mr. Gilchrist and family have taken up their residence in the Baptist parsonage and Mr. Runstadler and family are moving into Mr. Jos. Armstrong's summer home, in the southern suburbs.

Toronto Globe tells of a man who saved himself by throwing a bottle of ink at a highwayman. "Which proves once more," says The Globe, "that the pen is mightier than the sword."
