WHOM SHE'D MARRY

I would not marry Adam Ant,
For he's too hard and cold.
Tim Idity I would not wed,
I like a man that's bald.

I do not fancy Nick O'Tine
He smokes too much for me,
Jim Nast might win me if he tried,
But not Sol Emnity.

I'm rather fond of Jack Mine,
He brings me loads of flowers,
And Percy Vere has pleaded for
My hand for hours and hours.

I like dear, clever Hugh Morists
He's genuinely funny.
As for my folks, they think that I'm Cut out for Matt Rimony.

Phil Anderer I'd never accept,
Tom Foolery is silly,
Dick Tater I could never stand,
I won't wed Willy Nilly.

I'd ne'er say "yes" to Dan Delloil,
I do not like a fop;
But I'd marry Corn Deopia
If corn would only pop.

A TERRIBLE INDICTMENT

To the Editor:

A gentleman after serving on a Grand Jury expressed his opinion of the liquor traffic in the following words:

"It is a rebel against good government. It dictates nominations to office, corrupts the ballot and falsifies the returns. It searches the legislature, sells our executive officers and stains our courts. It is the foe of the home and the enemy of organized society. It tries to overawe the pulpit, undermines the platforms of political parties and subsidizes the public press. It discredits the constitution and defies the laws. It is the destroyer of domestic happiness. It brutalizes the husband, desolates the wife, debauches the son and betrays the daughter. It has no tolerance for the church, no interest in schools, no consideration for home, no expectation of heaven and no fear of hell."

And that is not half that can be truthfully said of the liquor traffic. But if half be true how can any self-respecting citizen of any political party go to the polls and vote for the legalizing of this awful traffic?

Nay more how can any conscientious loyal citizen refrain from doing all in his power to destroy this traffic that burdens us with taxes to care for the ruin it causes?

BOYS WE LIKE

The boy who never makes fun of old age, no matter how decrepit or unfortunate or evil it may be. God's hand rests lovingly on the aged head.

Cheating is contemptible anywhere and at any age. His play should strengthen, not weaken, his character.

The boy who never calls anybody bad names, no matter what anybody calls him.

The boy who is never cruel.

The boy who never lies. Even white lies leave black spots on the character.

The boy who never makes fun of a companion because of a misfortune he could not help.

The boy who never hesitates to say "No" when asked to do a wrong thing.

The boy who never quarrels.

The boy who never forgets that God made him to be a joyous, loving, helpful being.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

TOO MUCH FOR THE LAWYER

A young foreigner was being tried in court, says the Public Ledger, and the questioning by the lawyer on the opposite side began.

"Now, Lasky, what do you do?"

"Vest?" asked Lasky.

"When you work, of course," said the lawyer.

"Vy, work—"

"I know," said the lawyer, "but what at?"

"At a bench."

"Oh!" groaned the lawyer. "Where do you work at a bench?"

"In a factory."

"What kind of a factory?"

"Brick."

"You make bricks?"

"No, de factory is made of bricks."

"Now, Lasky, listen," said the lawyer. "What do you make in that factory?"

"Eight dollars a week."

"No, No! What does the factory make?"

"I dunno; a lot of money, I think."

"Now, listen! What kind of goods does the factory produce?"

"Oh," said Lasky, "good goods."

"I know, but what kind of good goods?"

"The best."

"The best of what?"

"The best there is."

"Of what?"

"Of dese goods."

"Your honor," said the lawyer, "I give up."

An Oil That is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

THE KICK OFF

With bated breath the mother rushed across the football field to the emergency hospital.

"What tidings," she faltered, "of my son?"

They looked upon her with compassion.

"Well, you see," explained the captain of the team, "he lost his head when we tried the flying wedge."

Shrieking wildly she sank to the floor.

"They told me it was only a broken arm."

An Always Ready Pill.—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern, but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life comes dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. The run-down system demands a corrective and there is none better than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple in their composition and can be taken by the most delicately constituted.

FRIDAY SUPERSTITION

In olden times it was not a proper occasion either in England or Holland to engage a new servant, nor would any servant go to service in a new place on Friday.

Portuguese sailors have a custom of dressing their ships in mourning on this day and of scourging and hanging an effigy of Judas at the yard-arm.

The Talmud tells us that Adam was created, sinned and was chased from Paradise on Friday. Mohammed, to prove his prophetic powers, declared the same.

It has been claimed as a lucky day for America. Columbus discovered land on that day, the pilgrims landed on the same day, and Washington was born on Friday.

Many persons reverse the rule and declare that this is to them a luck day. Dickens said that it was fortunate for his undertakings, most of which were successful when begun or ended on Friday.

Don't Allow Your Bowels To Become Constipated.

If the truth was only known you would find that over one half of the ills of life are caused by allowing the bowels to get into a constipated condition.

When the bowels become constipated the stomach gets out of order, the liver does not work properly, and then follows the violent sick headaches, the sourness of the stomach, belching of wind, heartburn, water brash, biliousness, and a general feeling that you do not care to do anything.

Keep your bowels regular by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. They will clear away all the effete matter which collects in the system and make you think that "life is worth living."

Mrs. Hans McKitrick, Wakefield, Que., writes: "For several years I was troubled with sour stomach and biliousness and did not get relief until I used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I had only taken them two weeks when my trouble was quite gone, and I will recommend them to all suffering as I did."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c per vial, 5 vials for $1.00, at all drug stores or dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE VOWEL GAME

"Now," said Charlie, when everybody was gathered around the table, "let's play the vowel game father told us he used to play when he was a boy."

"How do you play it?" asked everyone at once.

"It's very easy," replied Charlie, distributing pencils and paper among the family group. "You take the five regular vowels, a, e, i, o, u, and beginning with the first letter, each player writes as long a sentence as he can, using no vowel except 'a' in any word, but repeating that letter as often as he wishes."

"I don't quite understand," said Cousin Lucy. "Please give us an example."

"You'll have to give me a few minutes' grace then," laughed Charlie, taking his pencil and paper. "Suppose I take a." He wrote industriously for a few minutes, and then read the result aloud:

"Ah, madam, Frank Farns, a tall, tasty, black man at Panama, has a cat that can catch all bad ants, rats and bats at Nathan's pantry and barn."

"Bravo!" cried uncles and aunts, as Charlie finished reading the queer sentence.

"You see," continued Charlie, "you may give the players five minutes, or any time you agree on beforehand, to make up the sentence. When the time is up, the sentences are read, and the one having the longest sentence of good, plain, commonplace English has gained the first point. You go on this way for each of the five vowels, and when all the sentences are read and compared, the person who has gained the most points wins the game."—Exchange.

The Cause of Dyspepsia.

The Symptoms and The Cure.

THE CAUSE.

Too rapid eating, eating too much, and too often, improperly chewing the food, eating too much stimulating food, and indulging in improper diet generally.

THE SYMPTOMS.

Variable appetite, rising and souring of food, heartburn, wind in the stomach, a feeling of weight in the stomach, in fact a feeling that your stomach has gone all wrong and that the food you eat does not seem to agree with you.

THE CURE.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS.

Mrs. E. Williamson, Wheeler, Ont., writes: "I have been a sufferer for years from dyspepsia, and could scarcely eat anything. I tried Burdock Blood Bitters, and I am entirely cured. I have not been troubled since I took it, and that is two years ago. I can now eat anything I wish."

WHEN ANIMALS SLEEP

Elephants sleep standing up. When in a herd a certain number will always stand watch while the others sleep, for the big, powerful beasts are timid and cautious at night and will not go to sleep unguarded.

Bats sleep head downward, hanging by their hind claws.

Birds, with few exceptions, sleep with their heads turned tailward over the back and the beak thrust beneath the wing.

Storks, gulls and other long-legged birds sleep standing on one leg.

Ducks sleep on open water.—To avoid drifting ashore, they keep paddling with one foot, thus making them move in a circle.

Foxes and wolves sleep curled up, their noses and the soles of their feet close together and blanketed by their bushy tails.

Lions, tigers and cat animals stretch themselves out flat upon the side. Their muscles twitch and throb, indicating that they are light and restless sleepers.

Owls, in addition to their eyelids, have a screen that they draw sideways across their eyes to shut out the light, for they sleep in the daytime.—Our Dumb Animals.

POOR DOGGIES

Some men at the club were telling dog stories after a day's shooting. When the tales had got very "tall," one little man, who had been quite silent, said:

"I have a dog that makes all yours seem fools. I generally feed him myself after dinner, but the other day a friend dropped in and the poor animal slipped my mind. After the meal we went into the garden. The dog scratched up a flower and laid it at my feet, with the most yearning look in his eyes—it was a forget-me-not."

Nobody told any more dog stories that evening.

WHY THE BOY LEAVES

1. Did you ever know a boy who owned the pigs and the lambs but whose dad owned all the hogs and the sheep?

2. Did you ever know a boy who didn't like to have a room of his very own with a stove in it so that he could stay there even on a cold winter night?

3. Did you ever know a boy who didn't like to have a horse and buggy of his own? How did you like to ask dad for the horse and buggy every time you wanted to go somewhere?

4. Did you ever know a boy who didn't work better when he had a share in the crop, or when he had one field with which to do as he pleased?

5. Did you ever know from being a boy how the town-worker boy was envied because he had a room that was his very own; a room in which he could leave his trunk and good clothes and know they would not be molested.

6. Do you realize that the way you felt under these conditions is about the way all the other boys feel?

7. Did you know that time and thought spent on boys will pay just about as well as time and thought spent on pigs, cows and sugar-beets?

Corns cannot exist when Holloway's Corn Cure is applied to them, because it goes to the root and kills the growth.

FROM THE COUNTRY

Farmer Johnson on his first visit to London entered a restaurant with timid, faltering steps. A waiter brought him a menu. Very red in the face he studied it a long time. Finally, to help him out the waiter said—

"Table d'hote, sir?"

"What might that be?" the old man feebly answered.

"Course dinner, sir."

"Don't want 'er then," he said, "Yo see, young feller, I'm from the country. I am, and I got enough course grub at home."

Was Troubled With Nervous Prostration.

Many people although they know of nervous prostration do not know what the symptoms are. The principal ones are, a feeling of fright when in crowded places, a dread of being alone, fear of being in a confined place, a horror of society, a dread of things falling from above, fright at travelling on railroad trains, and disturbed and restless, unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with dreams.

Mrs. George Lee, Victoria Harbor, Ont., writes: "I am writing to tell you of the experience I have had with Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I was so nervous I could not do my own work. I did not want to see any one, or would I go any place. My nerves were bad for three years, and my heart was so bad it made me tremble all over. I took three boxes of your pills, and I never was better than I am now. I weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

MEANING BRAVELY

It is natural to crave sympathy. The human being is not born who in the time of trouble does not find himself strengthened and comforted by the sympathetic understanding of some friend. And yet this natural longing must be carefully guarded. An overliking for sympathy is a weakness productive of the most serious faults. There are people who never bear a single trial in silence. They insist on dumping every trouble on the hearts of their friends, from whom they can expect a return of sympathy. Indeed some go so far as to manufacture trouble when the real article is not available and demand from their friends sympathy for purely imaginary ills.

Everyone likes sympathy, but strong souls learn to do without it. There are times when loyalty to the right means being misunderstood, censured. No one who has not learned to be independent of sympathy will amount to much in helping the world forward.

As The Result

Of a Neglected Cold He Contracted SEVERE BRONCHIAL TROUBLE.

Mr. W. T. Allen, Halifax, N.S., writes: "I feel that I would be doing you and your great remedy, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, a gross injustice if I did not write and let you know the wonderful results that I have obtained from its use.

"Last spring I happened to contract a cold. Of course, this is a common occurrence, and I did not take any particular notice of it at the time. However, it did not break up as quickly as colds generally did with me, so after two weeks, and no sign of improvement, I began to get alarmed, and went to my local physician who informed me that I had contracted severe bronchial trouble as a result of neglecting my cold. He prescribed some medicine for me, which I took for about two weeks without any sign of improvement. I was getting pretty much discouraged by then, but one day a friend happened to be in to whom I was relating my trouble, and he advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying that he had obtained very beneficial results from its use in a similar case. I took his advice and procured several bottles from my druggist. After taking it, according to directions, for about two days, I noticed a decided improvement, and from that day on I began to get better, and in ten days I was in my usual health. I consider this an excellent showing for your remedy, and can highly recommend it to anyone afflicted as I was. I shall always put in a good word for it whenever the opportunity offers itself."

You can procure Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup from any druggist or dealer. Price, 25c and 50c. The genuine is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

HARD KNOCKS

They are bound to come in this world. Sometimes we keep out of range, either by our caution or skill or good luck, for a time; but sooner or later the hard knocks come and no amount of dodging or running will keep them off. They are good for us, too. It does not appear at the moment just how they will do us good; in the end, however, we find out that the advantage was on our side as a result of the experience.

How shall we meet them? The answer to the question is important. We must not lose our heads or our hearts or our temper. If we lose our heads we are undone; for it requires steadiness and good calculation to handle ourselves successfully in the school of hard knocks. Good judgment is developed if we keep our heads under the blows. If we lose our heart we are beaten; to be a winner means to keep up courage—and the very word courage means heart. The man of courage learns himself through the discipline and conquers. If we lose our temper we are vanquished. Our servant must not fly into a passion. Anger fogs the whole field of endeavor and makes us uncertain in aim and weak in action. But if we keep head, heart and temper under the experience of hard knocks, we are more than conquerors.—Zion's Herald.

"But, sir," remarked the patient, "vot about der bill? I ain't got mooch money. Vill you take der bill out in trade?"

"Well, I might," he replied. "What is your business?"

IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 22 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. I was certainly in a bad condition as my blood was all turning to water. I had pimples on my face and a bad color, and for five years I had been troubled with suppression. The doctors called it 'Anæmia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVINA MYERS, Box 74, Massena, N.Y.

Young Girls, Read This Advice.

RATHER UNPLEASANT

Patrick's face was so homely that it had been described as an "offense to the landscape," and he was as poor as he was homely. One day a neighbor met him and said:

"And how are ye, Pat?"

"Mighty bad," answered Pat. "It's starvation that is staring me in the face."

"Is that so?" said the sympathetic enquirer. "Sure, and it can't be very pleasant for ayther of ye."

"What kind of cigars do you wish to give your husband, madam—Havana or domestic?"

"Oh, domestic, by all means. I'm giving them to him to encourage him to spend his evenings at home, you know."

"Dinah, did you wash the fish before you baked it?"

"Law, ma'am, what's de use ob washing de fish what's lived all his life in de water?"—Philadelphia Leader.

"I wish I knew how to get rid of them."

"I'll help you out. I know a fellow who's always looking for it."

GIVING AND RECEIVING

Don't be slow to speak appreciative words of what others have accomplished, and then be hurt and indignant because your achievement is passed over unnoticed. As a rule the people who are always ready to give appreciation are pretty sure to receive it back.

FORGET THEE!

"Forget thee?" If to dream by night and muse on thee by day,
If all the worship, deep and wild,
a poet's heart can pay;
If prayers in absence breathed for thee to heaven's protecting power,
If winged thoughts that flit to thee, a thousand in an hour;
If hoary fancy blending thee with all my future lot—
If this than call'st "forgetting"
then indeed shalt be forgot!

* * * * * *

Keep, if thou will, thy maiden peace; still calm and fancy
free,
For God forbid thy gladsome heart should grow less glad for me,
Yet while that heart is still unwon, oh, bid not mine to rove,
But let it nurse its humble faith and unpublishing love.
If thous, preserved for patient years, at last avail me not Forget me, then, but ne'er believe that thou canst be forgot!

—John Moultrie.

WE ARE NEVER SORRY

That we did our very best.

That we kept faith in humanity.

That we never lost an opportunity of being kind to one poorer than ourselves.

That we looked before we leaped.

That we thought before we promised.

That we listened before judging.

That we discountenanced all tale-bearing.

That we remained steadfast in our principles when founded on right.

That we asked forgiveness when in error.

That we were never discourteous.

That we were generous and forgiving to an enemy.

That we were straightforward in all our actions.

That we lent a moment to sympathize with the oppressed.

That we gave one who had erred just one more chance.

That we were patient with troublesome neighbors.

That we were ever prompt in keeping our promises.

THE RULE OF THREE

Three things to fight for—honor, country and home.

Three things to think about—life, death and eternity.

Three things to love—courage, gentleness and affection.

Three things to hate—cruelty, arrogance and ingratitude.

Three things to delight in—frankness, freedom and beauty.

Three things to avoid—idleness, loquacity and flippant jesting.

Three things to wish for—health, friends and a cheerful spirit.

Three things to admire—intellectual power, dignity and gracefulness.—New Jersey Mirror.
