Fishing On A Permit

Guelph Fishermen Invade Reserve on Permit

It is a long time since so much indignation has been expressed over any government action, in the ears of The Advance, as that which has been coming to us during the past two weeks, owing to the action of the Ontario Game and Fisheries Department in issuing permits for strangers to come in and fish in the hydro government preserve.

Week before last four gentlemen came up from Guelph to Eugenia and flashed a permit to fish on the government reserve.

The injustice of the thing arises from the fact that the users of electricity on the Eugenia system built and are paying for the plant. Nobody else pays a cent. In doing this they incidentally created an artificial fish preserve of wonderful dimensions. Straightway when this was done the Ontario Government stepped in and said in effect, "You cannot have what you have created. We will take it from you." Then they proceeded to confiscate the property and set it aside as a government preserve. The hatching of pheasants was made a side issue in order to give the fishery overseer a run for his salary.

The suspicious public expressed the belief that such an action as is now chronicled would take place—special high up friends would be allowed to fish. Others thought such barefaced treachery would not be resorted to. We know now who were the most expert guessers But the Department will probably have things made so warm for them that they will decide that it is not wise to push their autocratic rule too far and will pay more attention to the indignant feeling of the dear, longsuffering public.

When he was thrown from his mower while cutting grain on his farm in Mulmur, Wm. J. Dorsey, courier on R. R. No. 4, Shelburne, was severely bruised about the left side. He was brought to his home in Shelburne where he is recuperating.—Free Press
