And he wasn't an applicant for the office, either.—Milton Reformer.

THE BOSTON CHURCH CENTENARY

Anniversary, Communion, Unveiling, Re-union, Garden Party and General Rejoicing

The congregation of Boston Church, Esquesing, has a great occasion in store for the 20th and 22nd inst.

They will celebrate the 100th anniversary of the organization of the congregation and the 50th anniversary of the erection and dedication of the present church building.

On Sunday, 20th inst., Rev. J. J. Patterson, M. A., of Barrie, will preach morning and evening. There will be a communion service and the unveiling of a tablet to the fallen soldiers of the congregation at the morning service. The Maple Leaf Quartette, of Galt, will conduct the music during the day.

Tuesday afternoon will be spent as a great re-union service, with tea at five o'clock.

In the evening the biggest garden party ever attempted in that section will be held. The big attraction will be Hino Hokea, the great Hawaiian guitar and ukulele soloist and his glee club of ten members. The Maple Leaf Quartette will also give a good programme, and three former pastors will deliver addresses. Rev. Mr. McDerment, the pastor, will preside. The grounds will be electrically illuminated.

IRREGULAR CLERKS AND ADVERTISING

A speaker at a recent hardware convention gave the merchants some sound advice. This speaker was urging merchants to advertise regularly, with emphasis on "regularly." He reminded them that advertising is a sales force, and in order to be of real value it must be regarded as such. He asked those merchants what they would think of a clerk who came in and worked as irregularly as some of the advertisers—sometimes on the job and sometimes not.

To us the comparison is a good one. Surely there are as many reasons for the merchant to advertise regularly as there are for him to have his clerks in regular attendance.

And right along these lines, as the merchant wants the best clerks he can employ, so he should make his local advertising the best possible.

We all want more compensation. We believe we can get it through more business. There are just two ways in which to get more business—one is to give more and better service at the same price, and the other is to give the same service at a less price. We believe the first to be the better. In either case letting the public know about it speeds up the return—that means advertising. Anything that is worth while can be advertised successfully.—From Building Trade with Farmers.

OXYGEN FOR FLIERS

At high levels such as birdmen nowadays often reach, the air is so thin that the aviator literally "loses his breath." He is in danger of collapse from this cause.

It was ascertained during the war, though not at first suspected, that about 15 per cent. of the candidates who passed examination for the air service were really unable to fly at altitudes ordinarily requisite in the work they were required to perform.

It was further determined that more than 60 per cent. of them could not endure flight at extremely high levels. But on the other hand, certain picked men perhaps seven or eight out of 100 passed candidates, were able to ascend to the greatest elevations without peril.

To help in solving this important war problem an oxygen apparatus was developed, smaller than the kind used for mine-rescue work but constructed on much the same principle. Equipped with this contrivance, and carrying a supply of liquid oxygen along with him, the aviator could skim along in safety through the upper reaches of the welkin.

HAIR-RAISING

It was the usual breach of promise case. The prosecuting counsel had read endless effusions poetic and otherwise and the counsel for the defense had emphatically and flatly denied everything everybody had ever said at any time to anybody. The judge had made several very feeble jokes, at which the counsel discreetly laughed, and everybody was feeling very bored.

"Now, madam," said the defendant's counsel, when the plaintiff was in the witness-box, "You allege that the defendant made you a distinct promise to marry you. Now, I want you to think well before you answer my next question. Was the air of the defendant perfectly serious when he made this alleged offer or was it, on the contrary, jocular and full of levity?"

The plaintiff looked startled a moment, then she replied brightly: "His air was all ruffled with 'im runnin' 'is 'ands through it."

EUROPEAN CORN BORER

In certain sections of the eastern United States the notorious European Corn Borer has become established and in view of the grave danger of this serious foreign pest being brought into Canada, the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, have issued a special circular dealing with this insect and others which bore in corn and which may be mistaken for it. This has been prepared by Mr. Arthur Gibson, Chief of the Division of Field Crop and Garden Insects. It comprises 14 pages and has seven illustrations. A limited edition only of this circular has been printed. Agricultural workers and others especially interested may obtain copies free of charge on application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

LIMEHOUSE

This hamlet now appears to be coming to its own as an attractive picturesque locality. For three days at the twenty-fourth holidays, forty lads from Toronto and Acton had a splendid outing here. Last Saturday sixty boys from Wilkinson school and Kitchener school, Toronto, enjoyed a week-end when they were brought by their masters to Limehouse.

The boys and their guides left the city early Saturday morning and arrived home on Sunday evening. While at Limehouse they engaged themselves in paper chases and treasure hunts, and also explored the lime works and the caves. They were taken through the saw mill, which was operated for their instruction. Messrs. J. McCully, of Wilkinson school, and D. M. Gouldy, of Kitchener school—our own Douglas—were the teachers who superintended the very enjoyable outing.

CANADIAN TRADE

The Canadian Reconstruction Association urges observance of the following "Ten Commandments for Canadian Trade" as a means towards a safer trade situation and the development of Canadian resources:

1. Buy Canadian products. In doing so, you develop the home market, encourage factory expansion, provide employment for new population, and create bigger and better markets for all kinds of farm produce.

2. Import only necessities, and then only if similar Canadian articles or substitutes are not available.

3. Produce to the limit in field and factory. Increased production means new wealth, and is essential to the success of any effort to reduce imports and promote export trade.

4. Co-operate, conserve, specialize, standardize. These are the means to maximum production of high quality goods at minimum cost.

5. Develop export markets. Foreign business gives stability to trade. It reduces unit costs, benefits domestic consumers, affords employment to factories and workers in times of depression, and corrects adverse exchange by improving the trade balance.

6. Utilize Canadian services. Ship by Canadian carriers through Canadian ports. Patronize Canadian railways Canadian steamships, and Canadian banks. Place insurance in Canadian companies. Employ Canadian architects, engineers, scientists and other experts. Spend vacations in Canada.

7. Manufacture raw materials to final stages in Canada. Hundreds of millions of dollars are lost annually to the Dominion, and especially to Canadian wage-earners by the exportation of raw materials, and semi-manufactured products.

8. (Use science for the determination and development of natural resources. Industrial research will reveal new wealth, improve industrial processes, and help to relieve our economic dependence upon outside sources for rubber, iron and other essentials.

9. Make quality the hall-mark of Canadian products. In return for public support of the home market, Canadian manufacturers should provide products that compare favorably with imported goods and Canadian workers should recognize good workmanship and maximum production as their standards.

10. Be fair to capital. Canadian money should be encouraged to invest at home, and foreign capital attracted to promote Canadian industrial expansion.

MINISTERS' SONS GET RICH

Two years ago I made a study of the heads of the 100 leading industries of America, writes Roger W. Babson in the Independent. Those men are all multi-millionaires, and the leaders in their industry. Five per cent. of them are sons of bankers, 10 per cent. of them are sons of merchants and manufacturers, 25 per cent. of them are the sons of teachers, doctors and country lawyers, and over 30 per cent. of them are the sons of preachers whose salaries didn't average $1,500 a year.

The undersigned has received instructions from the Administratrix of the Estates of Charles F. F. Secord and John T. T. Secord, both recently deceased, and the sole beneficiary of both of said estates, to offer for sale by public auction on the premises on at twelve o'clock, noon:

Lot number Eleven, in Block two, except that part deeded for street widening, and Lot number one, in Block fourteen, and the westerly half of Lot number two, all in the Village of Acton.

All this property is very choicely and centrally situated, and occupies two of the best corners in the town. The first named parcel has a frontage of about one hundred and thirty-three (133) feet on Mill Street, and eighty-three (83) feet on Main Street, and includes the Tailor Shop now occupied by William Cooper, the Restaurant occupied by H. Stauffer, the Moving Picture Theatre now under lease to R. L. Gregory, and the two pieces of vacant land with frontage of about sixty (60) feet and sixteen (16) feet respectively, between the Tailor Shop and the Theatre, and East of the Theatre. The second named parcel has a frontage of about ninety-nine (99) feet on Mill Street, and of one hundred and thirty-three (133) feet on Main Street, and includes the corner store now occupied by Messrs. Woodhall & McCoy, the three other frame stores or tenements immediately to the east thereof, and the strip of land with thirty-two (32) feet frontage on Mill Street, immediately east of the most easterly of these three tenements, on which is now an old laundry.

The property will be offered for sale subject to reserve bids—firstly in bulk, and if not sold, it will be offered in the two separate, undivided parcels on each side of Mill Street. If not disposed of in this way, it will be offered in the ten several smaller portions, as shown by Plan of recent survey made by D. A. Niven, P. L. S. This plan, with a certificate of correct measurements and descriptions will be produced at the sale, and a copy will be furnished every purchaser. The title is perfect and indefeasible, and the property will be sold subject to the present tenancies, particulars of which will be given at the sale.
