Have Done Nobly For Fire Sufferers

Maxwell Correspondence

The merry hum of the threshing machine is still heard in our vicinity. Kerton's and Sornberger's machines are finishing up the last jobs of the season.

The Methodist church held their anniversary services on Sunday. Rev. J. Phimister of Collingwood, a former pastor on this circuit, preached both morning and evening to good sized congregations. The ladies of the church are preparing for their annual meat supper this Tuesday evening.

The ladies of this neighborhood have packed boxes valued at over four hundred dollars and sent them to the people of the north who suffered from the fire. The boxes contained clothing donated and also clothing made from material bought with money collected. The ladies spent two days sewing at the parsonage. They thank Mrs Duffield for so kindly loaning her home for the work.

The members of the Anglican church have recently had the interior of their church decorated. They have also shingled the roof and did other work to the exterior of the church and are preparing for further improvements next summer. The Presbyterians have also had a new roof put on their church the past week.

Rev Vrooman is visiting his parents at London.

The school was closed Thursday and Friday this week while our teacher, Miss Jolley, attended the Teachers' Convention at Meaford.

The young people of the Presbyterian church are practising for their annual Fowl Supper which will be held in the near future.

Mrs W H. Hall spent the past two weeks in London, the guest of Mrs. Vrooman.

Our Temperance house is again open after being closed for some months. Mr Andy Pallister is the new proprietor. We wish both he and his wife success in their new undertaking.

Successful Concert Cupid Is Busy

Kimberley Correspondence

A very pleasing event took place in Markdale on Tues., Oct 10th, when Elda Arletta, youngest daughter of Mrs Jas Lawrence of this place was married to Earl Clifford Dillon, son of Mr and Mrs Mathew Dillon of Thornbury. The bride looked charming in a navy velour suit trimmed with beaver and black hat. After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the bride's house where dinner was served to the immediate relatives. Later Mr and Mrs Dillon left for an extended trip to Thorbury, Barrie and Allendale. We join with their many friends in wishing them a pleasant journey through life.

The play "The Ghost Story" on Tuesday night, given by the girls of the basket-ball team and five boys, was a decided success, all acting their parts well but special mention of George and Anna should be made because they had so much to memorize and did their parts well. Owing to rains the audience was not large. The entire concert is well worth repeating.

The Hydro Situation

It is not sufficient to say that the municipalities served by the Eugenia Hydro development are better off than they were under private ownership. It is true enough that we are better off, but we expected this—one plant can surely supply cheaper power than a dozen plants. The principal of the thing is that Ontario's natural resourses—waterfalls—should be developed entirely for the public benefit, and this should be done just as efficiently and economically as possible. We do not believe in "setting the heather on fire" over a dollar or two, nor do we fancy "nagging" the Hydro Commission continually over minor matters. There is more important work to do. The town of Arthur has a rate per horsepower that is manifestly too high, and if they can get more power cheaper from Niagara development, why not facilitate a change? Eugenia is now running almost to capacity, and if the load increases how can the extra power be secured to the best advantage? The Eugenia Hydro Electric Association can do useful work on behalf of the municipalities interested—improvements might have been had this organization been in force since the Eugenia development was started—and they will no doubt be considered and will have a voice in future matters concerning Eugenia. At the organization meeting, and also when they appeared before the Gregory Inquiry Commission at Toronto recently, it was readily seen that there are men behind the Association who are shrewd, aggressive and enthusiastic supporters of public ownership of this great natural resource—men whom their towns can well be proud of.—Hanover Post.

Rev. N Bowes, pastor of Markdale Methodist church, conducted the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate relatives. The bride looked charming in a beautiful gown of white charmeuse and lace, carrying a beautiful bouquet of American Beauty roses, and leaning on the arm of her father, entered the drawing room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The wedding march was played by Miss Jelley of Shelburne. A dainty buffet lunch was served after which the happy couple left on the afternoon train for Toronto and New Liskeard. Residence Destroyed

Fire on Monday afternoon, completely destroyed the large frame house on Mr. Neil Morrison's farm near Walters Falls. Mr. Morrison was on his way to a neighbor's when he happened to look back and noticed his house in flames. Help was summoned but the fire made such headway that little of the contents was saved

No one was in the house at the time and the only source of the disaster is attributed to over-heated stove pipes. It will mean a serious loss, especially at this time of year. The building was partly covered with insurance.—Owen Sound Advertiser

Another Mystery Barn Fire

R. H. McGrath of 280 sideroad, Melancthon, about 1½ miles north of Melancthon station, suffered a severe loss from fire early on Thursday morning of last week when his two bank barns, 45x50 and 25x50, with their entire contents, as well as his brick residence, were destroyed. The fire was first noticed about 2 o'clock in the morning, the two barns then being a mass of flames. The barns contained the entire season's crop of grain and hay and most of his farm implements. The brick residence which later took fire was also destroyed but most of the household goods were saved but were badly damaged in getting them to safety. Mr. McGrath carried an insurance of $3500 on the barn and house, and $2700 on the contents. No cause can be assigned for the fire, which was of a decidedly mysterious nature. J. W. Poynton of the Fire Marshall's office Toronto was in town on Tuesday of this week and in conversation with the Free Press intimated that an investigation would likely be held to inquire into the matter—Free Press.

Grand Valley business men got a real fire scare on Friday afternoon when spontaneous combustion started a fire in some oil-soaked planks and boxes against the south end of the storehouse at the rear of James J Reith's old store. Master Rex Hughes noticed the smoke first, and in a moment the dry boards cracking sending the flames eight feet above the roof. A few pails of water, happily right at hand, soon extinguished the blaze but not without some real concern by the business men because of the nest of frame buildings around. There is no doubt about the origin of the fire, as the fierce heat of the sun reflected by some broken glass was quite sufficent to start it. This is but another warning of the utter unsufficiency of our fire protection.—Star.
