In Memoriam

Thistlethwaite—In loving memory of Ruth Thistlethwaite, who died Nov, 17, 1920.

The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.

Her smiling face to us so dear,
Her gentle footstep no more we hear,
Her willing hands and face so sweet
In heaven some day we hope to meet.

—Father and Mother.

CHARD—In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Wm. Chard, who departed this life Nov. 16th, 1921.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we lovod is stilled ;
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.

All is dark within our dwelling,
Lonely is our life to-day,
For the one who smiled to cheer us
Has forever passed away.

—The Family.

Rod and Gun In Canada

The December issue of Rod and Gun In Canada is one which may truly be said to combine quantity and quality, and the many readers of this national sportsmen's journal will no doubt take a lot of keen delight out of this number, the concluding issue for 1922. There are several splendid articles and a number of particularly good stories, among them the humerous yarn, "They went Fishing." The Guns and Ammunition department contains highly valuable articles by J R Mattern and E T D Francis. J W Winson excels in "Blankettings," while the Trap Line and Kennel Departments have a lot of good things for everybody. Many other items of outstanding merit feature the December issue.

Parkin, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Parkin, Appleton Roebuck, Yorkshire, England, by the Rev. J. A. Davies of Clarksburg, in the presence of about 50 relatives and friends of the bride and groom. At six o'clock, to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Ernest Russell of Rock Mills, the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, took her place beside the groom beneath an arch of evergreens beautifully decorated with pink and white roses and streamers with large white bell suspended from centre of arch. The bride was beautifully gowned in a dress of brown duchesse messaline silk with overdress of gold radium lace and bead trimmings, and wore the customary bridal veil with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. After the ceremony and congratulations the company repaired to the dining room, which was decorated in pink and white, and all partook of a dainty wedding dinner presided over by Misses Alice Turner and Susie Chard. The groom's gift to the bride was a rope of pearls and to the organist a gold crescent brooch. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held. Previous to their marriage the young couple were presented with a shower by their many friends of Duncan, consisting of many beautiful and costly gifts.
