Haunting refrains: songs that have been done to death.

Plan Parties For Manor Folk

Plans for July and August birthday parties, a report on the Manor Bazaar held in May and a pot luck supper were all part of the June meeting of the Halton Centennial Manor W. A.

The W. A. decided to help the Palermo United Church with the July birthday party for Manor residents and to host the August birthday celebrations.

A report that 31 of the residents had worked to provide 252 articles for the May bazaar was read by Mrs. Randall. Plans for the September 14, 15 and 16 convention in Fort William were discussed. Mrs. Lockie and Mrs. Brownridge handed out blocks to members to be sewn during the summer.

The business meeting was preceded by a pot luck supper which was enjoyed by all the members. Mrs. S. Allen conducted the meeting and led the group in the Manor prayer and Mrs. Hayward adjourned the meeting.

You really have to hand it to the ones who are slow to pick up the cheque.

Erin 4-H Members Judge Steer Class

The third meeting of the Erin 4-H Calf Club was held on May 31 at 8.30 p.m. at the farm of Robert Macdonald.

After naming the parts and characteristics to look for in judging a beef animal, the members judged a class of steers with the older members giving reasons for their placing.

The dairy and beef members split up then. Each group discussed feeding and management of the respective types of animals. John Reid and Wesley Mason assisted. The members wrote a quiz on the lesson. Paul Hamilton thanked the host and hostess.

STABLE WIRING

When is the last time you had barn electrical wiring checked? Stable conditions are frequently damp and this could deteriorate the insulation to the point where it could be dangerous.

Many barn wiring installations have been in use for years and should be checked by a qualified electrician for your safety, advises the Ontario Farm Safety Council.
